

In every country, Hitlerism has found its most useful allies among those who believed that they could save themselves by isolation and neutrality while others fought the battles of freedom. Although none will ever do more for freedom than the people of this island are doing in this greatest of all wars, Britain without aid, far greater than any yet in sight, cannot win the war for freedom the world over. You, Mr. Churchill, said: "Give us the tools and we will finish the job". It was the appeal of a people who will never falter. But in our hearts, we know, today, that the war will be far longer, far harder and far more desperate if all free men do not rally to your side while you are at the fulness of your strength. For the task that faces Britain, and those who ^{fight} ~~stand~~ ^{with} at her ~~side~~, is, I verily believe, nothing less than the task of saving humanity.
