THE MOTIVE

That prompted S. H. Parsons & Sons to establish a developing and printing department for amateurs is, first, last and always, getting the best results possible from every spool of film handed over by their customers.

In the past we have had abundant evidence that great mischief was being done through a number of incompetent persons undertaking to develop and print for amateurs, and turning out results which were in many cases deplorable. A trial will convince when it comes to developing and printing films.

When you bring your films to us, you get the benefit of our years of experience.

For bright snappy prints, bring your films to
