CABINET WILL NOT PUT BAN ON HORSE RACING THIS YEAR

OTTAWA, May 24.—The question of resuming racing in Canada this year was not discussed by the cabinet yesterday, as was expected by those behind the movement, says the Journal. The question may be taken up in a few days, but-nothing will be done, it is feared, to lift the ban on betting. While some of the ministers are in favor of a resumption of the sport, two of the most important members do not feel that racing is necessary in these times. It was said yesterday that a racing commission was promised right away if Commander J. K. L. Ross would accept the chairmanship. This the Montreal sportsman refused absolutely.
