So long as we are full of self we are shocked at the faults of others.

Speculation about the time is foolish and useless. Christ discouraged it. Instead of dreamers become sentries. Instead of craning the neck for signs in the heavens take the musket and do picket duty for Christ.

Unbelief can only seem strong so long as it confines itself to heaping up objections against the faith. In other words, its success depends on its being destructive; as soon as it begins to be constructive it fails. No less than eighty theories hostile to Christianity, developed in the course of forty or fifty years, were brought before the Institute of France in 1806, and not one of them survives to this day. It would be difficult to mention a theory of denial that has survived the generation of its birth. These phantom philosophies are like so many impressions made on the sand—the first wave of sober scholarship washes them away. Amid the rise and fall of philosophical systems Christianity endures, because it is founded in Him who is "Jesus Christ, the same yesterday, and to-day, and forever." Hence we re-echo St. Peter's question, "Lord, to whom shall we go? Thou hast the words of eternal life."—Rev. A. Finlayson.
