Hot Time In Metcalfe.

An interesting police court case nearly reached a climax in Strathroy on Mon-day, but fortunately for all parties concerned a settlement was effected out of court.

It appears that Richard Pettit, one of Metcalfe's commissioners, said he had let a contract to one Geo. Denning to dig a certain ditch, 40 rods long, for the town-ship of Metcalfe.

ship of Metcalfe.

After the work was completed Pettit claimed that it was anything but satisfactory and not according to the contract, that the ditch was to have been 15 inches below the surface of the road, but Denning's view was that it was to be 15 inches below bettom of old ditch.

The commissioner and the contractor

The commissioner and the contractor The commissioner and the contractor met at Napier recently, and after comparing notes, agreed to disagree, whereupon Denning, it is said, addressed Pettit in a language that was foreign to "Webster." This was more than the ex-reeve could stand, who declared himself and was apparently ready for a pitched battle. However, he did not wait for the usual tree," but it is alleged landed one on

LOVELL-ARMSTRONG.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Lovell Concession 3, Brooke Township, on Wednesday, Sept. 11th, when their eldest daughter, Miss Ethel, was united in marriage to Mr. Wellington Armstrong, of Brooke. At 10.30 a. m. to the strains of the bridal chorus from Lohengrin, played by Miss Daisy Prouse, the bridal party took their places beneath a large bell of green in their places beneath a large bell of green in the window of the parlor which was very effectively decorated with goldenrod. The bride, attended by her sister, Miss Edna, entered the parlor on the arm of her father, and the impressive service of the Church of England was performed by the Rev. W. F. Brownlee, of Southamp-ton, uncle of the bride. The bride was prettily gowned in white silk mull, trimmed with valenciennes lace and insertion med with valenciennes lace and insertion, with veil fastened with sprays of lillies of the valley, and carried a bouquet of white carnations. The bridesmaid's gown was similiar to the bride's, with a bouquet of pink carnations. After congratulations and best wishes, the guests sat down to a sumptuous wedding breakfast the drawing room being prettily decorated in pink and green. The groom's gift to the bride was a gold locket set with diamonds and emeralds, to the bridesmaid a gold lockets set with diamonds, to the groomsman a gold stick pin, and to the pianist apearl crescent. The bride's going-away dress was brown, with white silk waist, and hat to match.
