Physicians Cornered!

I SUPPOSE there is not in the whole of a physician's experience, anything in blamar suffering which calls forth his sympath, and pity, to such an extent, as to witness the exerulating pains of a poor mortal, sumering from that fearful disease. RHEUMATISM

DIAMOND RHEUMATIC CURE : 6 " Men's Felt Hats;

is a wonderful medical discovery. MR. ISAACSON'S ENDORSATION.

Montreal, 21st March, 1944.

Dear Sirs, I, with pleasure, concede to the agent's wish that I give my endorsation to the immediate relief I experienced from a few does of the Diamond Rheumatic Cure, h wing been a suffer or from the effects of Rheumatism. I in now, a cer taking two bottles of this modifice, entire y free from pain. You are at liberty to use the sletter, if you deem it advisable to do so. fam, sirs, yours respectfully,

John Helder Isaacson, N. P. FURTHER PROOF. I AM ANOTHER MAN!

St. John, N. B., Sept, 29, 1874.

A. Chipman Smith.

Dear Sir.—I have suffered for fifteen months with Chronic Rhenmatism, and could not find any relief, after try ng every medicine that I saw advertised to cure it, until I was told about the Diamond Rhenmatic Cure. I have used three bottles of this valuable remedy, and now can say that I am another man to what I was. I would advise anybody sufferi g with this terribid disease to to try it, and see if it does not? o the same for them that it did for me.

BURNS AND BEECHER. The following poem was written by a Sc woman, Mrs. Janet Wood, on the occasion the Eev. Henry Ward Beecher being appoint to deliver in oration, in New York, at the c bration of the Burns Centennial. Jan. 25th. I The fourth stanza has been realized long be the time that the poetess set.

I hear the task has fa'n to you,
To gie the Bard o' Ayr his due,
But use him weel—
He kept sweet churity in view,
E'en for the Deil. His wee, sma' fau'ts ye needna tell— Folks say ye're nae o'er guid yersel. But Deil may care: Gin ye're but half as guid as Rab, We'll ask nae mair.

Then dinns seek to find a flow
But o'er his fau'ts a mantle thraw,
And leave the rest
To Him wha made and tried th' heart—
He kens the best. A century hence, and wha may tell What may befa' your cannie sel'? Some boly preacher May take the cudgels up for ane Ca'd Harry Beecher.

I mak nae doubt, ye'd like tae ken, Wha 'tis takes up the auld quill pen To w'i'e this rhyme: The knowledge would be little worth— I'm pust my prime. But when a lassic, young and fair,
I've wander'd aft by bonnie Ayr,
Wi'heartsome glee,
Ere Fate's stern mandate sent me forth

Still Scotia's hills, and Scotia's plains, Her poets, and her poet's strains, To me are dear; A desert-spring within my heart May claim a tear. Business Prospects. A prominent business man stated yeserday that he believed that the commeral classes of New England were as at present.

Raspberry, ial classes of New England were never During the past year and a half shrewd merchants have been engaged in arrang ing their expenses so that their payments have been easily met for some months past, and the tendency to over trade is past, and the tendency to over trade is less apparent than it was two years ago, when a heavy trade was forced to meet current expenses. The failures of late have not been very numerous, and a majority are directly attributable to special rather than general cases. The economy of the past will prove beneficial in the future, and while we may not anticipate 'kiting times,' there is a very reasonable basis for the bettef that a sound spring trade will take place. Money is very easy, and there is a prospect that it will continue so.—Boston Journal.

Silk Smuggling at New York. Some remarkable revalations have been ade concerning fraudulent importations of silks at New York. The duties on silk goods are 60 per cent; but such amounts of them have been smuggled through the custom houses, and sold to retailers and even to wholesalers, at less than that advance on the French manufacturers' prices, that the leg timate importations. Mr. Claflin, head of one of the largest and most respectable dry goods houses in New York, admits that he has bought some of the smuggled goods, defending his course on the ground that it was necessary for the protection of his trade. Any one who refuses to patronizes the smugglers, he says, might as well close out the silk department of his business. Mr. Claflin suppose d that most of the smuggling was done through Canada; but the recent investigations show that large amounts of these goods have come through the New York Custom House under a different name.

miners, was thrown into a frightful excitement just after noon to day, by the breaking out of a fire in the shaft of the Osage Mining Company. Thirty men and three boys were in the mine at the time; and as the flames shot out of the shaft high into the air, mothers, which was rendered harrowing to a heart-rending degree With little or no water, the situation was horrible until an engine happened to arrive with a full tank. This and several barrels of salt water were emptied into the blazing shaft. While the fire was at its height, the head of a man appeared in the flames, and as he was drawn to the surface he fainted. This was two hours after the fire began, and soon after a man named Marks bravely went down the shaft to rescue those who remained beneath. These soon appeared, coming up one after another, some with strength enough to hold on to ropes, others un conscious. By half-past 4 o'clock every man was saved, and the town was wild with rejoicing. The escape of the men was wonderful.

FOSTER'S SHOE STORE. Night Dispensary. Thomas Burke, recently a convict at Blackwell's Island, has furnished a correspondent of the Herald with a circumstantial account of how Tweed is cared for there, showing that he has the best of every thing and intimating that the wardens and all the other officials are bribed in one way or another to minister to his comfort and provide him with luxuries. PHYSICIAN'S PRESCRIPTIONS carefully compounded any hour of the night at 1875. JANUARY. 1875

James Wilson, a druggist at Centreville, Ind., was empting oil from a barrel into a tank in his store the other day and managed to saturate his clothing and spill considerable oil on the floor. The latter his wiped up with a newspaper, and then threw the paper into the stove. The result was the ignition of his clothing and a very narrow escape from death. His life was saved by friends, who buried him in snow. James Wilson, a druggist at Centre-
