Washington, June 13.—Amending the section of the Underwood tariff bill, which would place on the free list all print paper valued at not more than 2½ cents a pound, the majority members of the senate finance committee today voted to incorporate in the bill the provisions of the Canadian reciprocity, passed in 1911.

PARIS NEWS LETTER

Professor Speaks Against Vegetarianism—A Suggestion for the Army Regarding the Air Man—New Book Critical of the Government

(Times' Special Correspondence).

Paris, June 13.—A child, two years old, was playing outside his parents' house at St. Brieux when a large Cochon China cock attempted to take a piece of bread from his hand.

The child and the cock struggled for the bread, and the cock attacked the child and hurt him so badly that he died during the night.

Professor Gaultier, of the Sorbonne, has attacked vegetarianism with vigor in a lecture on the value of food-stuffs. Vegetarianism in no way responds, he says to the needs, the requirements, or the activities of European people. As a rule of life it is anything but desirable. It reduces energy, weakens the will power, and lessens the capacity of quick decision.

As regards drinking, M. Gaultier considers wine a very suitable beverage. In moderation, he says, it is not at all dangerous. In vine-growing countries alcoholism is almost unknown. Wine which strengthens and cheers, replaces the alcoholic drink which stupefies.

The Airman and the Army

General Hirschauer, head of the military aviation department, has favorably received a suggestion made by the Aeronautical Association, which points out that out of the 200 or 300 civilian licensed aviators in France only about thirty-five who are regularly attached to big firms have continual opportunities of flying. In the case of mobilization all but these would be fatally out of practice, and would be left without machines. However good a civilian aviator may be, he cannot perform military duties without some training, and a month's practice a year would suffice.

The association proposes that every licensed pilot should receive $800 a year as soon as he passes the superior military test. A choice would be made from these aviators, and 300 could be formed into a militia bound to perform aviation service annually amounting to one month. In return for this they should receive an indemnity of about $750 a year if the army supplied their machines, or $2,000 if they used their own, which they would be required to keep permanently ready for mobilization.

The idea is worth consideration by other countries besides France. Aviation practically begins on the army and navy, and it is useless for hundreds of pass their tests without afterwards keeping abreast of the improvements and qualifying to serve whenever called upon to do so.

The Governors

English and German governors in Paris play the chief part in "Les Angles Gardiens" (The Guardian Angels), the latest novel of Marcel Prevost, a well-known academician and writer on feminine topics. The book is, in fact, an urgent invitation to French families to banish from their households these strangers from abroad.

M. Prevost holds that foreign governesses faint the minds of children at their most impressionable age, mold them to the ideals and ways of another country, and are a perverting influence in the atmosphere of patriotism and French culture that should surround a child.

Against some of them M. Prevost brings even worse charges. He asserts that many of the foreign governesses that enter French families leave their own homes for reasons they are glad to conceal, or at least they are driven away by unhappiness in their own family circle. Some of them are represented in "Les Angles Gardiens" as frequently immoral.

"Consider," says M. Prevost, "a girl of eighteen or twenty years of age, of a certain degree of culture and education, leaves her family and country to go to earn her living in Paris. It is abnormal. Yes, it is abnormal; because expatriation at that age is full of danger to her, and no decent family would be recommended to it except in the last extremity. How many mothers or fathers who engage a foreign governess take the trouble to verify her identity?"

METHODISTS WILL OPEN MISSION IN EAST ST. JOHN

Recommendations to Conference—Evangelistic Committee Appointed—Missionary Work Shows Progress

Charlottetown, June 13.—At the afternoon session of the N. B. and P. E. I. Methodist conference book room matters were taken up. Rev. Dr. John M. S. was then heard. He reviewed the progress and aims of the society. The circles and bands now number 5,017. The amount was $19,000, an increase of $1,289. The work in China and Japan must be extended, but Canada must not be overlooked, where there are 65 missionaries out of 84. The aim is to enlist all women in the church. This once done, the dance and whist club would cease to allure. A resolution of appreciation of the W. M. S. work was passed.

Rev. George Steele reported for the superannuated special endowment fund. The work is not yet complete. The amount desired is $20,000 and there is promised $19,700, and collected $18,000. Within the next few years the funds will be better off by $2,000.

A BEAUTIFUL BABY

Gained Wonderfully After Being Put On A Well Known Food.

Mrs. E. Warner of 32 Winifred Ave., Toronto, in writing about Neave's Food, says, "I have used Neave's Food for my baby and it has agreed with everything else failed. He has gained wonderfully since I started giving it to him."

Mr. A. J. Fergus, Labelle Street, Montreal, writes, under date 13 Oct: "My little daughter, born Aug. 15th, like Neave's Food very much. She is a beautiful baby."

Mrs. J. Fallon of Whitby, Ont., says "Neave's Food is the only food that has agreed with our little boy. He is brighter, and his flesh is firmer, since taking it."

Neave's Food has been the standard infant's food in Great Britain for more than 25 years.

Home Treatment for Sallow, Wrinkled Skin

A. C. F. asks: "What should I do for my sallow complexion, and how can I get rid of my wrinkles?"

Sallowness is best removed by removing the skin itself. This is effectively accomplished by the use of ordinary mercuric iodine, which causes the offensive outer skin gradually to peel off, in fine particles scarcely noticeable to the naked eye. Within a week or so you will have an enviable complexion, the new skin exhibiting a healthful, youthful tint incomparable with artificial coloring. Get an ounce of this wax at your drug store, apply at night like cold cream, only don't rub it in. Wash it off in the morning with warm water.

For your wrinkles try a solution of powdered sallite, one ounce dissolved in a half pint witch hazel. Bathe your face in this every morning for awhile. The result will surprise you.—Beauty's Mirror.
