"Rest in Peace" reads the card on this floral offering which Ambrose J. W. Higgins, Jr., five of New York City, hands to John Trice, White House staff officer. It was written in the lady's own script. It is just one of those little things that shows that Warren G. Harding lives in the hearts of children.

Girl Hears For First Time When She Dons Radio Gear

New York, Aug. 11.—Harriet Hallgring, aged 10, who lives in Newark, had never heard a sound in her life and for the last six years has been going to the Bruce Street Lip Reading School to try to learn how to tell what people are saying without being able to hear them. But this was a difficult process. Last week she went to visit her uncle, John H. Hallgring. When she got to her uncle's house he was giving a concert over his powerful new radio set. The next number on the program was a soprano solo by Miss Louise W. Planché. As she started singing Hallgring playfully placed the two headphones over the girl's ears. The girl screamed and threw them to the floor. Her uncle induced her to try it again, and after a time she became fascinated by the sounds that came to her, although she was unable to distinguish words from music.
