Coal Oil Stoves.

These stoves are likely to come into general use, as an article for the apiarist, to be used in connection with ripening honey, making syrup, tempering the bee-house, etc., as well as being a very handy and useful utensil for the good wife in the hot summer days.

G. M. Doolittle uses one for ripening comb honey.

Eugene Secor has one in his cellar to keep the temperature at the proper point.

And it is, we think, W. Z. Hutchinson who uses one for making syrup for feeding.

PERFECTION BEE FEEDER.

10 lb. $5.50.

The "PERFECTION" having been thoroughly tested, and proved of inestimable value in bee culture, the undersigned, a practical apiarist, is prepared to furnish the same at reasonable prices, and the usual discount to the dealers. Among the many points in which this feeder excels all others are the following.

The supply of food can be perfectly regulated.
The food will not become rancid, nor sour, and is strained before it reaches the bees.

The same method is used in feeding as provided in nature.
The "PERFECTION FEEDER" is simple in construction, well made, readily cleaned and durable.

It is most admirably adapted to the use for which it is intended, and will give entire satisfaction to those who will give it a trial, as its merits are unquestionable.
