

"The Mill Cannot Grind with Water That's Past."

This is what a fagged out, tearful little woman said in telling her cares and weaknesses. Her friend encouraged by telling of a relative who had just such troubles and was cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

The little woman now has tears of joy, for she took Hood's, which put her blood in prime order, and she lives on the strength of the present instead of worrying about that of the past.

Humor.—When I need a blood purifier I take Hood's Sarsaparilla. It cures my humor and is excellent as a nerve tonic. Josie Evans, Stafford Springs, Conn.

Erysipelas Sores.—After a scarlet fever a running sore was on my nose. Took Hood's Sarsaparilla and it cured me. My brother was also relieved by it of erysipelas in his face. ELIA COURSER, Burden, N. B.

By the terribly sudden death of the late Mr. Axton, the wife has been bereft of an affectionate and devoted husband, the family of a loving and indulgent parent, the business community of a man of sterling integrity, and this church of a most useful and ardent supporter. As a prominent member of the choir, and who ever evinced the liveliest interest in its welfare, his place will be difficult indeed to fill."

Mr. Whitney's lease expires in July, and as he has also a lease of the Princess, which has several years to run, he has shown no special desire to renew it. Mr. O. B. Sheppard admitted that his regime would come to a close with the present season, and that Mr. Whitney intended to make the Princess a first-class theater, and would play all the attractions which he could influence at that house.

It was to conduct the funeral services of the late Mrs. McIntyre last week that Mr. Pollard came to Lobo. MESSRS. A. McKIM & CO.'S NEW OFFICES.
In the destruction of the Board of Trade Building, at Montreal, on Wednesday night, the well-known agency of A. McKim & Co., who were located in the building, suffered loss along with the other tenants. The advertiser has received a dispatch from Messrs. A. McKim & Co., stating that all books and records were saved from destruction, and that they have taken offices in the new Star building, and business is being attended to as promptly as ever. This agency handles the largest amount of newspaper advertising of any agency in Canada, and if all records, papers, etc., had been destroyed, it would have been a severe loss on account of the difficulties that would continually be met in making settlements with their clients and newspapers. It is most satisfactory to both the agency and all their clients and the publishers to learn that they have saved all necessary books and records. Publishers throughout the country will be glad to learn that the agency is in a position to continue their business as usual, without any interruption.

HOCKEY.
LOOKS BAD FOR LONDON.

Every member of the Ontario Hockey Association was present at Thursday afternoon's meeting in Toronto. The prominence of the clubs concerned in the Stratford-London protest and the serious charges against London created the greatest interest in the business to be brought before the meeting. The case was not closed, a further opportunity being given to London to clear itself of the offences charged. The preponderance of evidence, both direct and circumstantial, was so much in support of the charges, though, that the London intermediate team stands suspended from playing any O. H. A. or exhibition games until a final decision is reached. The protest arose out of the London-Stratford game in London on Wednesday of last week, which was won by 5 to 1. The Stratford protest alleged that William Herne, the London goalkeeper, whose home is in Stratford, but who went to London on Oct. 31, one day ahead of the time limit of a year ago, but 20 days too late, as this year's rule, and who is at the Forest City Business College, went to London for gain and for hockey purposes. Ernest Lang was named as being ineligible under the residence qualification. The most serious charge was that the person who played under the name of Campbell Lindsay was a "ringer" named Frank Winn. The case of Lang was not proceeded with yesterday, though it was not withdrawn and stands for further hearing.

Mr. R. H. Smith presented the case of Stratford, and was accompanied by President J. W. Chown and Mr. J. C. Dutton. His services were generally called into requisition on the occasion of the death of any of the old members of his congregation. It was to conduct the funeral services of the late Mrs. McIntyre last week that Mr. Pollard came to Lobo. He was 75 years of age, and was well known throughout Lobo township, where he will be long and affectionately remembered. He leaves a wife and grown-up family.

A new feature was introduced by an affidavit that Hern had been paid for playing two matches with Tavistock under the name of Campbell Lindsay. As this was a surprise to London it was set apart to give Hern an opportunity to answer it if he can.

Affidavits in great number on both sides of the protest were put in, but London failed to produce one from a person who was known to show that Campbell Lindsay was really the person who played. There was one to effect purporting to have been signed by him, but it was not withdrawn and stands for further hearing.

Those in a position to make any sort of a guess declare that the Princess Beatrix, widow of Prince Henry of Battenberg, will be the principal beneficiary. She is the governess of the Isle of Wight, and will probably inherit Osborne House and the whole estate surrounding it.

Then the Duke of Connaught and his sons, who have been great favorites with Victoria, will receive a large portion of the fortune. The duke will probably become the owner of Balmoral and the Scottish property.

The grandchildren who are expected to receive the largest legacies are the two children of Victoria's youngest son, the former Duke of Albany.

The Queen's second daughter, Princess Christian of Schleswig-Holstein, is not rich, and it is expected that she and her four children will be liberally provided for.

Edward VII., who will be amply provided for by the country, and the Duke of York, who comes into the duchy of Cornwall, will probably not be sharers in the late Queen's private fortune.

BLUE JACKETS HONORED!

With the Task of Removing the Queen's Remains.

Royalties Coming to the Funeral Will More Than Fill the Palaces—Guesswork Regarding Her Majesty's Will.

Cowes, Isle of Wight, Jan. 25.—The body of Queen Victoria was removed today to the mortuary chapel in the dining-room, by a party of bluejackets from the royal yacht.

The only persons admitted to view the remains today will be those whose names appear on the Queen's visiting list, officers of the army and navy, and a few prominent residents of the island. The Marquis of Lansdowne, secretary of state for foreign affairs; Field Marshal Earl Roberts, commander-in-chief of the forces, and Mr. William St. John Brodrick, secretary of state for war, will be among those who will visit her majesty's remains. It has been definitely decided that there will be no lying in state.

ARRANGEMENTS EVOLVING.

The arrangements for the funeral are gradually evolving. The remains of the Queen will be taken to Portsmouth on board the royal yacht Alberta, and will remain on the boat Friday night, Feb. 1st.

THE PALACES WILL BE CROWDED.

London, Jan. 25.—The Grand Duke of Baden has given notice of his intention of attending the funeral.

Such numbers of royalties and representatives of foreign nations are coming to take part in the funeral ceremonies that the royal palaces will be quite inadequate to accommodate them and various hotels and great residences in London are being secured.

QUEEN VICTORIA'S WILL.

New York, Jan. 25.—Queen Victoria's will has been opened, and examined by the daily constituted authorities, says a World dispatch from Cowes. Nothing ever will be made public officially as to the provisions of the instrument, or the amount of her private fortune. It is generally supposed that this preliminary inspection was made in order to follow exactly her majesty's directions in regard to her funeral. It is known that the Queen made a will early in her reign, which was reportedly altered and added to as children and grandchildren were born, and as her estates advanced in value. This proceeded until 1896, when her majesty decided to have an entirely new document drawn, and signed by her personally. This was accomplished.

Those in a position to make any sort of a guess declare that the Princess Beatrix, widow of Prince Henry of Battenberg, will be the principal beneficiary. She is the governess of the Isle of Wight, and will probably inherit Osborne House and the whole estate surrounding it.

Then the Duke of Connaught and his sons, who have been great favorites with Victoria, will receive a large portion of the fortune. The duke will probably become the owner of Balmoral and the Scottish property.
