The Provincial Westeyan.

Ordination of the Rev. T. Harris.

THE PRESIDENT'S CHARGE. [Concluded.]

Covet earnestly the best gifts, not for the purpose of carrying off the palm of a vain and valueless popularity-an object utterly unworthy an embassador of Christ-but that you may become a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth.

By the sedulous and systematic cultivathis office ? tion of your mind, especially in the earlier periods of your ministry, you will acquire a dexerity in wielding the etherial weapons of your warfare, which, by the blessing of God, will greatly contribute to your comfort and efficiency in doing the work of an evangelist. And, absorbing as are the engagements of a Wesleyan Minister, by rising early-a practice eminently conducive to physical and intellectual vigor-and reso Intely currying out a well-considered plan of study, you will at once accumulate rich treasures of knowledge, in all departments of learning appropriate to your sacred function, and be able promptly, as occasion may require, to make the most advantageous use of them. But time admonishes me to refrain from expanding my remarks on this fertile and important topic, as well as to omit several of ers which might with propriety, in this connexion, claim my regard and yours.

From the hour in which, in accordance with an enlightened apprehension of duty. an individual devotes himself to the work of prefering the gospel, his responsibilities as a man and as a minister are inseparable. And, indeed, so intimate is the connexion that subsists between them, so naturally do they commonly coalesce, that it is, not seldom, very difficult to mark the difference by any clear line of discrimination. On your official responsibilities, the observations I designed to address to you, must be condensed. St. Paul emphatically indicates those responsibilities in the designation he gives to the Presbyters of Ephesus -" overseers " of the Redeemer's flock ;and by exhorting them to take heed to all the Hock, and to feed the Church of God. Who is sufficient for these things? How shall mortal man be sustained under a load of responsibility sufficient to make an archangel bend beneath its weight !. The arrangement, my Brother, is God's; and His grace is sufficient for you. The excellency of the Church opens full on the view of of the power, standing out in illustrious contrast with the impotence of the instrument, while it secures the undivided honor of all the good you may accomplish to Him, whose is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, will, assuredly, if you prove faithful, sustain and succour you.

Animated with this confidence, give yourself, then, with zealous yet unsolicitous devotion to the hallowed toils that await
