Pitiful Scene
In King Square

Woman With Child in Hard Circumstances Seeing so Many Happy Become Hysterical—Cared for by Ladies and Police—Gives Real Story of Sadness.

The hysterical weeping of a woman giving her name as Mrs. Harriet Ellis of Harcourt, Kent county, attracted the attention of large numbers of passers-by yesterday afternoon. The woman had clasped tightly to her breast a curly-haired little girl about two years old. As soon as she could be comforted she was taken in the ambulance to the Hamilton Hotel, Mill street, where the woman said she had been living.

The story she told to Police Constable Currier who went with her in a pitiful one. It seems that she had been living in the States for about fifteen years in January she was called to her home in Kent County on account of the sickness of her mother. With her little two year old girl she set out on May 30th to rejoin her brother in Lynn, Mass. They got on as far as Vancouver when the U. S. immigration officials refused to allow her to proceed further. She came back to the city and stayed for some weeks with a woman living on Prospect street. The woman with whom she had been stopping wanted to adopt the little girl but the mother would not part with her child. Later mother and child moved to the Hamilton Hotel where they have been boarding ever since. She had written to her brother in Lynn, who communicated with the immigration officials. They promised to look into the matter, but so far nothing has been done. The woman said that she had been working in the States for years and could obtain work as soon as she went back, and there is no danger of her becoming a public charge. She had about sixty dollars when she came to the city but that sum has been sadly depleted and now she is almost destitute.

The saddest part of the affair is that the woman's trunk with all her clothes as well as her child's has been lost and she has no clothes except what she is now wearing. She said that she had to put the little girl to bed while she washed her clothes. She had to keep any money she had to pay her board and could not afford to buy any clothes.

It was sunny and warm yesterday afternoon that she thought she would take her little girl up to the King Square for an airing. Everything looked so clean and fresh and everybody around her, young and old, so happy and carefree that she could not help contrasting it with her own unhappy lot. The contemplation of it was too much for the poor woman and she broke down.

The woman gave her religion as Presbyterian and the matter will very likely be brought to the attention of the welfare workers of that church in the city.

For nearly an hour yesterday afternoon the unfortunate woman wept bitterly, and feeling her position keenly, refused to tell her troubles to men and women as well as the police who asked her what was the matter. A large crowd that gathered round the woman was dispersed by Sergeant Scott and Constable Currier. Finally two kind-hearted ladies comforted the woman and escorted her and the child to a bench near the Young monument and away from the curious crowd. As a result of this kindness Mrs. Ellis told the ladies part of her trouble and they will do all they can to assist her.

Recent Addition
To The Collection

Little Mud Turtle Found by Mr. Macintosh Along the Banks of the Nerepis is Quite at Home in Natural History Society.

A recent addition has been made to the collection of stuffed animals in the Natural History Society's collection of the animals of the province. The new comer differs in several particulars from the other stuffed specimens, for one thing he is stuffed for the most part with lettuce leaves, although other diets also appeal to him and for another thing he is anything but an inanimate being as those who have seen the little mud turtle scrambling around the curator's office will bear witness.

Mr. Macintosh found the young turtle along the banks of the Nerepis in a recent excursion and intends taking him along with him on a coming lecturing tour where the turtle will be shown to the pedagogues of the province, and others interested in the little strangers known to but a few outside the naturalist's ranks.

The specimen which the curator has found does not resemble the type usually pictured. In that its shell instead of being round is an almost oblong shell some nine inches long and five wide. Its fore paws are armed with servicable nails somewhat similar to those of a dog and are attached to the body after the manner of flippers. The neck and head resemble the snake and it has a tail about three inches long. When frightened the turtle draws head, tail, and flippers inside its shell and is then fairly well protected from all the dangers of the ordinary run of the day.

BOSTON TRAIN LATE
The Boston train was about an hour and twenty minutes late last night. The tourist traffic continues heavy all along the route and it makes delays unavoidable. A large number of the passengers were bound for points east of St. John.

A Well Baby Clinic will open at the Victorian Order of Nurses Home, 35 Carlton street at three o'clock Thursday afternoon. It is open to any mother who wishes to bring her baby.

The Moderation
Committee Met

Those in Favor of Beers and Wines Heard Addresses Last Night and Chairmen of Ward Workers Were Appointed.

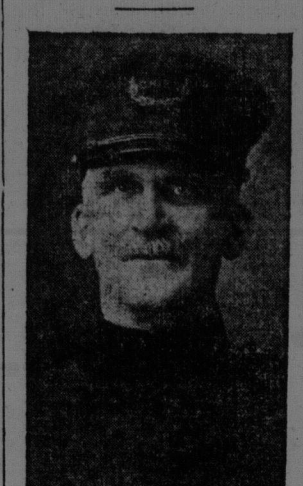

A meeting of those in favor of Beers and Wines was held last evening in the Oddfellows' Building when the organization of the committee was completed. Charles Stevens was the chairman and before proceeding with the business of the meeting he spoke of the encouragement that the Moderation Committee was receiving. It was not confined to any one section of the city but came from all parts and was most gratifying. Many prominent men, whose names would be rather a surprise to the other people, had pledged their support. Many obstacles had been placed in their path and he mentioned that one of the daily papers which received its support from the working people, refused to put an announcement of a meeting. He was absolutely sure that if the "wet vote"—as it is called—is got out to the polls on July 10th beers and wines would carry.

The meeting then resolved into a business session and the chairmen of the workers for the different wards were appointed. On motion these chairmen were added to the executive. The committee has obtained the use of a street car for this evening and it will go over the whole route. The car will be decorated with streamers and banners and a band will be on board furnishing music.

INJURED ON KING STREET.
While walking down King street about 5:30 yesterday afternoon Mrs. Percy E. Mawhinney of 223 Gifford street, West Side, slipped on the pavement in front of W. H. Thorne & Co's store and in falling suffered some injury to her back. She was taken to her home in John C. Cheesley's car.

Chief of Police Finley

Fredericton Chief Knows What He is Talking About—He Says "Vote Against Light Wines and Beers," and Has it in Mind Too as a Good Business Proposition.

In a letter to Mr. Donald Fraser, Chief of Police Finley, who, because of a lifetime given to police duties, is in a position to compare present and pre-prohibition days, comes out strongly in favor of the Prohibition Law and against light wines and beers, and his opinion should have considerable weight in this Province with those who are trying to decide honestly what is the best way to vote. Mr. Finley's letter, a very convincing document, concludes as follows: "I am satisfied that we need the Prohibition Law now as we never did before. In our lives and before the judgment bar of God we will be held accountable for our vote. We cannot afford to lose what we have gained, and only too late we realize the loss, should the law be repealed, and light wines and beers substituted. What will it be—PEACE, CONTENTMENT and PROSPERITY with prohibition, or misery and war with open bars?" Mark a cross in the first and last spaces of the ballot, vote early, and remember that all registered women can vote, and, if taxpayers, that fact alone represents registration.

How To Vote
Saturday

FOR Prohibition	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
AGAINST Prohibition	<input type="checkbox"/>
FOR Sale of Light Wines and Beers under Government Control	<input type="checkbox"/>
AGAINST Sale of Light Wines and Beers	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>

To get Prohibition it is absolutely necessary to mark a cross in both first and last spaces of the ballot, as per the accompanying cut. Every voter who comes to the polls Saturday will have a ballot presented to him (or her), and the man or woman who is anxious to vote for Prohibition should have it intelligibly fixed in his or her mind that if the ballot is spoiled the vote is lost. It is so simple to remember that the ballot must be marked by a plain cross in the right hand portion of the first and last spaces just as so plainly marked above. Keep this in mind, vote early, and encourage all your friends to come to the polls.

J. King Kelley, K. C., came in on the Boston train from Fredericton this morning.

Board of Health
Meeting Yesterday

Interesting Account Given of Child Welfare Work Conducted by Victorian Order During Last Month's Milk Shortage—Other Business.

Considerable routine business was transacted at the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Health which was held in the board's rooms on Princess street yesterday afternoon with the chairman, John Kelly, presiding.

In their report on child welfare work the Victorian Order of Nurses gave an interesting account of the work accomplished during last month's milk shortage. Owing to the Board of Health's prompt action in obtaining milk for the little ones in the city, the nurses, assisted by the Y. A. D.'s, were enabled to distribute some 200 quarts of milk to the mothers of infant and young children, as well as to invalids. Those who benefited by the supply expressed their gratitude in no uncertain terms.

Included in the report of the Victorian Order was the acknowledgement of a pair of scales provided by the board for the well baby clinic which has been established in the Order's home on Carleton street.

A report was also received from the nurse of the St. John Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis, as well as from the other officials of the local board. A number of bills were ordered paid and several requests for permits of different kinds received.

American Money
And American Literature

"Slip-Up" in Campaign Methods of Prohibitionists—Distributes Literature in New Brunswick Intended for Black Population in South.

An aspect of the Prohibition question which must be considered seriously in voting on July 10 is the matter of the origin of the movement. There is every indication that Prohibition in its present form is but another manifestation of the "Americanization" policy of our aggressive Southern neighbors. Literature distributed in New Brunswick has been printed in the United States and the prohibition writers draw their lessons almost entirely from the very "great and good" men across the line. It would also be interesting to know how much "Rockefeller" money is behind the present widespread propaganda and how much is being spent in New Brunswick. In one of the Prohibition circulars which flood the province, one speaker is made to say, "When the babe lays its 'inky, curly head' against its mother's breast. Surely this was printed for consumption among the black population of the South and not for the intelligent voters of New Brunswick."

Definite and final Prohibition in New Brunswick would be a step away from British ideals and British connection. Can the crude fanaticism of a new world population improve upon the mellowed customs which have been associated with British national life from time immemorial? We cannot expect any large measure of British immigration, which it was confidently predicted and devoutly hoped would follow the war, if such an un-British law is perpetuated in New Brunswick. Already instances have been reported in the daily press of Englishmen returning from Canada in disgust when they learned of the unreasonable provisions of the prohibitory laws now in force.

No wonder the returned men, who have a broader view from their touch with the old world civilization, speak out publicly for wine and beer. Lt. Col. Machin, former M. P. P. in the Ontario Legislature, in speaking on the subject, told of a train passenger having been scolded by a "take" detective for whiskey, and said: "Do you wonder I say it is a marvel to my mind that the free British subjects of the province put up with that sort of thing? I have sometimes hung my head in shame to think as I read the accounts in the daily press of the accounts which our friends the Prohibitionists manifest over the halting to court and spicing of the members of the medical profession who have suffered because they dared to use their own judgment under this unjust Act."

"If . . . democracy and the right to live as free men has been established and won by the gallantry of our army in France and Flanders, what use was the sacrifice there made if we are coming back . . . to find our freedom taken away from us here?"—Adv.
