DEMORALIZING THE
ENEMY.

THE MORAL FORCE OF A "BIG AD ADVERTISEMENT" IS AS GREAT AS THAT OF A "BIG GUN."

A "Company" of soldiers may be adequately armed for ordinary service with rifles only—if the rifles are modern and of long range.

A regiment, if operating independently in active service, must needs have at least a few "field guns," perhaps some breech-loading, rapid-fire "three-pounders."

A brigade, isolated from its base, must carry at least a small Artillery Company, equipped with field guns large enough to "pound" a fortified enemy, or to cover either an offensive movement or a retreat.

An Army Division, in hostile country, can move only as fast as its "big guns" can be transported—for the big guns are the "mailed fist" of a Major-General.
Without them he is partially disabled, the losing any of them to the enemy is counted to be a humiliating reverse, apt to nullify a whole plan of campaign.

"BIG STORES" MUST BE EQUIPPED WITH "ADVERTISING ARTIL-LERY" OF LONG RANGE AND
QUICK-FIRING.

The little store, like the company of soldiers, must get along with little aids, if they are placed in "long range" media.

A "bigger store," like a regiment, must have some display space—some field guns, for offence and defence.

A "still-bigger store," like a Brigade, must carry "bigger guns," must expend its display advertising from inches into columns.

A really "BIG" store, like an Army Division, must carry the "biggest guns," must use whole pages for "broadside," and must make its advertising its "mailed fist" for competition, and its "gilded hand" for patrons.

KING'S DAUGHTERS' GUILD.

The night school for girls, conducted the King's Daughters' Guild, will meet in regular session until Tuesday evening of next week. A eat will be held on Thursday evening for the attendants at the school.
At the mother's meeting yesterday afternoon Mrs. William Davidson was the speaker at a very impressive consecration service. A solo was given by Miss Rising.

PRECAUTIONS IN JAPAN.

(New York Tribune.)
The following notice was posted up recently in an art exhibition in Tokyo, Japan:
"No visitor who is mad or intoxicated is allowed to enter in; if any person found in shall be claimed to retire. No visitor is allowed to carry in with himself any paper, umbrella, stick, and the like kind, except his purse, and is strictly forbidden to take within himself dog of the same kind of beasts.
"Intoxicated" requested to take care of himself from thievery."

A REVELATION IN ETIQUETTE.

(Philadelphia Post.)
"When a Japanese servant is rebuked scolded," says a traveller, "he must be like a Cheshire cat. The etiqueette is very interesting at first, then used to think that Taki, my rikboy, meant to be impertinent when he insisted on smiling when I was angry at him. But when he told me with a burst of laughter of the death of his little child I knew that cheerfulness was only one of the curious details of etiquette in this topsy-turvy land."

LUCK OF A BISHOP.

(Church Times.)
The Bishop of Texas is a man of physical proportions commensurate with the great diocese over which he has charge. Leaving a barber shop one day during the recent Episcopal convention in Boston, he lighted a cigar.
"Why, bishop," inquired the barber,
"you do that sort of thing?"
"Oh, yes," was the reply: "I have done that sort of thing ever since I was twelve years old."
The barber surveyed his six feet four inches of individual before him. Then: "It's well you began young, bishop," he commented, "for they do say it stunts you."

BOOKED FOR A WEDDING.

(M. A. P.)
The following letter was received recently by a gentleman from his gamekeeper asking for leave of absence:
"Dear sir,—I am written to ask if I may have leave to go and take part in the brother's wedding next Friday as he wishes me to be bridesman, etc."

THE TEMPERANCE PROBLEM

Rev. A. M. Walker Delivered the Promised Temperance Sermon in Unitarian Church Yesterday.

In the Unitarian church last evening Rev. A. M. Walker explained his position regard to the temperance question.
He said he desired to remove misunderstandings as to his attitude on the question and had awaited some time to allow the wrath and indignation of certain critics to subside. He was in full sympathy with Eben Perkins, and the strict administration of the law. He did not like himself, himself, but would not hesitate to use them if his health required it.

I shall discuss three phases of this subject, total abstinence, prohibition and remedial methods. All moral persuasion against the use of liquors as a beverage is commendable. I congratulate the temperance societies upon their work. Their name is a misnomer, for they are not temperance but total abstinence societies. As long as they remain within the circle of moral persuasion they do well. I state two good reasons for total abstinence.

First, the use of liquors as a beverage is economic waste. Money can be spent to better advantage. This argument refers as well to cigars, soda water, candy, etc., but more especially to liquors. To spend wisely is half the battle in rightly enjoying life.

The most potent reason against the use of liquors is that it lays bare a temptation to possible dissipation. I say possible, for no one knows today what a present act will lead to tomorrow. Every drunkard has had a beginning. Many people have used liquors for many years without evil results, yet there is a great risk involved. The question arises, is the risk a necessary one? Those who favor total abstinence say no, and they do so wisely. Since there is a great risk involved and nothing to gain, I can see no reason for any one beginning the habit. I should strongly urge it.

We can well afford to learn by other people's experiences, and hence I have no sympathy with those who say that we must use liquor in order to talk intelligently about it. The lives of others is object lesson enough.

And I do not believe in running irrational risks. Life is much like a game of chance, and it becomes the duty of rational creatures to overcome the element of chance. The one who recklessly drinks, for he knows not what commits his ways to the rule of luck.
I conclude that total abstinence is desirable and to be labored for, for it is a sign of reason, and certainly insures one against possible dissipation.

But when the total abstainer becomes a prohibitionist he has forfeited his title as a servant of morality. He no longer works in the interest of under the inspection of morality, but of force. He substitutes a club for reason and proceeds to act as a mindless creature.

Speaking of remedies, Mr. Walker said that it opened an enormous field, but the best one had been found in the public house trust. Under this system a company was formed, and a manager placed in each saloon at a fixed salary.
Out of the profits dividend of 5 per cent was paid to the company, a reserve fund was established on a small scale, and the rest devoted to public improvements.

Intoxicating liquor was not displayed, and tea, coffee and soft drinks were all to be obtained in the saloons, while reading rooms, billiard and other amusement rooms were attached. The manager gained nothing by the sale of intoxicants, and the plan had been found to work admirably. When a license was of the saloons expired, it was granted to the trust, and a manager put in to carry on the business on the lines laid down. The masses were convinced and did not believe in extremes, for that reason they regarded prohibition with an evil eye, and the strict enforcement of plain practical laws was the only method that was likely to check the evil.

THE LAMP AT HUSBAND.
BOSTON, Jan. 1.—Thomas Morrissey is dead at the Relief Hospital as the result of terrible burns received early today, and Eleanor Morrissey, his wife, who, the police allege, threw a lamp at her husband, is under arrest on a charge of assault and battery. Mrs.
Morrissey was arrested before the man's death, and the charge against her will be changed to a more serious one.

The woman claims that she threw the lamp at her husband in an attempt to defend herself from his assaults.
She said that he had been drinking, and that when she returned to their home at 33 Oneida street, in the South End district, last night, he began to abuse her. Early today, according to her story, he renewed his attacks upon her, until, in desperation, she seized a lamp and hurled it at him. It broke against the wall and the blazing oil showered upon him and the building was also set on fire.

Morrissey was taken to the Relief Hospital, and a few hours later his wife was arrested on an assault charge. Morrissey died late tonight.

MANY MAY LEAVE ASYLUM 150 Patients Can Be Just as Well Cared for Outside.

The commissioners appointed by the local government to examine the patients at the asylum and pick out those that can be cared for in the almshouses of the different counties of the province, on Saturday completed their first investigation. There are now five hundred and forty inmates, so that the work of examination of necessity took some time. A slip of paper with remarks on the condition of each person examined was made out. These were then gone over and those fit for removal again examined, after which the report of the commission will be made out.

It was at first thought that there might be some thirty or forty persons in the hospital who are fit subjects for removal.

It is now found that judging patients from the standpoint of the premier, fully one hundred and eighty fulfil the conditions laid down.

The commissioners are Dr. J. V. Ang-lin, Dr. G. A. B. Addy and D. A. P.
Rensay.

THREE NEW MINISTERS.

St. David's, St. Stephen and Carleton Presbyterian Churches Welcomed
New Pastors Yesterday.

The new pastors of St. David's church, St. Stephen's church and the Carleton Presbyterian church preached their first sermons yesterday. An interesting fact is that the pastors, Rev.
Angus A. Graham, Rev. E. A. Wicher, and Rev. H. R. Reid, are all young men and capable speakers.

ST. DAVID'S CHURCH.

A large congregation assembled at St. David's to hear Rev. Mr. Graham.
His predecessor, Dr. Morrison, was an able and popular man, and naturally the desire to judge the new preacher

REV. ANGUS A. GRAHAM.

was quite uppermost in those who attended. The general opinion at the close of the service was that Rev. Mr.
Graham is a strong man, both in word and thought. His address was particularly interesting in its simplicity. He took a broad platform when he told of his plans for his future work in St.
David's. His text was found in Acts 10, 23, and in his introductory remarks explained that these were the words with which the Apostle addressed a new congregation. The chapter contained not only the question of the Apostle, but the answer of the people.
They showed that the spirit of God had prepared both preacher and congregation so that one might minister unto the other.

ST. STEPHEN'S.

In St. Stephen's Rev. Mr. Wicher was heard by a large congregation. He preached his sermon with a reference to the kindness of the congregation in sel-

REV. E. A. WICHER.

ecting him for the work to which he was called would be equal.

"The church is our foundation," I Cor. 3: 11, was his text, which led up to the analysis of the question: What is the Church? He dwelt upon the fact that the ideal church was one in which rich and poor meeting together and worshipping around one sacramental table, learn lessons of mutual forbearance and love.

The preacher made a deep impression on his hearers. His method of teaching is convincing and his choice of language, while select, is comprehensible.

CARLETON CHURCH.

Rev. Mr. Reid's first sermon was also

WARNING TO BRITAIN.

Earl Roberts Says that Every British Youth Must Have Good Military Training.

LONDON, Dec. 30.—"The army as it stands, and as it is to be" is the text under which Field Marshal Earl Roberts, in the January Nineteenth Century, reads Britons a noteworthy lecture on the duty of all classes if Great Britain would meet the demands of modern warfare. After frankly pointing out existing deficiencies, Earl Roberts writes: "A terrible lesson awaits the nation whose soldiers find themselves opposed by equally brave but better trained opponents on the field of battle. No amount of money, no national sacrifices, will then avail for modern warfare moves fast and time lost in peace can never be made up during the stress of a campaign. I hold this view very strongly, and would urge my fellow-countrymen with all the force at my command to look the plain facts in the face."

Earl Roberts does not advocate compulsory service, "because it is distasteful to the nation and incompatible with the conditions of any army which has a large proportion of units in foreign service," but maintains that Great Britain must have a large reserve force, and "if the citizens of so great and prosperous a nation as ours are to remain exempt from compulsory service in time of peace, without the safety of the empire being endangered, the right class of men must be attracted to the regular army by good conditions of pay and pension; and it is the bounden duty of the state to see that every able-bodied man in this country, no matter to what grade of society he may belong, undergo some kind of military training in youth sufficient to enable him to shoot straight and carry out simple orders if ever his services are required for national defence."

EFFICIENCY MUST BE RAISED.
Earl Roberts interestingly reviews the changes of the last fifty years, describes the military system prior to of Crimean war, and points out how the introduction of modern guns resulted in the complete abolishment of the idea that men must be mere machines. Officers, he says, are no longer directly able to command their men, because the fighting formation has been changed, and therefore the men must have a far higher standard of individual intelligence, self-reliance, and the powers of leading, must be on a proportionately higher level.

"The sooner this is realized to the full extent," Earl Roberts says, "the better for all ranks when the hour of trial comes."

Earl Roberts says the report of the commission on the war in Africa made it clear that much is still needed before Great Britain has an army fit in all respects for war with a modern army. Among other things the report must have a larger proportion of mounted troops for rapid reinforcement, and in order to quickly seize points of vantage. He refers to the action of the government in ordering new quick-firing field guns for the complete re-equipment of the army, as reported by the Associated Press yesterday, and says these guns will be 12-12 pounders for horse and 12-12 pounders for field artillery.

Simultaneously with Earl Roberts' article, it is officially announced that 160 batteries will be supplied with new guns at a cost of $1,000,000, and that the order will be executed within twenty months.

Earl Roberts concludes his article as follows: "It will be necessary to have a reserve force of officers amounting to some thousands. These officers made available by a system for the military training of the entire youth of the country. Such a reserve is essential to our success, no matter under what system our army may be organized."

ST. MARTIN'S CHAPEL.

And Crew of American Schooner Picked Up—Captain Had Wife.

SOUTHAMPTON, Jan. 1.—The steamer Minnehaha of the Atlantic Transport Line, which has sailed for New York, has on board Captain Nelson and wife and five members of the crew of American schooner W. R. Chester, who were picked up in mid-ocean by the British steamship Anglo-Chilian.

The W. R. Chester sailed from St.
John, N. B., Nov. 24 and Jonesport, Maine, Dec. 4, for Barbados. She was owned by Charles Nelson of Machias, Me., and was built at that port in 1880.
Before abandoning the schooner when the Anglo-Chilian appeared Captain Nelson set fire to her.

CHASER'S ELBOW.

(Cincinnati Times.)
"I don't see anything the matter with your elbow, Mr. Chester," said Bobby, who had forgotten his mother's junction to keep quiet at the dinner table.

"There isn't anything the matter with it, Bobby," innocently replied the guest. "What made you think there was?"

"Why, I heard papa say that you were a fellow, except that you crooked your elbow too much, but it looks all right to me."

Then Bobby retired, but not in good order.

WINNIPEG, Man., Dec. 30.—The cabin of a Canadian Northern train, handy by two engines, and pushing a snow-plough was upset into a ditch near Arizona, twelve miles from Portage la Proude and set on fire. The train was filled with passengers who were pulled out through the windows, about twelve receiving severe injuries.
Ben Linkster was so badly hurt he died before reaching the hospital.

In which the Christian seed finds growth. The heart of mankind is the soil and often the growth of the seed is aggravated slow. But slow growth, if it is a sure growth, is the best growth. Patience is the fort of a Christian soul, and a patient waiting is generally rewarded.

In closing, the minister said he hoped that the Word of God as it flashed on their lives might find little or the shallow, stony soil which prevented growth, and that their work together as pastor and people during the coming years might be productive of much good.

SAYS MAYOR IS TO BLAME.

Rev. H. D. Marr, in his discourse in Carleton Methodist church yesterday morning, made a few remarks regarding the boxing exhibition which is to take place in the Carleton City Hall this afternoon between Littlejohn and Jordan. He said it was despicable that men would go so low as to engage in such an exhibition, but that the man who was to blame for the affair was one who should know right from wrong and that man was the person who granted the license.

Mr. Marr's remarks were strong and his opinion of Mayor White granting a license for a boxing exhibition was clearly expressed.

Every day in the year and every year to come, people will be hunting for houses in which to live. The houses that are advertised are the ones they
