PLANETS IN MARCH.—Saturn is at quadrature (90°) of the Sun on the 7th, and is consequently right overhead at sunset. Venus is a "Morning Star," near the old Moon on the 15th. On the 16th the Sun suffers eclipse. The beautiful Sun enters Aries on the 20th, and Spring commences. The following day Uranus comes to opposition, and passes from being a "Morning" to an "Evening Star." He is then barely visible to good eyes as a very small green star rising in the East as the Sun sets. Saturn will be near the Moon on the evening of the 22nd. The Queen of Night passes Jupiter on the 27th. The Moon is herself eclipsed on the evening of March 30th.
