Change is Fortun.—A singular instance of good fortune has just occurred to an intelligent and respectable mechanic of Nottingham named John Lemon, who after working in the stocking frame for some years, and subsequently being engaged in the lace making business, is now in his 54th year, elevated to a buonetage, by the style and title of Sir John Lemon, Baronet of Notthaw, in the county of Heriford. He succeeds to the title and large estates attached to it, as the nearest heir made of his cossin in the third degree, Sir Sanifield Leman, Bart of Norshaw, who was nephew to the deceased John Lemon Esq. Nortingham, a retired gentleman in the stray, the present Sir John's great grandfather. Sir John is great trandson of the Rev. Philip Leman, rector of Warboyt, Huntingdon. The title has been in abeyance for many years, win's to the present possessor's want of pecuniary means to establish his right to it, and the praceeds from the estate (Goodman's fields London, and lands, Sr., in Herifordshire, CHANGE IN FORTUNG .-- A singular instance the praceeds from the estate (twooman is never bondom, and lands, &c., in Hertfortshire, Cambridgeshire, and Hun ingdonshire) have, in consequence, accumulated to an extent al-most incalculable. The decision in favor of the cleimant was come to an Monday week. The fortunate possessor to the Leman baronetage has been much assisted of late, so far as pecuniary means go, by Mr. Rowles, currier, of Belgrave-gate, and other tradesman in Leicester. The perseverance with which he has for years pursued his claim, may be gather-ud from the fact that he made thirteen journeys to London, for the jurpose, and sometimes repay coach hire. He was expected to leave Edinburgh on Saturday last, on his way to London, in order to be put ih possession of the immense wealth fortune has bestowed upon him, and will doubtless, not forget to pay his respects to Mr. Rowles and his other friends respects to Mr. Rowles and his other friends in Leicester by the way. Sir Join has a wife, but we understand no children living. He is a tall good looking man, of sober steady habits, who has hitherto passed through life with a respectable character, and much esteemed by his neighbours. It is worthy of remark, that the funds with which he supplied a dinner to the jury who decided the case in his behalf at Edinburgh, and to enable him to go to London to obtain possession of his property, were funished him by three tradesmen of Leicester.—Derbyshire Covier.

By the arrival at New York of the packet-ips United States, from Liverpool, and Vellington, from London, English papers, WELLINGTON, from L

WELLINGTON, Holm Lolling, Lagrain papers, by the former to the H1th, and by the latter to the L3th August, have been received. Our limited time and space will not permit of our giving any thing like a detailed report of the important Parliamentary proceedings in reference to Canada; we have, therefore, availed ourselves of as concise an account as resoluble from the Durke Gizzette.

" From the 7th to the 10th, the House of Lords had under consideration, the affairs of Canada. Lord Brougham had introduced a declaratory bill, defining the powers delegat-ed to the Earl of Durham,—this had passed a second seading, and was to be read a third second seading, and was to be read a third time on the 13th of August.

Lord Melbourne entertained serious fears of the consequences when the Bill and the debate which followed its introduction, shail reach Canada.

 The banishment to the Bermudas, &c. is declared illegal. Lord Melborne said, he had under the circumstance, come to the decision to advise HER MALESTY TO DISALLOW THE VALIDITY OF THE WHOLE OF THE ORDINANCE. (Hear.) It was with feelings of great apprehension, but he had been compelled. It followed almost of course that the Ordinance being tilegal, all that had been done in execution of it was silegal, and those parties who had passed and executed it were hable to be pursued before Courts of Justice. TO ADVISE HER MAJESTY TO DISALLOW THE pursued before Courts of Justice, and that some provider for indemnity was necessary. He would support the indemnity clause.

Lord Brougham's Bill was ordered to be read a third trae on the 13th.

"The effect of the disallowance of the Ordinance of Amnesty," says the Quebec Gazette, "would be to place every thing as it stood before the possing of it; and the persons charged with high treason and other political offences, would again be liable to arrest and imprisonment thi delivered in due course of tw."

The amendments of the House of Lords to the Irisia Municipal Corporation Bill were taken up on the 2nd August, Lord J. Russell declared that he could not agree to such extensive and important alterations; and finally moved that the amendments of the other House be taken into consideration that day three months-equivalent to a loss of the bill and the motion was agreed to.

The Queen has been pleased to appoint

Eight of the infatuated followers of Counter-ney were indicted for the murder of Lieut. Bennet, and pleaded guilty. The Judge in-timated that their lives would be spared. A great meeting was held at Birmingham, August 6, one of the objects of which was to agitate for the repeal of the corn laws; the others were universal suffrage, vote by ballot, annua! Parliaments, the abolition of all property qualification to a seat in Parliament, and compensation to the Members. Two hundred thousand persons are said to have attended the meeting.

THEATRE ROYAL .- Last night the perform-THEATER ROYAL—Last night the performances were Tobia's comedy of the Honey Moon, and the afterpiece of Is He Jealous. In the first piece, Miss Cliften, of whom we have not before had an opportunity of speaking, made her third appearance. Miss Clifton's figure is unusually tall and commanding; her voice is rather sweet and powerful. As this lady has taken some of the characters in which we have recently witnessed Miss Tree, it may not be thought in-nessed Miss Tree, it may not be thought innessed Miss Tree, it may not be thought in-viduous to say that her acting possesses neither the grace, power, nor flexibility of her fair predecessor. Her hands and arms appear to be an incumbrance to her, and she has a na-tural masculine manner, which may be advan-ageous in some characters, but which is ill adapted to the one she ussumed last night. The newspapers in the United States how-ever, we believe, have spoken very highly of this lady's performance, and the audiences have "applauded to the very echo." We therefore speak with deference.

On Monday evening last, the 17th instant, the Committee of the County of Quebec Agricultural Society assembled in Mr. Daniel MrDonald's, St. Andrew's Hotel, for the purpose of fixing the various prizes for competition to be awarded on the 2nd October next. tion to be awarded on the 2nd October next.
