KINGS DOING PENANCE.

A nation like Great Britain, which is almost constantly at war, must of necessity, have many state prisoners—leaders of the forces that have been marshalled against the advance of the "armies of civilization," as the British delight in calling those who participate in their wars of conquest.

last he went into hiding and the British chased him for over a year from finally captured. His country is now under the control of the whites, and peace reigns both in Uganda and Unyoro.

KILLED AN EXPLORER.

It was Kabba Rega who made a prisoner of the Italian explorer Casati, whom Emin Pasha sent as his representative to the chief town of the king. There was no quarrel between the whites and Kabba Rega, and for about twenty months Casati was fairly well treated by the king. It was one of Casati's duties to act as postmaster for Emin, who sent him his correspondence for Europe, Casati making the best arrangements he could to forward the letters to the coast.

There are about three African kings now in exile. They are fully convinced by this time that it would have been to their personal interest if they had made terms with the whites. Every one of these kings would have been retained on the throne with large subsidies if they had been willing to cast their lot with the white men.

A LONG GEOLOGICAL LINE.

Though a savage in all that the word implies, he can climb his ancestral tree through a line of twenty kings of Uganda back to the time of Queen Elizabeth. Before his country came into the possession of the British he had an army of 25,000 men, over 2,000 muskets and plenty of ammunition which he obtained from the Zanzibar traders.

A PROMENADE WITH A TIGER. Among those remembered by the king in his distribution of coronation honors was Sir Edward Bradford, chief commissioner of police for the City of London, who was made a baronet. Sir Edward has held his present position for ten years, and has at all times displayed an unflinching and a broad capacity for dealing with the complicated situations which are so frequently presented for his consideration.

HAD A BLOODY RECORD.

Most of the king's atrocities were crowded into the first six months of 1886. The annals of martyrdom show no finer examples of heroic fortitude and unshaken faith than Uganda massacres present. The native Christians were shockingly mutilated, tied to trees and burned alive with fuel piled high around them. The victims numbered about 2,000 and it is not known that a single one abjured his new faith to save his life.

G. A. HENTY'S ANNUALS.

70 Years Old. He continues to Turn Out Three Boys' Books Annually. Mr. Henty will be seventy years old on the 10th inst. He has published his annual for young readers ready this fall, and the Scribners will publish them. Although he is 70 years old, he writes with as much spirit as he did twenty years ago.

MISSIONARIES FOLLOWED SOLDIERS.

The blood of the martyrs has indeed been the seed of the Church of Uganda. In no part of Africa have such wonders been wrought through missionary effort. There are now 40,000 professing Christians in that country. There are over 300 churches, one of which will seat an audience of 2,000 persons. Over 50,000 of the natives can read, and most of the Bible has been translated into their language.

TOO SOON FOR HER.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she was a Child, she clung to Castoria. When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria. When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

THE WIND'S ABROAD.

Abroad, this summer days above the grasses; ranks they rise and bow him as he passes. Sunshine pours upon and soaks the meadows, a gold each wand of grass is the very shadow. Fields are like a sea, ruddy waves are flowing, deep daisies, 'mid the green, and that are blowing. In the ocean's restless voice and caves is singing. Of the sunny fields is ever bringing. When winter comes to break of summer's weaving, when white snows his hush in King will be leaving; they will the sleeping grass gain be springing. To summer days once more be swiftly swinging. When Crossley, in Messenger and her it is to get a man to talk it is to get him to quit.

Mr. D. McNeill Pleased With Outlook for Crops. Mr. D. McNeill, general manager of the Canadian Pacific, says that the outlook for the crops is very bright. He estimates that the wheat crop will be 60,000,000 bushels, which is a record for the province.

Mr. McNeill was accompanied on his tour of inspection by Rev. H. H. Rousch, who was making his first official tour over the system, although he previously had acquaintance with some portions of the line. It is quite well understood that a good many of the contemplated improvements on the western portion of the Canadian Pacific will depend upon the nature of the report the general manager and the chief engineer brought back to Sir Thomas Shaughnessy and the board of directors.

CROP PRACTICALLY SAVED.

Mr. McNeill declared that the crop was practically saved, and he was sure it would be a banner year. Before he added, he was questioned as to whether the crop of Manitoba wheat had been cut on high and particularly dry land, and he believed that by the middle of next week harvesting would be general throughout the province, as well as the territories.

NORTHWEST MISSIONS.

The convention opened this morning with the reading by Rev. H. H. Rousch of the report of the Northwest Missions. In connection with this report Rev. W. T. Stackhouse, superintendent of Northwest missions, gave a most interesting and impressive account of the needs of the west and the opportunities for work there.

TEE COLLEGE REPORT.

During Monday afternoon the report of the board of governors of Acadia University was read by Dr. E. B. Kempster, Dean of the Faculty. The report was a most interesting one, and was followed by the presentation of the report of the board of home missions for Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island.

Woman is more liable to illness than man. This is because her organism is more sensitive. In man the muscular system is predominant. In woman the nervous sympathetic system is predominant. Woman suffers in heart and brain and body as the nervous system is affected. The throbbing head, the aching back, the nerves all ajar by overstrain, the "want to be let alone" feeling, the weakness and prostration from the overwork, worry and cares of her self-sacrificing life. Often indeed her worst enemy is her own courage, for she will hide from him until it is too late.

Reader, if you are well, please do not send for this book; because the edition is limited, and the book you might write for out of mere curiosity would probably be the means of depriving some sick and suffering sister of that beacon light which would guide her to renewed health and happiness.

SNAP SHOTS.

Two Canadians Who Attended the Coronation. The special London correspondent of the New York Evening Post sends the following two snapshots of scenes in connection with the coronation which will be particularly appreciated in Canada: It will not do to dismiss the coronation without depicting two little London snapshots. They throw a flood of light on present British conditions and feelings.

STRAIN AND ANXIETY.

Health Broke Down, Was Pale and Exhausted—Restoration Came With the Use of DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD. The case described in this letter is similar to thousands in which Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is successfully used. It is one more example of the marvellous upbuilding effect of this great food cure.
