FREE OF ALL THREE DISEASES

"Fruit-a-lives" Brought Him Perfect Health

Avon, Ont., May 14th, 1913.

"I am younger since I have been taking 'Fruit-a-lives' than I was when I was badly with Fruit-a-lives, Constipation and Stomach Disorder, but I found 'Fruit-a-lives' was the panacea for the whole three."

Now I am free of all these diseases and enjoying perfect health, and able to work whenever I like. Five years ago, I started taking 'Fruit-a-lives'. I took two every night and they worked wonders for me.

"No other medicine I could get was so good and I took lots of different remedies before I found out how good 'Fruit-a-lives' were."

"I keep 'Fruit-a-lives' on hand all the time, and am never without them. They are so good for me that I take them every morning, so I can have them handy. 'Fruit-a-lives' are worthy of every good word I can say about them. The fact that they cured me of Pills was something to be everlastingly thankful for."

"GEORGE LAUR."

COMPLAIN THAT NO PROTECTION IS GIVEN TO SALMON.

A correspondent writes from Black River calling attention to the need for protecting the salmon as they enter and go up the rivers which empty into the Bay of Fundy. He says that in the rivers east of St. John these fish are being continually netted and otherwise destroyed on their way up stream, and that if this practice were stopped the rivers would soon be well stocked, much more quickly than could be done by a dozen hatcheries.

The Mispic dam, has not yet been opened to permit the salmon to go up stream and fishermen do not understand the delay. The need for protecting Black River and other streams to the eastward of St. John has been known for many years, but no special laws have been enacted to protect the fish. It is felt that the city, the county, and the province, ought to co-operate not only for the strict enforcement of the fishery laws but for the promotion of good fishing in other ways. Within a few years, if the right measures were pursued, there would be excellent fishing in this county, and in Kings, Charlotte and Albert counties.

THE WOMAN'S CORNER

EFFICIENT HOUSEKEEPING

Maple Sugar Pralines.

What are pralines? Ah, you never "lived south" or you would know, but in that case you would be asking about maple sugar for that is a northern delicacy, for sweet! Baked sugar almonds are known as pralines south of Boston and Dixon's line. Made with maple, dear me, the only way to show you how good they are is to tell you to try a few.

Break a pound cake of maple sugar into pieces and add just a little water, so it will not burn while dissolving over low heat. Simmer this until a syrup that thickens from the spoon results. Have waiting a fourth of a pound of almonds that have been blanched and broken in bits with a hammer or a rolling pin. Pour these into the syrup and stir for a minute, then turn the whole bubbling mass onto a buttered platter where it will cool. The maple will granulate as it cools and the confection will be deliciously rich.

Maple fudge is another dainty. Put a pound of the crushed sugar into a double boiler with a cup of milk. When it is dissolved and hot place the inner kettle next to the heat but do not let the mixture burn. Add a tablespoon of butter and when it thickens from spoon or a whisk, then turn the whole bubbling mass onto a buttered platter where it will cool. The maple will granulate as it cools and the confection will be deliciously rich.

Maple frosting is always a well liked filling on any cake. It is usually added but they are not needed. Crush a half a pound of maple sugar and put it in a sauce pan with one cup of granulated sugar and a cup of cream. When the sugar is melted mix the mixture without stirring until it softens enough to spread on cake layers.

An excellent plain cake that this rich frosting makes delicious is made over a recipe contributed by a lady of this city. It is called "Mock Angel cake." Beat one-third of a cup of butter with one cup sugar, one egg, and one-half beaten separately, one-third teaspoon vanilla, one cup of milk, three cups flour containing three heaping teaspoons of baking powder sifted together. Add the well beaten white of the egg at the last. Bake in a shallow pan or in two layers.

Maple hard sauce is used upon puddings or any sort of cake. Boil thick maple syrup until it is reduced one-half. Do not stir or shake it while boiling. Add half as much butter as you have thick syrup. Remove from heat and cool slightly, then pour upon a well beaten egg, beating all the while. Continue beating until the mixture no longer separates. Use at once before it grows cold.

FASHION FADS.

A novel grille is shaped like a miniature tin.

Pointed wings, large and small, are in high favor.

The domino veil is one of fashion's latest fads.

The vogue for lacquered straws in millinery continues.

Chamois suede gloves have been adopted far and near.

Fancy cut hems continue to be seen in handkerchiefs.

Steel shoe buckles are in small sizes and novel designs.

Brassieres can now be had with shields already sewn in.

Striped silk dresses are made of striped silks, with scalloped flounces and natty little boleros.

At present the safest sort of handbag is an all-plant leather one, flat and thin and shallow.

Very long and very full sleeve frills give a certain grace and quaintness to some of the present fashions.

It is said colored wigs are becoming more the fashion in Paris, especially for private wear with tea-gowns.

With the low-necked dresses of the present day it seems impossible for a woman to do without a string of pearls.

Cabbage leaves contain a great deal of gluten, therefore are very nourishing.

There is a tendency to drape the basques of coats in such a way that they drop behind and be caught up into a bow over the bust, leaving the waistcoat in full view.

There is a wonderful variety of material in the market, and the terms of which duplicate the material of the fashions of the last century.

Novelty skirts are fashioned of gabardines with Roman stripes, striking plaid and white with suede belts, black-and-white woads with flat pleated flounces below their yokes, two-toned checks, plaid cotton and fine brown plaids in various color effects.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

The windows are among the most important parts of a house, and their proper curtaining is a fine art.

A boot 'tree' is an excellent thing to use when darning a stocking. It helps in shaping the darns to the foot.

Paper bag cookery is peculiarly suitable for fish. They are much more delightful when cooked by this method.

When boiling eggs, always have the water boiling when eggs are put in, and then boil for two minutes.

The marketing should be sorted and put away as they come into the house. If it is allowed to wait until what seems a convenient time to attend to it the meat and vegetables may lose some of their freshness.

Kerosene will remove heavy grease from children's clothes, especially that from Automobiles. Lay the greasy portion of the cloth in a basin and cover it with kerosene. Let it stand for an hour or so and then rub between the hands.

The following are a few simple rules in economy: Never buy a cheap material when you can get a better quality. Pay cash; credit is costly. Buy perishable food products in quantities. Watch the household closely and eliminate all waste.

The most important factor in treating a burn or scald is to keep it from the air. Therefore, apply any remedy you use by means of a cloth lightly bound over the wound. Cover this cloth with cotton wadding. If necessary, to keep out the air.

A very good way to dispose of slices of toast and scraps of bread is to brown all in the oven, then roll and sift, then pack in a tin. This makes a very good food for the birds. Three or four cupsful of the crumbs are used in place of part of the flour called for in the recipe.

If you are anticipating planting a flower garden, remember the flower borders are most important, as they are so decorative. Eight plants against a background are more effective than fifty in an open yard. Borders against fences are particularly pretty.

A pretty way of arranging anemones is to put them in a shallow pottery bowl. First arrange a ring of moss so that it does not touch the sides. Then make a space in the centre of the moss, add the water and arrange the flowers to form an outer circle. The centre is also filled with flowers.
