Questions and Answers.

Miscellaneous.

Permanent Pasture.

What is the mixture for a permanent pasture?

H. V.

Ans.—For fairly high land there are a number of grasses which give fairly satisfactory results. Orchard grass 4 lbs.; meadow fescue, 4 lbs.; tall oat grass, 3 lbs.; meadow foxtail, 2 lbs.; white clover 2 lbs.; alsike, 2 lbs.; Kentucky blue grass, 4 lbs.; timothy, 2 lbs. will give very good pasture throughout the entire season once they get a start. Some prefer 3 or 4 lbs. of alfalfa and 3 lbs. of red clover to the mixture to furnish feed the first year before some of the finer grasses become established. Alfalfa does not generally stand pasturing, and red clover dies out after the second year.

Cows With Depraved Appetites.

A number of my cows chew wood and bones. They are fed on silage, corn fodder, oat chop and a small quantity of stock food. They milk fairly well but are failing in flesh.

F. E. G.

Ans.—This depraved appetite is an indication that the feed is lacking in mineral matter especially phosphates. The ordinary feeds as a rule supply sufficient mineral matter to meet the requirements of the animal system, especially if the soil contains any quantity of phosphates and lime. Clover hay and oats should supply sufficient mineral matter. A mixture of salt and sifted hard wood ashes has been recommended as a means of satisfying this abnormal appetite.

Cow Fails to Breed.

Two young cows each with first calf. One retained the afterbirth for a time. They come in heat at regular intervals, but are not yet in calf. What is the cause? Is there any cure?

J. G. C.

Ans.—It is rather difficult to state just what the trouble may be. It is possible that something is wrong with the bull. Of course, if he is stopping other cows the cause of trouble will have to be looked for in other quarters. Due to derangement of the genital organs or to disease, some cows are difficult to get in calf. Flush out the cow regularly for a few days with a mild disinfectant. Wash them out before breeding. What is known as the yeast treatment may give the desired results if the heifer is physically all right. Mix an ordinary cake of yeast to a paste with a little warm water and allow to stand for 12 hours in a moderately warm place, then stir in one pint of freshly-boiled luke-warm water, and allow to stand for another eight or ten hours. The mixture will then be ready for use, and the entire quantity should be injected into the vagina of the animal to be bred. Use the mixture when period of heat is first noticed and breed when period is about ended.

Veterinary.

Lame Calf.

Calf had diarrhoea for a week after birth. Then a swelling came on the hind leg. It lies all the time until lifted up. It then staggers around. Has not a good appetite.

A. W.

Ans.—Bathe the swollen part long and often with hot water, and after bathing rub well with hot camphorated oil. Feed on new milk and keep comfortable. A recovery is doubtful.

V.

The kirk in a certain Scottish village was in urgent need of repair, and Sandy McNab, a very popular member, had been invited to collect subscriptions for the purpose. One day the minister met Sandy walking irresolutely along the road. The good man at once guessed the cause. "Man, Sandy," he said, earnestly, "I'm sorry to see ye in this state." "Ah, weel, it's for the good o' the cause," replied the delinquent happily. "Ye see, minister, it's a' through these subscriptions. I've been down the glen collectin' fun's, an' at every hoose they made me hae wee drappie." "Every hoose! But—but surely, Sandy, there are some of the kirk members who are teetotalers?" "Aye, there are; but I wrote tae those."
