Lost Four Fingers.
Anthony Ornatski, aged 21, of 5 Drummond street, in which his left hand was severely crushed at 11:30 last night while moving metal in McGregor & McIntyre's Iron Works, at 73 Pearl Street, that the fingers had to be amputated. He was attended to at St. Michael's Hospital.

Good Friday Concert.
The big concert in Massey Hall tomorrow night, in which Jessie Alexander, Harold Jarvis, the 48th Highlanders' Band and other fine artists will take part, should attract a crowded house. The program is an excellent one, well calculated to show the artists at their best. The seat plan is now open at the hall, and those who have not already secured their seats should go to-day or to-morrow, and in that way avoid the rush to-morrow night.

Motorman Did His Best
But Wheels Skidded Just Before Fatal Collision.

Slightly in favor of William McLean, charged with manslaughter, was the evidence adduced at the inquest held by Dr. George W. Graham at the morgue last night on Samuel Manacavech, who was crushed between two motor cars, driven by McLean, and Frederick W. Andrews of 12 Elm-street, who watched the collision from a window, stated that the Bloor and McLean car, driven by McLean, seemed to leap forward when about 15 feet from the rear of the Dundas car. McLean's defence was that the car skidded on a slippery rail. The car would have lurched forward had it struck a slippery rail and skidded.

McLean said he did not notice the boys on the rear of the Dundas car until he was within 40 feet of them. When he saw them, he applied the brake and rang the gong. The car did not work. Then he applied the reverse, driving the wheels backward, but they did not act to any purpose. The boys did not look back. He claimed to have done everything possible to stop the car. He had been a motorman for six months.

Christopher Hosier, 3 Bruce-street, said that when he saw the Bloor and McLean car approaching, he thought it would not be able to stop in time on account of the speed at which it was travelling. The car was going much faster than five miles an hour, he said. "Why, if you knew the car could not stop, did you not try to get the boys out of the way?" Hosier could not say.

Norman E. Nis of 194 Spadina-avenue, said the Bloor and McLean car was going at a fairly good rate of speed. He did not hear the gong ring. T. L. Jonahan acted for the crown, and H. C. MacDonald for relatives of deceased. The inquest was adjourned until March 30.

IA NA REFUSES LOAN

But Will Consider New Basis for Industrial School.

That Provincial Secretary Hanna has refused to grant the Victoria Industrial School the proposed loan of $25,000 was a statement made by Beverly Jones at a meeting of the executive of the Industrial school board yesterday. He had been promised, however, that the government would take the question of the school management into consideration with the idea of having the school run on a more satisfactory basis.

ROWDY PUPILS

Dr. Young Claims Technical School Boys Damage Property.

Claiming that the pupils of the technical school have deliberately destroyed property of his, Dr. Young, College-street, has written the secretary of the board of education that unless the loss is made good, he will place his case in the hands of a lawyer. Dr. Young states that a number of windows, including an expensive stained glass, which cannot be replaced, had been broken during the winter by snowballs. He had written to Principal Eldon a couple of times regarding this, but had received no reply, nor did the rowdy conduct of the boys cease.

GAELIC LEAGUE PROGRAM.

One of the most successful meetings in the history of the Toronto branch of the Gaelic League was held last night in Broadway Hall, Spadina-avenue.

After the regular business, the members were treated to a literary and musical program. Two special features were a four-in-hand reel, danced by the Misses Nora and Maura Moriarty, Mr. C. J. Devin and Miss E. Breen.

The next regular meeting will be held on the second Wednesday of April; the program will consist of violin solos by J. Walsh and Wm. Flavin; vocal solo by Nicholas Kennedy; piano solo by Mrs. J. D. Logan; readings in Irish by T. Moran and P. J. O'Neil, and English by A. E. S. Smythe. A class was formed to cultivate Irish dancing; the first meeting of the class will be the first meeting of the evening, March 20, at the home of Mrs. Moriarty, 24 Harvard-avenue.
