

MAKING THE BEST OF IT.

That President Johnson was not convicted is certainly not the fault of the New York Tribune. At the time of his nomination of Thomas it urged his impeachment in the most emphatic language, and it has with equal ability and constancy endeavored ever since to make the case against him stronger. It is no wonder if it should speak less in the language than in the accents of disappointment, after labouring in vain so long and so ardently for the attainment of an end. Speaking of the impeachment in Monday's issue, it says:—"The Republicans who initiated and have sustained this prosecution have relieved themselves from a grave responsibility. For years, Andrew Johnson has been the terror of the Southern loyalists and the chief obstacle to the rapid progress of peaceful and loyal Reconstruction. Thousands have impatiently murmured—"Why is he not impeached and removed?" It was in vain that we urged that this was a big job—that it was likely to fail if attempted; and that such failure would only increase his power for evil. At length he rashly struck the law and the law-makers a blow in the mouth by his second removal of Stanton and appointment of Lorenzo Thomas to fill his place AD INTERIM. It seemed to most of us that this was a challenge that must be accepted, no matter with what result. To vindicate and uphold the law may not always prove practicable; but nothing will excuse a failure to try. So we have tried and not succeeded; but the result is quite other than failure. The Republican party stands for ever relieved from all responsibility for Mr. Johnson's future misdeeds: Let him now wrest the command of the Army from Gen. Grant—let him wield the Military as well as Civil power of the Government in the interest of Rebellion and Aristocracy—let him obstruct to the utmost the return of the Southern States, free and loyal, to the councils of the Republic—the country and the world will hold us wholly blameless. Messrs. Chase, Fessenden & Co have taken the Old Man of the Sea upon their shoulders—we shall see how they bear up under the load!—They have nine months ahead of such responsibility as we do not covet—we shall be agreeably disappointed if it does not break them down. Thanks to Infinite Mercy, there is an ordeal before us in which a concurrence of two-thirds is not required to insure a righteous verdict. Let Messrs. Chase, Fessenden & Co. take care of their man Johnson, while we organize for and make certain the joyful advent of GRANT AND VICTORY!"

Prince Alfred's Wounds. The Medical Press and Circular says:—"The nation has to be thankful that the life of the Prince has been saved by one of the most extraordinary escapes which has ever been recorded in the history of gunshot wounds. If the ball, which, we are told, entered the back half an inch from the spine, and in a downward direction, had taken the course which in nine hundred and ninety-nine cases out of every thousand it would have taken, it could not have failed to pierce the heart and great vessels, the lungs, diaphragm, and intestines, or liver, such an injury to any of these viscera being almost certainly fatal. That it should have traversed a distance of twelve and a half inches on the outside of the ninth rib, and lodged under the skin of the abdomen, without even touching the peritoneum, is all but incredible, and the fact, if true, will add another to the few extraordinary cases in which balls have glanced from their natural direction, and taken a totally unexpected course. Cases are on record in which a ball entering the hip came out at the heel, where it entered the femur, and passing over the bones of the head, lodged at the opposite side. Mr. Lawson narrates a case in which a grain of shot, striking the eye, passed from side to side under the conjunctive; and a case was communicated to the Surgical Society of Ireland about a year ago, in which a bullet was removed from the heart of a man who received it in the battle of Salamanca 33 years previously."

Butter Making versus Grease Making.

Messrs Leeming & Cowie have sent us the following circular:—"As the Butter making season is about commencing, we commend the following remarks to your Butter makers and buyers: Butter is not that ring streaked, speckled, spotted, and grizzled material that is transported to Eastern Butter Markets in vessels that resemble an elegant swill pail more than a neat butter tub, but it consists of the fragrance of green grass, the aroma of the fields, the exquisite nectar of new mown hay, collected in glowing globules, like sparkling dew-drops on the petals of May roses, by fairy hands that are never soiled by dirt and offensive odours; and the delicious essence is imparted in an atmosphere as sweet and pure as ether, wrapped in a napkin as clear as the unsoiled snowdrift. Dirt, foul odours, infected air, pestilential earth, and butter, are perfect antagonisms. Soap, grease, shoe grease, wagon wheel grease, which we see in such vast quantities in the markets in butter firkins, approximate about as nearly to butter as old mother country man's pie crust shortening, which was extracted from the suet of skunks. This is the negative and affirmative of butter. Now, then, the next consideration is what to do to make delicious butter. Negatively do not allow Pat nor Dick nor any else to do the milking after grooming the horses, dusting the piggery, or kneading the compost heap, without first giving his hands a thorough ablution in soap suds. Then set the milk in an apartment as neat as a bee-hive; and if possible, let the cooling breeze from the green hills pass in one window, over the milk and out at another window. As soon as a thick cream has risen remove it, with as little milk as practicable; and the sooner the cream is churned the better the butter will be. Never allow the cream to rise in temperature above 60 degrees Fahrenheit. If it can be kept at 60 degrees the butter will be all the better for it. After churning, instead of throwing the golden coloured globules into a dirty wash tub with the fire shovel, and allowing Bridget to mound it with her pattering trotters to tread out the buttermilk as a donkey tempts clay at a brick kiln, remove the butter with a clean ladle into a clean butter tray or worker, never touching it with the bare hands. Then with the sharp edge of the ladle make deep gashes all through the butter, and the buttermilk will flow into the gashes thus made, and when the gorse is closed the liquid will flow away. After butter-milk has once been liberated by gashing the butter, it is not practicable to confine either water or buttermilk again in the butter. Neatness and the proper temperature are fundamental requisites in making a choice quality of butter. Yours respectfully LEEMING & COWIE, Commission Merchants, Montreal."

Mr. Dawson's Report on the North West.

A report by Civil Engineer Dawson on the route from Lake Superior to the Red River Settlement has been laid on the table at Ottawa. Mr. Dawson recommends opening the line, in the first instance, in the least expensive way possible to be effectual, as preliminary to works of a more extended nature. He suggests making use of all the available navigable water, and constructing where the navigation is impracticable. The total distance from Thunder Bay, Lake Superior, to Fort Garry is 463 miles, comprising 332 miles of navigable water, and 131 miles of land road. Ninety miles of the latter would be between Fort Garry and the Lake of the Woods, where there is abundant means of transport, and 25 miles between Thunder Bay and Dog Lake, where horses and wagons could easily be provided. The principal part of the land carriage would thus be at each extremity of the line, and the navigable water intermediate. The cost of opening the communication in this way is set down at $166,000, over and above the small appropriation of last year. Mr. Dawson shows that by adopting this plan the trade of the North-West territories would be at once transferred to Canada. The present cost of conveying articles from York Factory, Hudson's Bay, to Fort Garry is about $100 per ton, and from St. Paul, Minnesota, where the settlers bring their goods, about $90 per ton; while the extreme cost from Lake Superior to Fort Garry, once the communication was opened, would not at the utmost exceed $40 per ton, a saving of $50 per ton on freights alone. Mr. Dawson considered this would decide the matter both as regards the trade of the Red River Settlement and that of the Hudson's Bay Company, added to which the people of Red River would save 30 per cent. in purchasing their goods in Canada instead of buying them in the remote western towns of Minnesota. The total trade of the territories—both that of the Hudson's Bay Company and the settlers—is estimated by Mr. Dawson at $4,000,000 annually. The importance of opening up communication cannot therefore be too highly estimated in order to get the advantage of this trade, apart from the vast field for settlement that would be opened. Every body knows the old Provinces of Canada, just

Government has again introduced...

This time it is on the Scotch Reform Bill; but with that exceeding tenacity to office which is so characteristic of the Conservative party, he declines a resignation. He appears, by our Atlantic Cable telegram, to have arrived at the conclusion that this, the last defeat, renders it necessary for the Government to consider its position!

NEW TROUBLE.—The latest advices from Europe are to the effect that the French Government has suddenly picked a quarrel with Tunis, with a view to acquire additional territory in Africa—and has despatched an ultimatum to the Bey. The pretext of the quarrel is not given.

THE EMPEROR AND THE PEOPLE.

—M. Jules Favre, the great French advocate and Liberal speaker, has been elected a member of the French Academy, to the great scandal of the ultramontane party and of the nobility. This, and several other recent demonstrations among the learned and literary world of Paris, show that the Imperial policy, particularly that part of it which has reference to its direct interference in Roman affairs, causes much discontent among the thinking classes of the population of France.

From Ottawa.

A supplementary report on the commercial relations between the U. S. and Canada has been written by Mr. George W. Brega, at the request of Secretary McCulloch, and laid before Congress. Parliament will be prorogued on Friday, as there will be no sitting on Thursday, as it is a holiday. A good many members left for home on Tuesday, and more were preparing to leave on Wednesday.
