Fortunately, the stage from Lillooct was very keenly contested by over twenty amateur judges, and the conveyed to the Lytton hospital, where she is being tended by Dr. Johnston, initiated a wider application.

It will be remembered that after several consultations between the executive officers of the Army and Premier McBride, a vote of $20,000 was included in last session's estimates, one-half of this amount being devoted as a grant to the Salvation Army to assist in meeting the costs of erection and furnishing of a reception home at Vancouver for of a reception home at Vancouver for any young women colonists, which also serves as a temporary home for any young women who may be for she time being out of work or who find thembeing out of work or who find them-selves alone and without acquaintances in British Columbia's most populous

The other $10,000 included in the vote The other $10,000 included in the vote referred to, was granted by way of a loan to the army officers, or through them to young women immigrants experienced in and seeking domestic service in this country. In each case the recipient of an advance from this fund for steamship and railway fare, travelling expenses etc. Were recipient of the country of ling expenses, etc., was required to enter into an agreement to repay the amount advanced out of wages within a reasonable period. The Army was made custodian for all such re-payments, these, instead of ultimately finding their way back to the provincial treasury, forming the nucleus of a circulating fund to be repeatedly utilized for the pri
