

CHIPPAWA CASE TO PRIVY COUNCIL

Report That Electrical Development Company's Appeal Will Be Heard.

NO FEAR OF RESULT

Hon. I. B. Lucas Confident Privy Council Will Back Ontario.

According to a report which reached the city yesterday, the privy council has decided to hear the application of the Electrical Development Company for special leave to appeal against the decision of the courts of Ontario and the court of appeal, which refused to grant the Electrical Development Company an injunction against the Hydro-Electric Power Commission to stop work on the Chippawa Creek development scheme.

Hon. I. B. Lucas, the attorney-general, said that the official decision of the privy council had not been received, but he believed the despatch was correct in substance. As a result, he said, the Hydro-Electric Commission would now argue the case before the privy council at the next meeting as to whether the Electrical Development Company had a right to bring suit against the commission or not and the finding of the council in this matter would decide whether the Chippawa development scheme would be subject to delay or not. The hydro commission, he added, had been represented in the past by Mr. Hollnuth and would continue to be so represented before the privy council, in company with the commission's English counsel.

"We have no fear of the ultimate result," he said. "Our own courts have dismissed the Electrical Development Company's appeal for an injunction and have ruled that there is no ground for such interference with the plans to extend the power resources of the province. The company has carried the case before the privy council and the despatches today simply indicate that the privy council will hear the argument on both sides at the next sitting."

The Electrical Development Co. first sought an injunction from the master in chambers, then from Mr. Justice Middleton and finally from the court of appeal. They contended that neither the province nor the Hydro Power Co. could go on with the Chippawa development scheme in view of the original agreement granted to the company in the time of the Ross Government. The courts held that it was a matter for the legislature to decide, and despite this decision the Electrical Development Company has made application to the privy council for special leave to appeal.

FEELS FINE IN MORNINGS NOW

Millgate Eats Better, Sleeps Better and Works Better After Taking Tanlac.

Added to the many endorsements of Tanlac, the medicine that is being so widely discussed and distributed throughout Canada, and which is accomplishing such surprising and gratifying results among all classes, is that of Henry G. Millgate, a well-known employee of the McIntosh Piano Company, who resides at 184 Mavor street. Mr. Millgate has been connected with his company for seven years, is a member of the Canadian Order of Foresters, and is highly respected by all who know him. In an interesting interview a few days ago, Mr. Millgate said: "What I admit about Tanlac is the quick and satisfactory results it brings, and I don't mind taking it like I have other medicines. My advice to any man in bed, who is in a general run-down condition, with a system all out of order, is to give Tanlac a fair trial before experimenting with other things. If they will, I believe, from what the medicine has done for me, they will get the results they are looking for."

"For months before I began taking Tanlac, I felt languid, tired and all run-down, and had very little get up and get about me. My appetite was as a fiddle and I hardly ever felt like eating anything, and I couldn't sleep or rest well. Some nights it would be two o'clock before I could go to sleep, and I'd be up in the morning, and I simply felt all in. And all day long I felt drowsy and listless and stupid. I couldn't get myself together somehow, and my mind didn't seem to work. I would get up in the morning with a bad taste in my mouth, and had a dull, oppressive headache all day. I was not pick enough to get in bed, but I didn't feel right by any means, and knew if I didn't get the right medicine and kept going down it would be only a matter of time until I would be knocked out altogether."

"After seeing the good Tanlac did my friend, Frank Connell, I decided to try a bottle and try it in bed, and while I have just started on my second bottle, I can certainly see a big improvement in my condition already. I am now eating and sleeping as sound as a log every night. I get up in the morning feeling strong and cheerful, and my work with pleasure. I simply feel stronger and better in every way, and those aggravating headaches have disappeared entirely. I have gained weight, and am still getting, from Tanlac, has made me a regular Tanlac booster, and to my friends and the public."
