BIG ISSUES TO BE BEFORE THE NATIONAL LIBERAL CONVENTION

Tariff Holds First Place—A Plan That Many Agree To—Organization on Different Footing

Ottawa, July 31.—Momentous are the issues with which the national Liberal convention has to deal next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. The resolutions, recommendations and suggestions for the platform and program submitted for consideration by the convention through the regularly constituted committees show that Liberals in every part of the Dominion have been fully realizing the great need for wise and broad-gauged statesmanship at this crisis, and have been studying and thinking out plans to help in the making of a national programme for establishing justice, conserving liberty, increasing prosperity and promoting happiness throughout the nation.

The tariff, evidently, still holds the major place in the minds of those who have been thinking out national problems, and the national Liberal committee has now before it resolutions on tariff reform passed by the national Liberal convention of 1893, every tariff resolution passed since then by provincial or district Liberal associations, and in the place of honor for consideration the Council of Agriculture's platform drawn up at a meeting of the Canadian Council of Agriculture held in Winnipeg, November 20, 1918, the unanimous resolution of the Saskatchewan Legislature and the resolutions of the Alberta United Farmers, the Manitoba Grain Growers' Association, the platform of the United Farmers of Ontario, passed on December 16, 1918, as well as memoranda by some individuals whose grasp of the subject made their ideas of almost as much importance as those expressed by groups.

Political Suggestions.

In most of these there is a surprising unanimity of opinion that, instead of unfair tariff taxes, necessary taxation should be raised mainly by the imposition of a graduated tax on capital, the exemption of moderate fortunes, and providing for a steeply graduated tax in the case of large fortunes, especially those immense fortunes made out of the misfortunes of the country during the war. The idea in each case seems to be that the war debt should in this way be lightened for the great body of Canadians whose industry made these fortunes possible, and that the principal amount of our debt should be dealt with just as quickly as the interests of the country will allow.

Naturally, many of the suggestions are local in their nature and therefore not suitable for inclusion in a national platform. Most are of wider scope, however, and run from radical proposals for a national bank state insurance and public ownership or control of all public utilities to a demand for absolute prohibition of the liquor traffic and the transfer of their natural resources to the three western provinces.

Fixing of the price of wheat is condemned in a number of resolutions. The granting of the franchise to women has been unanimously approved from all sources.

All are keen for the abolition of patronage.

Very illuminating is the attention and thought evidently given by many Canadians to the question of Canada's constitutional status.

The tendency in nearly every suggestion is to ask for a greater control by Canada in looking after her own foreign affairs, a continual restriction in the appeals to the Privy Council until Canada stands at last without doubt as an independent nation linked only with the other nations of the Empire by ties of sentiment, a common sovereignty and such further substantial evidences of friendship as have already been afforded by the Liberal preference policy.

Daylight saving, education, transportation, agriculture, industry, the franchise, Senate reform, proportional representation, settlement by soldiers and others, taxation of unimproved values, public health, the eight-hour day, equal wages for men and women for the same work, total abolition of child labor, a minimum wage, abolition of titles, the nationalizing of telephones, rigid supervision of corporations to prevent watering of stock, food profiteering, pensions and soldiers' needs, are also the subject of resolutions and recommendations.

New Plan of Organization.

It is intended to put the organization of the Liberal party on a different footing during the convention. The plan most favored is to elect a national president, who would also be the leader of the party, a vice-president for each province, a national council made up of six councillors from each province, and a national organizer. Provincial rights would be respected carefully, but this would give a clearing house at Ottawa by which all the provincial organizations could be brought into a working agreement by a closer co-operation and understanding.

LABOR BILLS FOR BRITISH COMMONS

Adequate Living Wages and a Limit of 48 Hours a Week Work

London, July 10.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—To provide adequate living wages and to set a limit of forty-eight hours a week's work is declared to be the purpose of two important bills which are being prepared for action in parliament.

These two measures are understood to be the result of an agreement among representatives of employers, of trade unions and of the minister of labor, acting as a national industrial conference. They are described as "government bills on maximum working hours and minimum time rates."

The wage bill as drawn up provides for an inquiry by a commission to decide what shall be the minimum wages for adults and for young persons, the commission to consider the cost of living. It is also provided that the minimum wage shall be adequate to meet the increased living cost.

The bill intended to make forty-eight hours constitute a week's work does not apply to domestic servants, seamen on ocean-going vessels, nor to employees in positions of trust and confidence. An inquiry is to be held regarding the working conditions of domestic servants and seamen to determine.

It is said that if the bills are approved and accepted by the workers effected by them, the trade unions will be asked to aid the government in organizing a national industrial council to be representative equally of employers and trade unionists.

GENERAL RAWLINSON TO COMMAND IN WITHDRAWAL FROM RUSSIA

London, July 31.—General Sir Henry Rawlinson will proceed immediately to North Russia to take charge of the withdrawal of the British forces on the Archangel and Murmansk front, according to a war office announcement made this evening.

FRECKLES

Don't Hide Them With a Veil; Remove Them With Othine—Double Strength

This preparation for the removal of freckles is usually so successful in removing freckles and giving a clear, beautiful complexion that it is sold under guarantee to refund the money if it fails. Don't hide your freckles under a veil; get an ounce of Othine and remove them. Even the first few applications should show a wonderful improvement, some of the lighter freckles vanishing entirely. Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength Othine! It is this that is sold on the money-refund guarantee.

(Press).—General Denikine, the Russian commander, has gained an important victory over the Bolsheviks and captured the town of Kamishin, on the Volga. Five thousand Bolsheviks, nine guns and large quantities of material were also taken.

Beyond Restraint (From London Ideas) After trying in vain for months to get house, Brown set out one day with a find-a-house-or-die look on his face. He wandered about all day without being successful, till at last his steps led him to the river.

"Ah!" he said in utter despair, "how tempting it looks!" He was almost inclined to plunge in and end it all. All of a sudden he heard a splash and looking round, he saw his friend Green struggling in the water. Without attempting to save him he rushed off to the local house agent.

"Quick!" he gasped, "Green has fallen in the river. Can I have his house?" "Sorry," said the house agent, "I've already let it to the man who pushed him in."
