Coal AND MARVELOUS CURE OF SORE EYES

Baby Treated at Two Hospitals Over a Year-Eyes Grew Worse-Doctor Said They Might Be Bad for Years.

ONE BOX OF CUTICURA MAKES COMPLETE CURE

"When my little girl was a few months old, her eyes began to getbad; thinking it was from her teeth, I lived in hopes of them getting better, but as they did not improve I decided to get medical advice. I took her to the — Hospital several times, and subsequently to the Children's Hospital at —, to which institution I took her for twelve months. The doctors were most kind and attentive, and took her for twelve months. The dec-tors were most kind and attentive, and did all they could for her, but her eyes seemed to be growing worse. One doctor told me they might be bad for years; I was very miserable at such a prospect. I was one day stopped in the street by a Mrs. Todd who told me that Cuticura Cintment had cured me that Cuticura Ointment had cured her boy, and advised me to try it. I commenced using it that very night. The cure has been marvelous. The eyes soon commenced to get strong, and they are now as healthy as if there had never been anything the matter with them. The cure was completed with less than one box of Cuticura Ointment. You are at liberty to publish this letter, and I trust it may cura Ointment. You are at heerly to publish this letter, and I trust it may be the means of others being cured as my little girl has been.—Mrs. F. Phillips, Grafton St., Waverly, Sydney, N. S. W." AN EVENING IN JUNE.

Oh, the glories of an evening
In the balmy menth of June!
When, as all the posts tell you.
Heaven and earth are quite in tune,
When the silent stars blink slyly
At the lovers young and fair
And great chunks of Joyous rapture
Float serenely through the air.

Seated on a bank of velvet
Underneath a friendly moon,
There you loll beside the lady,
And you show her how to spoon,
Calling her your hunky dory
And most every kind of pet,
Telling her about the money
That you think you're going to get.

There serenely in the twilight,
Far from the electric light,
You go bughouse, as the boys say,
O'er the beauties of the night,
And you spout about the glories
That the starry heavens disclose,
While the girl sits by and wonders
If you really will propose.

But you work round to the question But you work round to the question Wary as a diplomat, Till at last you whisper softly, "Mamie, tell me where I'm at." When she says it is so sudden, Then her answer you can guess, And you boldly keep insisting Till she has to answer, "Yes."

Ban on Whiskers, An effort is being made by the Iowa tate board of health to have all bearded doctors run the lawn mower over their faces, that they may go whiskerless to their pleasant task of scatter-ing pills where they will do the most

Of course this does not apply to lady physicians or to men who have not boycotted the barber shops, but only to those men whose faces are adorned with the festive bunch of lilacs.

The reason of this stab, or, rather, cut at personal liberty, is that microbes have a way of traveling around in the doctors' whiskers to save car fare jumping on when the doctor is busy mixing some drops for a patient and carelessly alighting when he makes a call at some place where they think they would like to board for a week. Thus it will be seen that the whis kers are convicted not because they are guilty in themselves, but on account of the company they keep.

EXPERIENCE OF A BIRCHTOWN LADY

Tried in Vain to Cure Her Dyspepsis Till She Used Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets-They Cured Her Completely and Permanently.

Miss Mary Brown, of Birchtown Shelburne Co., N. S., relates an ex-Shelburne Co., N. S., relates an experience that is of immediate interest to thousands of people in all parts of Canada. These thousands are the people who face a square meal with mingled feelings of pleasure and dread, in other words the victims of Indigestion and Dyspepsia.

"I can say I had Dyspepsia for some time," says Miss Brown. "I tried many medicines but never met (with anything to help me till I used Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

"After taking three boxes I think they have made a perfect cure. And they have made a perfect cure. And as it is over a year now since I took them I think I can safely say the cure was a permanent one."

If you want to eat three square meals a day and enjoy them use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

This is a story of M. Mounet-Sully. Some time ago he visited Greece, and when he saw the Parthenon he me with emotion. Surrounded by poets, artists and archaeologists, he suddenly dropped upon his knees and then lay full length, kissed the dust twice and cried: "Holy ground! Holy ground!" His companions gazed at him respectfully, much impressed by this homage to the soil. As they were about to quit the scene M. Mounet-Sully detained them by a gesture. They thought he was going to make a speech; but, to their surprise, he drop-ped to earth again and kissed it fervently anew. Then he rose and uttered the simple words, "That is for my brother!"-London Chronicle.

THE "GREEN PERIL."

Absinth's Fearful Hold Upon the Writers are again warning the French ublic against what is termed the "green peril," in other words, absinth, the consumption of which is fearfully on the increase in France. In Belgium an interdict has been placed on the terrible drink, and its manufacture and sale are now forbidden in that country. According to one of the antiabsinth writers, M. Maurice Talmeyr, 133,000 hectoliters, or 2,926,000 gallons, in round numbers of the stuff are annually absorbed by French people, men and women, for the women have also learned to like the fee verte, now the green peril. Fifty years ago only 735 hecto-liters of absinth were consumed in France. The increase of lunacy is attributed to the deleterious drink. Sixty years back there were only 10,000 registered lunatics, and now there are 80,000. The increase in crime is also traced to the love of absinth among the masses. Dr. Garnier in his "Folie a Paris" and his "Criminel Instinctif" gives numerous cases in proof of this, but he says that if absinthism and alcoholism are not the sole motors of moral perversion they may, in his opinion, be considered the predominating causes of the same. The doctor further says that in a family addicted to alcoholic stimulants absinth is put into the soup, and also "alcoholism, lunacy and crime form a somber trilogy closely united and intertwined."

M. Talmeyr, who quotes Dr. Gar nier, is more emphatic than the medical man in his denunciation of absinth, which, he says, makes maniacs epileptic victims, idiots, murderers and monsters. He accordingly calls upon the government to do something, but he is doubtful if the example of Belgium with regard to absinth will be imitated in France.-London Telegraph.

MODERN FOOTBALL

comes From the Florentines, Who Got It From Greece. 191d modern football, the Rugby game, travel to England from the Italy of the renaissance and does its histery reach back to ancient Greece? A recent writer says: "Probably not more than a few votaries of Rugby football are aware that we have to thank Florentine athletes for the invention of the game and for its introduction into Great Britain. Rugby school was founded somewhere about 1567. It was one of the direct results of what has een called the Florentine or Tuscan fever in England, which set in late in the Italian renaissance. Not only did men of letters come over and settle in England's centers of learning and cre ate others, but many Florentines versed in the theory and practice of polite culture came as well. The game of il calcio came to Florence by way of Greece. Something of the sort had fig-ured among the less important games at Olympia. The principal Florentine ground was the Plazza di Santa Croce. where upon the wall of the Palazzo Giulio Parrigi is still to be seen the disk from which the line dividing the ground was drawn across the open square. The ball was of leather, con-taining an inflated bladder, and at parently was the exact size, weight and shape of the Rugby ball of today.

"Il calcio consisted of a friendly con-test between two equal sides of players called schiera azzura and schiera rossa-blues and reds. The number of players varied according to the size of the ground or the importance of the encounter. In the Piazza di Santa Croce the sides were twenty to twenty-seven strong, while on the public open sports ground at Peretola they totaled as many as sixty each. Originally the players were required to be of noble or gentle blood or such as had gained distinction and rank in the profession of arms. Each man had to be of unblemished reputation and of graceful figure and possessed of accomplished manners.

"In addition to the actual players were presidents, standard bearers, judges, an umpire, pages and other officials, all 'without reproach, worthy of the city and courteous in manner.' The costumes of the players were tight fitting drawers and tunics of silk, with feathered caps, all richly embroidered in gold and silver. Leather shoes were worn. The teams were di-vided into four classes: Forwards, whose places were near the dividing line and whose work was to keep the line and whose work was to keep the ball in play; halfbacks, stationed be-hind the forwards, in order to return the ball to play; three-quarter backs, who were strong kickers and played straight on the ball, and goal keepers, placed at the flags, or boundary, te stop the ball passing."

Malagasy Etiquette.

A French conjurer many years ago during a performance at the court of Madagascar asked the queen through an interpreter if she would taste a glass of wine. On her refusal the conjurer, with simulated anger, emptied the glass over her, and the contents dropped in the shape of a rose into her majesty's lap. The court functionaries were so indignant at this proceeding that they jumped up from their seats, insisted upon the queen leaving the apartment and charged the performer with high treason. The unfortunate man had to be protected by the native troops from the fury of the populace and was compelled to leave the capita before daybreak.

Lucrezia Borgia.

Lucrezia Borgia was a singularly beautiful woman, with gray eyes and yellow hair. It was said of her that her upper eyelids drooped over more than half the iris, so as to give the eye a languld expression. She had a could be trick of looking steadily sideeculiar trick of looking steadily sideways at those with whom she conversed, and this peculiarity invariably excited distrust in those who observed it. She was singularly gifted in conversation and repartee and could held her own in any company.

The Average Sterm Wave The average storm wave is thirty feet in height. The highest storm waves ever measured were between forty-four and forty-eight feet high. The gigantic force of storm waves is shown by the fact that at Skerryvore lighthouse, of the west coast of Scotland, a mass of rock weighing five and a half tons was once hurled to a height of seventy-two feet above the sea level, while a mass weighing thirteen and a half tons was torn from a cliff seventy-four feet high.

WHAT WOMEN SUFFER

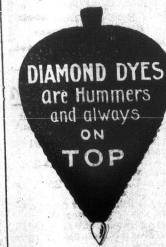

At All Ages They Need Rich, Pure. Blood to Secure Health and. Happiness.

A woman needs medicine more than a man. Her organism is more complex, her system more delicate. Her health is disturbed regularly in the course of nature. If anything happens to interfere with that natural course, she goes through unspeakable suffering. In fact the health of every function and the happiness of every moment of a woman's life deable suffering. In fact the heafth of every function and the happiness of every moment of a woman's life depends upon the richness and the regularity of her blood supply. That is the simple, scientific reason why Dr. Williams' Pink Pills aer worth more than their weight in gold tower than their weight in gold tower of all ages, from fifteen tofifty. These pills actually make the rich, red blood that brings health and happiness and freedom from pain to every woman. Mrs. Neil Ferguson, Ashfield, N.S., says; "In justice to you, and in the hope that what I say may benefit other suffering women, I take pleasure in stating that I have found wonderful benefit from the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, When I began using the pills I was so badly run down that I could scarcely go about; at times I suffered yer much and felt that life was

When I began using the pills I was so badly run down that I could scarcely go about; at times I suffered very much and felt that life was a burden. Thanks to Dr. Williams', Pink Pills, I can now say I am enjoying better health than I ever expected to have again, and I can most heartily recommend these pills to other suffering women."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cured Mrs. Ferguson because they filled her veins with the rich, pure blood so necessary to the health and happiness of every human being. It is for this reason that these pills atways cure such troubles as anaemia, neuralgia, heart trouble, indigestion, rheumatism, samaica, St. Vitus' dance, paralysis, kidney and liver troubles, and the special ailments of growing girls and women of middle age. You can get these pills from any dealer in medicine, but you should be careful to see that the fulls name, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People." is on the wrapped rame, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People," is on the wrapped around each box. If you wish you can get the pills by mail at 50 center a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing The Dr. Williams Medicine. Co., Brockville, Ont.

The Toothpick In Indianapolis. "Indianapolis women have the toothpick habit bad," said an observing "I went to one place where visitor. hundreds of them eat at noon, and you could track them by the toothpicks on the pavements, while the halls of the building were literally sowed with toothpicks. Mest of the women you meet coming away from the place are chewing toothpicks. At the public cafes and private boarding houses most women stop and take toothpicks the same as the men rode downtown in a car which passes through a residence street every morning the week I was in Indianapolis, and in one of the most beautiful homes sat a daintily dressed elderly woman in the front window using her toothpick. To live up to the Indianapolis reputation for culture its women will have to give up the toothpick habit." - Indianapolis
