The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

How many breakdowns could be prevented, how many illnesses forestalled, how many lives saved even, if more women knew when to stop, and had strength of mind to stop right then, even though stopping seemed absolutely impossible.

I am thinking of a neighbor of mine. She is a widow. To support herself and her children she has a sort of hospital and home for feeble old people. She and her present seven old women. All of them are feeble, one is actually ill, two are feeble-minded and one out-and-out insane. Besides the old ladies, she has two other boarders which with her own, makes a family of twelve. With the help of two maids, she takes care of this remarkable household.

Last Saturday, after an unusually hard siege and almost sleepless week with the sick old lady, this woman climbed down the stairs, turned the whole care of the household over to the head maid and went off for the weekend to visit her daughter in a distant city.

By accomplishing the work she is daily doing I think this woman has proved herself one in a hundred.

But by stopping as she did I think she proved herself one in ten thousand.

When she went away from that home, Mrs. S. was in an agony of nerves. For the last day or two, she said as she passed through the rooms she felt as if the pictures were about to fall upon her, and as if she were carrying the home on her back. It seemed to her that she had not left the home in weeks. Almost all the two days of her visit she slept the exhausted sleep of strain relieved, and came home the third day immeasurably refreshed and strengthened beyond belief.

When she got back about it afterwards she said that if she had not taken that brief change of scene and relief from a breakdown would have been inevitable.

Think of all that woman saved by knowing when to stop and by stopping under circumstances that the ordinary woman would have called absolutely impossible.

Alfred Freeman Palmer, the first president of Wellesley College, was noted for the prodigious amount of work she could get through despite her apparently slender strength. Her husband accounted for this by the fact that she always knew when to stop and always did so. Then put away all care and fled to her country home, no matter what needs pressed.

The tired out woman who knows that she absolutely needs a little rest and who says "I cannot afford to take it, because there are so many who need me," is really stating the very reason she cannot afford not to take it.

If you are much needed, isn't that the more reason for what you can be spared a day or two much better than a month or two?

A week, a week-end, even a day of stopping after resting and recreation at the psychological moment, may prevent more breakdowns that weeks and months and years of vacations have never cured.

Wise, indeed, the woman who has the wisdom to know when to stop and the foresight to do it.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS

Budget of News Concerning Stage Favorites Known to St. John Audiences.

More than three score leading American actors took part last week in the Lamb's annual ladies' gambol at the New Theatre and their efforts were viewed, enjoyed and applauded by a large audience. The entertainment commenced promptly at 7 o'clock and the final curtain dropped just four and one half hours later. Most of the orders and engagements had been sold the week before. The proceeds of the first tier boxes alone amounted to sum in excess of $3,000.

Among those who took part in the various events were several actors who have won distinction and marked recognition in the larger field. Among them may be mentioned: Tom Wise, Wm. Courtright, Joe Brennan, Joe Kilgour, Edward Ellis, Donald Brian, who belongs to north and Mr. Grierson, who is well remembered here is honored as the "Shepherd of the Lambs," Emma Myrtle, John Bertin, and Richard Marsden, all well known theatrically in St. John. Miss Myrtle is playing "Salome" here. Miss Myrtle is playing "Salome" here. Miss Myrtle is playing "Salome" here.

STREET RAILWAY AND BRIDGE. After a conference yesterday between representatives of the provincial government and the St. John Street Railway Co., Mr. McLean, speaking for the railway, said that the company would consider favorably no bridge other than a new one at the Falls and would not aid in the reconstruction of a harbor bridge. A. R. Wetmore, provincial engineer, was asked to prepare an estimate of the approximate cost of the kind of bridge suitable, and adjournment was made.
W. H. Moor has been called to Winnipeg to take an important position in the N. W. Co., there in connection with boys' work. He will leave in July or August. His departure will be keenly regretted.
STOPS ITCHING HEALS THE SKIN. And Cures Eczema, Itch, Psoriasis, and All Skin Diseases. These Results You Can See on the Face You Use. Dr. Chase's Ointment. Quick and certain cure of the itches of Dr. Chase's Ointment. Itching is stopped almost as soon as it is applied. The sores are cured, the morbid growth is arrested, and the healing process is soon set in action. The relief is obtained by using Dr. Chase's Ointment. The reputation of Dr. Chase's Ointment has been made by its successful success in the cure of eczema and itches. It is just as effective in the cure of old sores and wounds which have been given up by doctors. Dr. Chase's Ointment is prepared by Mother Nature as a treatment for the skin troubles of babies, such as chapping, irritation, scald head and baby eczema. Its soothing influence stops the itching, and it prevents the development of eczema from these lesser skin troubles. Mrs. Oscar Vancotti, St. Antoine, Sask., writes that Dr. Chase's Ointment cured her boy of eczema when his head was a mass of scabs, and he suffered untold agony from the itching. Dr. Chase's Ointment, 50 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

when it is said that he plays ball better than he acts upon the stage, is going back to the diamond and back on the "profess," in spite of the official denial of himself and his wife, published at different times. This now is a settled fact, and for a fortnight or longer he has been in training so as to be ready for the call which he knows is coming. The principal difference between acting and baseball is that when you act they wait until you get outside to tell you what they think of you, and when you play baseball they tell it to you then and there," observed Mr. Donlin, in New York last week.

Joseph Brennan, who played with Mrs. Donlin in this city, is now one of the company supporting David Warfield, in "The Return of Peter Grimm." They were given a fine reception last week in Detroit.

Jane Beecher, who acquired permanent recognition as leading lady last season in The Lottery Man, has been particularly fortunate this year. David Reasco selected her for the leading female role in The Coward, which has had an entire season's run at the Balsos, and thus she has escaped the drudgery and wear incidental to travelling and one-night stands. She has had several offers for starring or featuring but has refused them in order to remain with Mr. Reasco. It is probable that she will continue with The Coward next season when it makes a tour of the larger cities, for Mr. Reasco's idea is to down the career of New York company in his plays on their road tour.

Joseph Schman, who is well known to St. John play-goers, having appeared here a few years ago, is now playing in "An American Widow" in the western states. Many glowing compliments were last week bestowed by his manager, Henry W. Savage, on Harry Kolker, who was in St. John last week, and our expectations are high for his performance in "The Christian." Before sailing away to foreign shores Mr. Savage took occasion to express his satisfaction with the tour of Mr. Kolker in "The Great Names," and still more his appreciation of Mr. Kolker as a man.

The tour turned out very well indeed, financially and artistically. It is observed, "Our run in Chicago was exceptionally gratifying, as business in general had not been good there, and our expectations were small. But we remained week after week, our receipts growing steadily from day to day until the house was crowded. But that was not all. I found Mr. Kolker a star who perpetually sought to assist the actor in the house, and he was in the advertisements and the show provided for me, and in every way showed an interest not alone in his own affairs but those of the concert. The experience has made me an ardent admirer of the actor." Remember that if you are in need of light on the general scheme of relationship between managers and stars.
