Why don't you use Acetylene Instead of Coal Oil? Coal oil lamps give a yellow, flickering, eye-straining light. Acetylene gas gives a soft, clear white steady light. Coal oil is dangerous. There is always the risk of lamps overturning, exploding, setting fire to the house. Acetylene is safer than sunlight. The light from a lamp is a constant strain on the eyes, because of the yellow flame. Acetylene gas is even better than sunlight, because Acetylene gives the same pure white light as the sun without the "glare". Coal oil lamps are a constant expense for wicks, chimneys, etc.—are dirty, troublesome and unsanitary. You can have Acetylene gas in your home for less than coal oil lamps cost. We will tell you all the facts about Acetylene and Calcium Carbide. Write us. The Shawinigan Carbide Co. Limited Montreal, 24

HEROIC STOESSEL SENTENCED TO DEATH

(Continued from page 1.) catators, thinking that they were about to seize General Stoessel, displayed great excitement and several women wept. It turned out, however, that Stoessel was merely a guard for the disposal of the court. General Stoessel, who was accompanied by his son, was the object of a sympathetic demonstration. Friends kissed him and shook his hand as he left the court, leaning on his son's shoulder.

Tragic Ending of Heroic Career.

The passing of the sentence of death upon General Stoessel is a tragedy and a tragic ending of the career of a hero of Port Arthur. The general, who was decorated by Emperor William of Germany and honored by the Russian army for his gallant defense of the Port Arthur fortress, has now been tried and found wanting in courage and capability by his own people and sentenced to give up his life to the fetters of a military executioner.

Actress Wife Willing if She is Given Enough Money—Young Woman Has Completed Her Bargain With Family in Trying to Save Husband, and is Having Her Fling Once More.

New York, Feb. 19.—Harry K. Thaw and his beautiful wife, Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, have reached the parting of the ways. Several proceedings by which their legal separation can be accomplished are being considered by Mrs. William Thaw and her lawyers on the one side and young Mrs. Thaw and her legal advisers on the other.

Acted Out Her Part.

As a matter of fact it had been arranged that young Thaw and his wife should separate some time ago. Plans for the beginning of Thaw's second trial for the murder of Stanford White. At that time an action for divorce, to be brought by the young Pittsburgher, was thought to be the best way out of the disagreeable domestic tangle. This was tentatively agreed upon, the amount of money to be settled upon the pretty young wife being allowed to go undetermined until the conclusion of the second trial.

Stoessel's Charges.

General Smirnoff summed up his indictment as follows: A series of unpardonable blunders outside the fortress due to the ignorance and lack of military capacity of General Stoessel. The fortifications were not properly maintained and the investment of the fortress several months earlier than was necessary and the surrender of the fortress to the Japanese.

A Japanese Tribute.

"If I forget it, we remember that Port Arthur cost 60,000 lives by gunfire alone. We dug forty kilometers of parallels and expended 300,000 rounds of ammunition. European history chronicles the glorious capitulation of Port Arthur, and it is recorded in Japan that the Emperor of Japan ordered General Nogi to treat General Stoessel with all the honors due to a gallant defender of the fort. He had to treat him like a hero."

The famous tragedy were once more under consideration, but the verdict of the jury that Thaw was not guilty on account of insanity showed Mrs. Thaw and her lawyers another loophole by which the prisoner's wife might be cast adrift. This upset the tentative agreement to allow him to get a divorce, and was not at all pleasing to the former divorcee.
