

General; but whose decisions can be voted by the Court, who is absolute.

The third rank is occupied by the members of the cabinet, who are in number exclusive of three directors. These most worthy of ordinary business, and are the mere tools of the Court.

In Russia there are certain high officers chosen from among the Senators or other distinguished persons called inspectors, whose duty it is to visit each of the quarters assigned him in the provinces, enquire into the conduct of the persons employed by the State, hear the complaints of the people, examine into the grounds of the sentences of the courts and sometimes reverse them. These persons are treated with the most profound respect, as the immediate representatives of the Court, and feared lest they should carry complaints to their masters.

There are in Russia more than 600,000 civil officers, who in general exercise a very tyrannical power; persecuting the innocent, oppressing the poor, and extorting money from the rich; obsequious to their superiors and arrogant to their inferiors. They are thus a grievous scourge to the people.

The empire is divided into large provinces. Each of these has over it a Governor General appointed by the emperor and having under him a sub-governor, a council of regency, whom he may consult in cases of difficulty, and who concentrates in himself all the branches of the administration, within the locality, over which he presides; and is responsible only to the emperor.

The judicial courts are various, some for criminal and others for civil matters, some for the collection of taxes and crown revenues. Judges are removable; being appointed only for three or six years. In each of the provinces there is an superior court. Judges, it is said, are far from being conscientious.

The chief object of attention with the Russian emperors is the army. In regard to the number of the Russian troops different statements have been made. Some estimate them at a million. The most probable number consists of 500,000 infantry, 90,000 cavalry besides 100,000 in the country of the Caucasus. The Emperor however may call immediately under his standard almost any number of troops; but the difficulty is to pay them, the Russian treasury being loaded with debt.

In conclusion the military marine is divided into two squadrons: one on the Baltic and the other on the Black sea. These consist of 360 large vessels, 48 ships of the line, 30 frigates, 15 steam vessels of war, &c. having in all 7,500 cannon. We neglected to mention in the proper place that the Imperial guard consists of 80,000 men, 10,000 infantry, 10,000 cavalry. Such is a short account of the internal state of Russia according to the latest accounts.

I remain, Yours truly, R

THE NEW YORK TRIBUNE WEEKLY—ENLARGED.

ON the 15th of last April THE DAILY TRIBUNE, having completed its twelfth year, was enlarged more than one fourth, so that the size of the London Times making it possibly larger than any other cheap Daily published in this country or in the world. No change in price was made in consequence of this enlargement—the paper being still offered to Mail Subscribers at 30¢ per annum and sold to Carriers and to Agents under the same terms or Mail for distant sale at $1.00 for one hundred copies, or $15 per thousand copies, payable in advance. At these prices our aggregate receipts for our entire daily edition do not exceed the same we pay for Paper and Ink, leaving all other expenses to be defrayed from our receipts for Advertising. In other words, we return to each purchaser of our paper from us, his money's worth in the naked sheet we send him, looking for the reward of our own labor and the heavy expenses of Telegraphing, Correspondence, Reporting, Composition, Printing, Mailing, Book-keeping, Rent, &c., to our Advertising alone. We do not think it now possible to change newspapers by the same point of view, if it were, we should be inclined to be even with the former in demonstrating the fact.

Our SEMI-WEEKLY EUROPEAN and CALIFORNIA editions were enlarged simultaneously and equally with the Daily, and also without any increase of price. We respectfully solicit a comparison of our Semi-Weekly at 50¢ per annum, (two copies sent a full year for $5.00, and ten copies for $50.00) with any 5¢ or 10¢ Semi-Weekly, and will cheerfully send copies for this purpose upon direct post-paid application.

THE NEW-YORK WEEKLY TRIBUNE entered on its thirteenth year on the 28th of September, it was enlarged to the size of the Semi-Weekly and Daily, adding more than one-fourth its capacity—also without increase of price. This enlargement adds at least $20,000 per annum to our expenses, in addition to the previous cost of our Daily Enlargement already effected. All our editions from the 1st of September appeared in entirely new and beautiful type, prepared expressly for this paper. Our Steam Cylinder Presses are not surpassed by any in the world. Even though our Weekly Edition should be rapidly run up to 100,000 copies, we are prepared to print and mail every copy on the day (Thursday) that the form is put to press, without interrupting or retarding the regular issue of our three Daily editions, amounting to Twenty-four Thousand copies. We stand ready to adopt any improvements, however expensive, which will enable us to disseminate intelligence more freely and effectively, and shall especially hail, as we labor to effect a radical improvement in the celebrity and reliability of the Mail.

THE TRIBUNE has not yet its character to make or to proclaim. It has not borrowed power from a mere party organ. It has supported the Whig party because the distinctive principles of that party appeared to favor the great ends which it has labored to achieve; it never advanced a measure because it was proposed or sustained by the Whig party. It holds itself at all times as free to condemn, around principles, unwise measures or corrupt acts should the two former be propounded or the latter perpetrated by Whigs; so long as they emanated from the hostile camp. In so far as Peace, Liberty, Education, Temperance, Internal Improvement and Industrial Development may be advanced by acting with the Whig party, it must continue to be, as it has been, WHIG.

Though never acting with any Abolition or other one-sided party, THE TRIBUNE is, as of whatever the relations of Human Slavery, as of whatever else tends to degrade Labor and obstruct the intellectual and moral development of any portion of mankind. Were it able to procure that a vote in New-York could abolish Slavery in Carolina, it might attach itself to some one of the expressly Anti-Slavery parties lacking that light, it declines to abandon the substance for the shadow of political gain. But while it does not see its way clear of any effective Political action against Slavery in the States which now cherish it, it regards the defeat of whatever effort to extend the giant wrong under the flag of our Union, or to obstruct by its power the progress of Abolition in other lands, as among the most urgent and sacred of public duties, not to be abandoned to any party consideration whatever. And, while it does not propose to make Anti-Slavery the basis of Political action, other than defensive, it will enlighten us opportunely, resist us earnestly, so to speak, and Truth as to render the continuance of Slavery impossible in a land irradiated by the sun of Christianity and boasting itself the great exemplar of Political Justice and law-governed Freedom.

For Temperance in all things, but especially the abuse of Intoxicating Beverages and the legal oppression of the Liquor Traffic, we shall struggle, as we have struggled, unflinchingly and unceasingly. We regard the Maine Law as essentially the most beneficent statute of our day, and confidently hope to see it soon prevail universally.

The Congressional Reports and Washington Correspondence will, as heretofore, be both reliable and satisfactory.

The Markets for Grain, Cattle, Cotton and other products of the country, will receive greater attention, and be reliably reported in THE TRIBUNE.

On our correspondence with the most important points throughout the world we need not here dilate. It is the fact that our Associates, RAYARD TAYLOR, is now on the other side of the globe, sending us advices from the seat of war in China, and expecting soon to depict for our readers the physical, moral and social characteristics of jealousy-guarded Japan, the public is already aware. He will probably return by way of Australia and California, in both of which we have several correspondents. Briefly—we shall spare no expense to keep our readers well advised on every subject of interest, and doubt not that the same generous measure of patronage hitherto accorded to us will continue to repay all our exertions.

Any friend who believes he will do good by increasing the circulation of THE TRIBUNE is authorized to solicit and receive subscriptions; and, on due proof that money has been mailed and posted to our address, we take the responsibility of its safe transmission. Specimen Copies will promptly be sent without charge to those requiring them, and we trust many friends will be moved to ask their neighbors and acquaintances to join in making up a Club to commence with our Enlarged Sheet and New-Type on the first of September, or at any time thereafter.

A limited amount of space in the WEEKLY TRIBUNE will be appropriated to advertising.

TERMS OF THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE. Single copy, 1 year, 52 numbers. . . . $2.00 Three copies, 1 year, 52 numbers. . . . 5.00 Five copies, 1 year, 52 numbers. . . . 8.00 Ten copies, 1 year, 52 numbers. . . . 12.00 Twenty copies, 1 year, to one address. . . . 20.00

The extremely low price at which the WEEKLY TRIBUNE is now furnished to Club subscribers, absolutely precludes our allowing any commission, either in money or by an extra paper.

Money may be remitted for subscriptions in letters at our risk, but the postmaster at the place where the letter is mailed should be made acquainted with its contents and keep a description of the subscription. Bills of any specie-paying bank in the United States or Canada, received at par for subscriptions. Subscriptions received at G. T. Haszard's Book Store.

House to Let. TO LET, that well known HOUSE and PREMISES, situate in Fournal Street, known as Mrs. Woods' "Beating House." Possession given in November next. For further particulars, apply to G. W. DEBLOM. Sept. 6.
