The Hardest Way.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

A young man was starting a small business.
The question came up as to whether he should not seize an opportunity which involved his doing something not quite fair.He thought it over for some time. He was a man with a good many ideals. He didn't like the idea of compromising with his own sense of right and yet —well, he did want to get on and opportunities like this one didn't grow on every bush.He finally took the opportunity and this is the way he comforted himself. "I don't believe in doing this sort of thing but it's terribly hard getting started and I can't be too particular. Once I get my start then I'll be absolutely fair."Swing One's Conscience Paregoric.
Everyone knows it's wrong to give babies paregoric because it stultifies as well as quiets them.Not so many people realize that it's wrong to give a young conscience mental paregoric, because it has the same effect in that case.One of the worst forms of such mental paregoric is to assure one's self that one will find it easier to do what one feels is right "by-and-by,"
"some other day," "a little later," "when I've gotten a start."I'm sorry for that young man because I know just how much harder he is going to find it to be fair after he has been unfair.The thing he is doing now is a comparatively small wrong, but it's two to one it will pave the way for bigger wrongs.It Takes Ten Times the Strength to Turn Back.It takes ten times the strength to turn back from any wrong course that it does not to start in it.A man's choices makes him what he is. Each choice pushes him farther in one direction or another, each choice pushes him farther in one direction or another, each choice helps determine the character of the next choice.Start right.
It's the cleanest, simplest way, the way of no regrets. And I don't mean that for business alone, but for any new relation of life into which you enter.Don't try to stultify your conscience with fine promises of what you're going to do by-and-by. Do it now.

Questions and Answers.

Question.—I kept company with a young woman three years, left her and married one I liked better. She, after awhile, married, too, and went away. Her folks always wanted me to come and call on them, so I went one evening and when I came home my wife didn't like it at all. She said she thought it was outrageous for me to go there and talk over old times with them and leave her at home alone. She didn't know them.
Did I do wrong?Answer.—Does your wife feel sure that you did and still do "like her better." Tell her so once more and I shouldn't wonder if she would forgive you. It might have been better taste to take her with you, but I don't think it wrong not to. Perhaps it was a bit silly for her to mind, but jealousy makes us all most unreasonable.

Fine Heroism of Halifax Boy at Front.Thrilling Story of Capt. Francis Whitechurch Townsend, Who, With Both Legs Shot Off, Said to "Attend to the Others First."London, April 16.—The heroic fidelity of a young Canadian, Captain Francis Whitechurch Townsend, of the Royal Engineers, is graphically described by a motor ambulance driver.
Townsend was born in Halifax, a grandson of Hon. W. J. Stairs, and died on March 29th of wounds received the previous day. The driver says Townsend was with the Indian Engineers inspecting telegraph wires, when a shell burst in their midst.
He was found in the shell hole with his legs apparently half buried. He told the ambulance man to attend to the others first, that he was all right.
When moved they found he was standing on the stumps of his legs, both shot off at the knee. He was perfectly conscious and calm. He looked at his legs and asked quietly, his handsome face showing no pain:
"The something tightly round both thighs to stop the bleeding." Another horrible wound was found in his arm. While it was being dressed Townsend said: "I think I'll give up football next year." As he was carried to the hospital, where he died, he was perfectly conscious. He laughed quietly and apologized for all the trouble. The driver added:
"I never saw such courage before. I felt as I left the hospital that I had seen a man." The officers of Town-end's company asked the family to be allowed to erect a monument over the grave in Bethune cemetery.—

THERIA.Letter From Reservist JerrettR. N. Barracks, March 21, 1915.Dear Mother,—Just a few lines to let you know that I am well, hoping you are the same. I haven't much strange news to tell you at present.
I like it over here all right. It's a fine place. We had a fine time across. After we left Halifax the Mongolian sprung a leak in mid-ocean. We had to put back to Hal-fax. We had to man the pumps for three days and nights; we got into Halifax safe. I got the box you sent to Levi. I got it here at Devenport.
The cake wasn't hurt, the rest of it was spoiled. Till Wilamina wrote to me because I don't know her address. I am sending my best respects to Aunt Lesia and father. Tell him to take care of himself. I also send my best respects to my sister.
So I think I have said all for this time. Good bye. From William Jer-

Who Suffer From Kidney Disease to Use Dodd's Kidney Pills.Portneuf, Hamilton Cove, Sagua-—Perfectly cured by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills, Dame Rene Bouchard, well known and highly respected here, is advising all her friends who suffer from kidney disease to use Dodd's Kidney Pills."When I commenced to take Dodd's Kidney Pills I was so run-down I only weighed eighty pounds," Dame Bouchard states. "I only took four boxes in all but they brought me back to health and now I weigh one hundred and twenty pounds. You may publish what I say if you wish, for Dodd's Kidney Pills have done wonders for me."Dodd's Kidney Pills do wonders for run-down people because they cure the kidneys. Cured kidneys strain all the impurities, all the poisons, out of the blood and the pure blood carries new nourishment, health and life to all parts of the body. That's why so many people say, "Dodd's Kidney Pills gave me a new lease of life."
