

very carefully, and with deep gratitude I accept it for the purpose for which it is given. It will make possible what otherwise could not be attempted, and will I believe save a complete break which might follow further effort at the moment to achieve, handicapped as I am, some of the things that must at least be <sup>tried</sup> attempted.

I think I will see part of it to cross over to England this year. The chance may not come again for some time, and it <sup>should be</sup> ~~should be~~ the first opportunity of being on the other side with a little freedom, and some of space about me, as I could have some good talks together and I could return to whatever work the future may have with many points of view made clearer and renewed inspiration from contact with your own and other minds. Just when, will depend a little on how matters shape themselves during the next month
