ACROSTIC.

BY S. WHERRY, JUN.

Farming for profit and farming for wealth;
And farming just for the good of your health;
Riches and plenty you soon will possess—
Might be ten thousand or just a mite less.
If farming don't pay, I'll tell how it will;
Now listen to me, and keep very still:—
Get the ADVOCATE paper for one dollar bill.

ENIGMAS.

My first may be made of iron or wood, and is sometimes used as a term of contempt to describe a slow, stupid person; my second may be compressed into a second of time, or may include centuries; my whole is a kind of tax.

Divide an officer in our townships, and leave a combat and a cavern.

My first is something good to eat, and relished by the many;
My next is unadorned and bare—
Scarce welcome 'tis to any;
My whole is hue diversified,
Whether 'tis natural or dyed.

A LESSON TO WOMAN HATERS.

FRUIT REBUSSES.

1. A color and a pledge.
2. An interjection and to rove.
3. A tree that grows best in a sandy soil and a well-known fruit.
4. A domestic fowl and a small fruit.
5. A useless dog and to bluster.

ACROSTIC.

Merry birds begin to sing,
At the first approach of spring;
Running streams and rippling rills
Chase each other down the hills;
Hail the glad return of Spring!

JAMES LAWSON.

A RIDDLE.

A farmer sends his boy to the smith to have a horse shod. The smith takes off the old shoes from the horse's feet and with the same old shoes he makes four new shoes, which he places upon the feet of the horse. The horse then being re-shod, the boy is sent home again, but takes the old shoes that were, in his pocket. How is this done?

This is not original, but very old, though it may be new to young people.

PUZZLE.

Four people sat down one evening to play, They play'd all that eve, and parted next day; Could you think when you're told, as thus they all sat,

No other play'd with them, nor was there one bet? Yet when they got up each gained a guinea, Tho' none of 'em lost to th' amount of a penny.

EPIGRAM.

When Eve brought us to all mankind,
Old Adam called her too-man,
But when she woo'd with love so kind
He then pronounced her too-man.
But now with folly and with pride
Their husband's pockets trimming,
The ladies are so full of whims
The people call them whims.

RUSSIAN PROVERBS.

For the benefit of our juvenile readers who indulge in the game of "Proverbs," we give this month a few Russian proverbs which are little known in this country:—
"Go after two wolves, and you will not even catch one."

"A good beginning is half the work."
"Trust in God, but do not stumble yourself."
"With God, even across the sea; without Him, not even to the threshold."
"Money is not God, but it shows great mercy."
"The deeper you hide anything, the sooner you find it."
"A debt is adorned with payment."
"Rogues are the last of trades."
"Never take a crooked path while you can see a straight one."
"Fear not the threats of the great, but rather the tears of the poor."
"Ask a pig to dinner, and he will put his feet on the table."
"Disease comes in by hundredweights and goes out in ounces."
"Every little frog is great in his own bog."
"An old friend is worth two new ones."
"Be praised not for your ancestors, but for your virtues."
"When fish are rare, even a crab is a fish."
"A father's blessing cannot be drowned in water, nor consumed by fire."
"A mother's blessing will draw up from the depths of the sea."

THE PUZZLED DUTCHMAN.

I'm a broken-hearted Deutscher,
Vot's killed mit grief and shame;
I tells you vot der droople ish—
I doesn't know my name.
You dinks dis ferry vunny, eh?
Ven you der shitory hear,
You vill not vunder den so mooch
It vas so shtrange und queer.
Mein moder had two lidle twins,
Dey vas me und mein broder;
Ve lookt so ferry mooch alike,
No von ka w vich from toder.
Von ov der boys vas "Yawcup,"
Und "Hans" der oder's name;
But den it made no tifferens,
Ve both got called der same.
Vell! von ov us got tead—
Yaw, Mynheer, dat ish so!
But vedder Hans or Yawcup
Mein moder she ton't know.
Und so I am in drouples,
I gan't kit droo mein hed
Vedder I'm Hans vot's lidling,
Or Yawcup vot ish tead!
