FAMOUS ARTISTS REPRESENTED.

Remarkable Art Collection of the Late

Remarkable Art Collection of the Late Lawpence Heyden to be Sold.

While it may not be the most favorable occasion for an art sale from the point of view of the vendor, there can be no doubt of the advantage offered to the purchaser at the present time in the sale of paintings and water colors from the estate of the late Lawrence Heyden, which C. M. Henderson & Co. are to dispose of by auction next Tuesday and Wednesday. The catalog has been issued, and the works are now hanging at the salesrooms, 128 East King street. The collection is notable for many reasons, but its variety will appeal to a wide range of collectors. Among the outstanding names are Salvatore Rosa. Leonardi da Vinci (with a portrait of rare delicacy and refinement), a Claude Loraine, a Gainsborough landscape, an attributed Kneller which does not belle the fame of that artist, a P. Nasmyth, two Bromleys, a Cattermole, and many other more or less classical but less familiar names.

Of Canadian art there is an almost unprecedented offering in half a dozen excellent examples of Paul Kane's celebrated Indian paintings, which are enough in themselves to render the sale notable. There are also no fewer than mine examples of L. R. O'Brien's water color. Homer Watson is represented, and there is more than one Cresswell. There are half a dozen of C. J. Way's pictures, one of them in oil. T. Mower Martin and M. Matthews are other local artists, and G. Chavignaud has a landscape in water color, and there is a large Verner. "Turkeys." Meagher's nocturnes in blue are attractive, there being three of this artist. W. Cutts is represented by a landscape. The collection must be seen to the 202 pictures included.
