Fashions and Patterns

If you watch closely you will see that there is an undeniable tendency in the new styles to break away from the straight line effects and return to the fitted styles.

One sees jackets with well curved under-arm seams, and shaped side pieces. But there are also coats in all lengths that hang loose and straight from neck to hem, as well as knee length fitted jackets with cutaway rippled skirt additions which fit close to the figure and open over a waist-coat with a high choker collar. The most popular coat length is $\frac{3}{4}$ or $\frac{1}{2}$. Pockets on coats as a trimming have disappeared entirely. Any that are serviceable are permissible. Armholes are deep and wide, and sleeves are big; cuffs are deep and straight, wide collars are gathered to a loose fitting neckband, so that the collar may be rolled high or worn open. A very new skirt has two straight Metal ribbons and brilliantly colored ribbons are used.

The high collar seems to be an accomplished fact.

Choker effects button smartly around the throat closing at the side or centre front.

In sleeves, $\frac{3}{8}$ and $\frac{3}{4}$ length prevail. Afternoon gowns show short sleeves. The long sleeve is not misplaced.

Shoulder lines are long.

Few embroideries are used.

In colors, brown leads in all shades from light to dark. Also in all tete de negre, and shimmering shades of light golden brown.

Tan in gray tones and in shades tinged with rose is worn; likewise is gray in steel and slate. All black and combinations of black and white are good.

Astrakan is used for trimming in street dresses and suits.

widths of material seamed at the sides, with fulness from knee to belt shaped into five gores.

In tailored skirts, slender hips generally are the rule with panel and yoke effects.

In dress skirts one sees front draperies as well as flat effects in back and front. The fulness is most pronounced at the sides.

Cape wraps are used for sport and dressy wear. Shawl wraps of heavy reversible wool-velour are trimmed with heavy wool fringe.

Coats of colored velour are worn with dresses of black faille or taffeta.

The dresses are finished with stitching in the coat colors, or banded with bias strips of the coat material.

Coat dresses are popular. Some have straight lines, belted at the normal waist-line; others are made with a semi-fitted bodice and a wide flaring basque.

In trimmings one sees cording, tucks in all widths, bias folds and shaped flouncings.

Wool and jersey braids are much used.

A smart trimming may be made of bands of equal width in silk and velvet, or braid and voile, or again of fur and fabric. These bands are run vertically from the neck to hem.

Zibeline cloth has been revived.

Evening head dresses are made of jet bands with a fringe of jet over the eyes and two jet bands over the ears.

Tailored dresses are trimmed with rosettes made of plaited silk braid and belts of twisted braid.

Plaid velour and wool jersey is combined in effective street frocks.

Dressy separate skirts are made of plaited tulle, banded with ribbon velour and worn over a satin drop skirt.

Large fur buttons fasten up the fronts of suit jackets.

A turned up corded cuff on a middy blouse suit in tan velour, is caught up here and there with beaver buttons.

Tailored belts are worn on one side of the dress only. The belt reaching from the centre front over the left side to the centre back.

Many straight scarfs of fur will have pockets at both ends. They may serve as a muff substitute.

Cross stitch and feather stitch is used on dresses for small children.

A Smart School Dress. 2694—This will prove a comfortable, and "easy-to-make" design. Good for serge, corduroy gabardine, voile, crepe, plaid and mixtures.

This foretold when the War
would end.
What does it say?

CAN you work this out? Do you want to know how it was decided long before peace came when the war would be over? The answer is contained within the 48 squares above. What is this answer? Solve it and valuable prizes await you.

HOW TO SOLVE IT

The above squares hold the answer. It is in one sentence of nine words, containing forty letters. Each letter is represented by a number,
and that number is the position of the letter in the alphabet. For instance, A is represented by the figure 1, as it is first in the alphabet, and so on. Now, to help you get started, we will tell you that the first letter in the puzzle is "W," because W is the 23rd letter in the alphabet. Get to work and figure out the words in the sentence, and try to find the answer to the great question: "What will the war be over?" It is not easy, but it is worth while trying for.
