PROPOSED RENEWAL OF THE COERCION ACT.

PROPOSED RENEWAL OF THE COERCION ACT. It is said that some Dublin officials have been urgently pressing for a renewal of the Coercion Act. Mr. Forster, Chief Secretary for Ireland, whose sudden departure for Dublin in re-sponse to a telegram yesterday, oreated so much surprise and speculation, has to-day held a long and earnest conversation with the heads of the Irish department upon the state of affairs in Ireland. The tone of feeling among the Dublin authorities is said to be such that it is expected the Government will ask Parliament to re-new the Coercion Act. Mr. Gladstone's opposition to the renewal of this act up to new the Coercion Act. Mr. Gladstone's opposition to the renewal of this act up to this time has been thoroughly understood. He has expressed himself as of the opinion that cincumstances did not require the measure, and that its one effect would be to alarm and needlessly exasperate the people of Ireland, and possibly put the Government in the attitude of bidding for an insurrection by appearing to anticipate it. But the news of the serious rioting at Dungannon and elsewhere, with the armed drilling taking place in different parts of Ireland, and the affair at the Cork barracks may, it is thought, have changed the policy of the Government and induced the Ministry to favour the re-newal of the Coercion Act. It is believed if this extreme step is taken the consequences are certain to be very grave. A DRILLING PARTY SUBPRISED. PICKED UP IN MID-OCEAN. One of the missing boats containing seven men and five bags of mail matter from the steamer American, of the Cape of Good Hope and Southampton line, which foundered on April 28th near the equator, was picked up by the Portuguese brig Tarujo, and men and mails landed at Loanda, Africa, on July 11th. MR. GLADSTONE'S FUTCHE MOVEMENTS. Nothing has been decided regarding Mr. Gladstone's movements after the session. It is possible he will take a sea voyage, and en-trust the Marquis of Hartington meantime with the Treasury patronage, the leadership, and the power.
