VISIT OF PRESIDENT HAYS

The chief event of local interest in St. John next week will be the board of trade banquet in honor of President C. M. Hays of the Grand Trunk Pacific, at the Union Club, on Thursday evening. Mr. Hays comes to inspect the site of the company's terminals at Courtney Bay, and the event is one of the importance of which, from the commercial standpoint, it would not be easy to overestimate. This city and province have much to gain from the advent of the new transcontinental, and the development which will take place at Courtney Bay within the next few years will be but the beginning of a great and continuous expansion. Looking back for a few years, and noting the change that has come about in respect to the position of St. John, in relation to the general trade and transportation system of Canada, there is ground for the most optimistic views of the future. The company which Mr. Hays represents, and he is one of the great railway men of the continent, will play a very important part in the future of the city and province. His visit next week is therefore an event of universal interest.

THE BEATEN PARTISANS

The Standard this morning returns to the Mayes case and attempts to weaken the force of the exposure in yesterday's Times-Star of the Hazen organ's unblinking attempt to misrepresent the facts. Today the Standard does not boast about the glorious vindication of Mr. Mayes, who sued for $62,871 and cheerfully settled for $0.750, but devotes itself to what it calls "Mr. Pugsley's backdown." The false statement is repeated that Dr. Pugsley capitulated because he feared disclosure. Every reader knows perfectly well that if there were the slightest possibility of disclosure that would politically injure the minister of public works, Mr. Hazen would never have counselled a settlement. Having made the settlement, and thereby himself closed the door upon the disclosures at which he hints, he cannot now successfully assume the role of a political martyr yearning to purify public life. Friends of Mr. Mayes and Mr. Hazen have been talking in a mysterious way about "dreadful exposures that would be made when this case came to trial." That was part of the political game. The dispute between Mr. Mayes and the department over the amount due him was seized upon by the politicians in the hope that in connection therewith they might in some way arouse suspicion or create a prejudice against the minister of public works. All hope of doing so faded when the man who sued for $62,871 settled for $0.750, and the disclosures failed to appear.

ALBERT OIL AND GAS

The gas and oil discoveries in Albert county are the subject of an interesting article in the Victoria Colonist, evidently from the pen of Mr. C. H. Luginer, who was once editor of the St. John Telegraph. Noting the fact that gas and oil have been found in Albert, and that pipe lines may be laid to Moncton and St. John, the Colonist writes:—"It may be mentioned that twenty-seven years ago the St. John Telegraph published some information that had received which in its opinion justified a thorough prospecting of that part of the province, and urged that it should be undertaken. The idea was not entertained by any one with the necessary amount of money and dare the discovery of this valuable commodity was postponed for a quarter of a century. This seems to prove that sometimes the alleged visionary ideas of newspapers may not be so very visionary after all."

There was a time when Albert county was very much in evidence in the matter of illuminants. Some fifty years or more ago a mineral was discovered in that country that was thought to be coal. There was some keen litigation on this point, and those interested in such things will find the story in the Reports of the Supreme Court of New Brunswick. The mineral was densely black and glistening. It broke with a shell-like fracture and its edges were almost razor-like. It could be lighted with a match. As the result of the litigation a special name was devised for it and it was called Albertite. As a matter of fact it was solidified paraffine. It occurred in pockets of greater or less size. The deposits were acquired by a company of United States capitalists, and the mineral was shipped away and refined into a very high-class illuminant. The pockets were soon worked out, and as the discovery of petroleum in large quantities and its commercial utilization were announced at that time, it was not felt worth while to continue prospecting for Albertite; but those who were well informed contended that there were probably many other pockets, and, as has been said above, afterwards a few people were convinced that oil and gas could both be found in quantity. The new announcement is therefore no surprise to persons familiar with the history of Albert county.

NAVAL CONTROL

The Conservative press seeks to convey to the public mind the impression that, because Sir Wilfrid Laurier has insisted upon the principle of autonomy in relation to the Canadian navy, therefore the navy will be of no use whatever to the empire in the event of an outbreak of war. This contention is well answered by the Montreal Witness, as follows:—

"In Sir Wilfrid's assurance that the Canadian navy 'would remain absolutely independent of the control of the Canadian government, and that it would not take part in any engagement in which the safety of Canada was not concerned without an order-in-council,' there is nothing to alarm the most sensitive loyalist. It was doubtless a less politic to give this assurance to an audience which might have been made more or less uneasy by Mr. Bourassa's bugaboos. But who doubts that such an order-in-council would be given the moment there was need of Canada's assistance to the Motherland? We believe that a government far more French in its tendency than the Canadian government would promptly send the required aid. Nay more, we almost believe that Mr. Bourassa himself when a few years have given him a broader outlook, will be eager that Canada should give the most thorough support to Britain in any hour of danger. Every one knows that the empire's danger is Canada's danger, and that in defending the interests of the empire Canada would be defending herself."

Why should the residents on one side of Germain street have a wide sidewalk and those on the other side a narrow one? Is this the last word in street engineering—or only Engineer Murdoch's word? A Montreal despatch states that Principal Falconer somewhat astonished the provincial teachers in session there by stating that mere lapse of time would make Canada the greatest nation the world had ever seen. There does not appear to be anything astonishing in the statement. A nation is great or otherwise according to the moral standards of its people and the character of its citizenship.

Sir Oliver Lodge—answering the question put to him by the editor of Public Opinion: What has science done for human progress in the last fifty years?—replies in that journal:—Fifty years ago Darwin's evolution theory was born indeed, but was passing through a tempestuous childhood. It was opposed not so much on scientific grounds, but because it ran counter to natural prejudices and contradicted some mistaken religious teaching. One of the results of the last fifty years has undoubtedly been a clearing away of a great mass of superstitious growth which clung to, and defaced the fair edifice of religion. The broadening and cleansing of man's outlook on the universe, the realization of his place in the scheme of things, and of the help which is expected from his conscious co-operation towards progress and enlightenment, are perhaps the greatest of all the results of the last fifty years."

THE TRUTH ABOUT THE HOBBLE

Hobble, little maiden,
Hobble as you go
Hobble to the party
Hobble to the show,
Hobble to the ball room,
Hobble day and night,
Hobble if you want to.
But, gee, you are a fright!
Hobble, proud and haughty,
Hobble, meek and lowly,
Hobble dainty and demure,
Or devout and holy,
Hobble, I am married,
It's the truth I write,
Candidly, fair lady,
You're a perfect fright!
I'm not seeking favors,
I am fat and old,
Now my pulse is normal
And my blood is cold,
Frowns or smiles don't matter,
I'm above your spite,
Honest, hobble lady,
You're a holy fright!

Men in love dissemble,
Friends dare not offend,
Sweethearts all are liars,
On them don't depend,
Ours bald and old men,
Dare to face the light,
Sore, perhaps, you may be,
Still you look a fright!

A FEW DOSES MAKE KIDNEYS ACT FINE ENDING BACKACHE

Pape's Diuretic Regulates Your Kidneys and Ends the Most Severe Backache or Bladder and Urinary Misery

Don't wait until it settles into Dropsy, Gravel, Diabetes or Bright's Disease—the time to cure kidney troubles is while it is only a trouble.

The moment you suspect any kidney, bladder or urinary disorder or feel a constricting or burning pain in the back, sides or loins or a burning or itching regular or irregular passage of water, begin using Pape's Diuretic as directed with the knowledge that there is no other medicine, at any price, made anywhere else in the world which will cure so thoroughly and promptly.

Pape's Diuretic acts directly upon the kidneys, bladder, and urinary organs; cleanses, vitalizes and regulates the ducts and glands, ending at once such miserable symptoms as lame back, headache, dizziness, weakness, rheumatic troubles, influenza or pulmonary troubles, sleeplessness or suppressed, painful or frequent urination (especially at night) and other distress.

Don't be miserable another moment with a lame back or clogged, inactive kidneys or bladder misery, for after taking Pape's Diuretic a few days you will be relieved and know all danger is passed.

Your pharmacist, physician, druggist or any mercantile agency will vouch for the responsibility of Pape, Thompson & Pape of Cincinnati, Ohio, who prepare Pape's Diuretic—50 cent treatment—sold by every druggist in the world.

AUTUMN WANDERLUST

I am restless, somehow, Bill,
As the air grows slightly chill
There's a tingle in my blood that comes
With Fall.
For the haze is in the sky
And the ducks are soon to fly—
I can almost hear their leaders as they call.

I've been furishing my kit,
(Guns and all the rest of it,
And the outfit lying ready on a chair;
Boots and corduroys and hat
And my pipe—(be sure of that)—
And the sweater that I always used to wear.

Hunting fever, I think,
Stronger than the thirst for drink,
Every year it leads me outward and I
To the haunts of beast and bird
Where the hunting call is heard,
And the reds are all-squiver to and fro.

Aren't you coming, Billy, too?
Oh, I know you've lots to do,
But you follow my example—let it slip
When the air is like champagne
It goes bubbling in your head—
And I take my rod and gun and lithe-ly slip.

Now, don't sit there looking glum,
Needn't shake your head, you'll come,
Though your act is good enough to fit
In a play.
But you might as well confess
That your negative means "Yes"
For I saw you buying powder yesterday.
—Berton Braley, in Puck.

IN LIGHTER VEIN

NOT IN IT NOW
"Is he the famous aviator we hear so much about?"
"Well, he was, but I think someone broke his high-light record yesterday and of course he's not in it any longer."
SOILED CROCKERY
His wife's away and he wishes
Benares his fate and wishes
He hadn't let the total get
To seven thousand dollars.
—Kansas City Journal.

BRAVE

"Why do you always refer to your wife as the heroine?"
"Well she's discharged two cooks and a wash woman in the last six months."
"Was Wilkins' theatrical show a success?"
"No, he demanded too much of his audiences."
"Money or intelligence?"—Life.

NEVER SAY DIE

Spartan Mother—"What's the matter? What are you crying for?"
Stung Hero (who has been taught never to cry for bodily pain)—"Oh, I—I've sat down on a bee, and—I'm so afraid I must have hurt it!"—Punch.

HOW SHE RECKONS

"How many times has she been married?"
"Well, she has the custody of three sets of children."
ON COAXING
"Say," groined the young lady's father, who wanted to go to bed, "what are you coaxing her to do now—kiss you or sing?"

THE CUP AND THE SLIP

In fear and trembling Jonathan Jenkins took his seat at his office desk at 9:30 punctually. Of course it was most improbable that anything would be discovered, but his guilty conscience gnawed at his heart.

The "chief" approached him sympathetically.

"I understand, Mr. Jenkins," he said kindly, "that you had a half-day off yesterday to attend your aunt's funeral?"

"Yes, sir," murmured the quaking clerk, "and did all go well at the final ceremony?"

Jenkins looked up quickly.

"Oh, it wasn't the final sir," he said thoughtlessly shaking his head; "it was the semi-final."
