Dr. Eugene Forsey,
574 Piccadilly Avenue,
Ottawa, Ontario.

My dear Eugene:

I knew quite well when I read that editorial in the "Ottawa Journal" that you would see the very point which you raise so well in your letter.

Really it is one of the mysteries that are quite insoluble how a man of the ability of Mr. P. D. Ross could get the wrong idea entirely from the proposal I made at Hamilton in '25. He has had it wrong from the beginning and he simply will not get it right. Your reply is absolutely unanswerable, and Mr. Ross is thoroughly capable of seeing that it is. I have a great regard for him personally. He is one of the grand old men of our country.

I think I will enclose you copy of letter which I read Grattan O'Leary on this subject. Am not making a special copy, so please return it when you have read it.

Again all I can do is thank you for your very able assistance in this as in many matters.

Yours sincerely,

AM/E.
