purpose of Mr. Bennett's resolution is the giving of the British Columbia and New Ontario lumbermen a chance to get this market. The support of the resolution therefore came chiefly from Ontario and British Columbia members while the opposition came from the Northwest members.

Mr. Davis (Saskatchewan) said that to adopt the resolution would not only be against the interests of the province of Manitoba and the Northwest but the dominion at large. It was only the province of British Columbia that wanted a duty imposed. A circular distributed by B. C. lumbermen said that it was the only industry that was not protected. Mr. Charlton supported the resolution and said that the Ontario saw log law had compelled the large American saw mills to remove to Ontario and that the Owners of these mills felt that, as on account of their removal, they had to pay duty when they sent their lumber into the United States, they were entitled to the local Canadian market. However, there was a plethora of the cheap grades to North Bruce where a bye-election campaign ends tomorrow and act the part of a peace maker. He referred to the Christian charity (with a question mark accent) Mr. Wallace had shown towards the leader of the government, Hon. He did not think a duty would make any considerable increase in the cost of lumber in the west. However, if increased duties made the lumbermen of Minnesota and Wisconsin suffer he would be glad to see it because the head centre of the opposition to all efforts to bring about reciprocity in lumber between Canada and the United States came from there. A duty might have a powerful and salutary influence in this connection in regard to future negotiations. Mr. Charlton asserted that the lumber industry

Mr. Edwards, of Russell, the Rockland lumberman, who is a free trader of the out-and-out kind, vigorously opposed Mr. Charlton's stand. In connection with the claim that American lumbermen under sold Canadian lumbermen in the Canadian market, he pointed out that the Canadians who bought the lumber ought to be considered.

He declared the farmer had not one iota of protection and never could so long as he had to sell his produce in a foreign market in competition with the world. However, he declared he would combat the injustice lumbermen labored under, through other protective duties.

It being 6 o'clock the debate on the lumber duty stopped, and, at the evening, session, two or three private bills were advanced a stage and the house adjourned at 8.20
