

“When the priest breaks the host, does he break the body of our Lord?”

“No; for they are only the forms or appearances of bread which are broken.”

“Does the body of our Lord remain whole and entire under every part of the forms, when they are broken?”

“Yes, it is certain that, under every part of the forms, he remains as entire as in the whole host.”

“What is there in the cup which we adore in the holy mass?”

“It is the precious blood of our Savior, and the same that was shed for us upon the wood of the cross.”

“Is there any blood in the cup?”

“Pardon me. Jesus Christ is there whole and entire, as well as under the forms and appearances of bread.”

They who are permitted and encouraged to read the Bible, and to cultivate their minds that they may think for themselves on religious subjects, may bless God, that they are not, like many, compelled to believe what
