

Yet Another Shipment of Baby Carriages
and Go-Carts.

Why? Because our Carriages and Go-Carts can't be beaten in the Island, for Quality, Comfort, Newest Designs and most moderate Prices, and consequently our Sales in this direction are so large as to require its continual replenishing.

Eminent physicians advise open air for Infants, so keep Baby "out-doors" as much as possible these bonnie Summer days. Let him sleep "out-doors" in his Carriage, or lie and watch the bigger "Kiddies" playing round him. When you go out, take him along in his Carriage, and when the chilly October winds come along and shake the leaves down from the trees you will find "King Baby" in much better health, and well prepared to meet the Wintry blasts that are sure to follow.

The Salvation Army
Its Work and History

THEN

Forty-nine years ago this month the world's first meeting of the Salvation Army was held. It took place in an old patched tent erected in an ancient burial ground in the Whitechapel district of London. The first preacher was William Booth, a clergyman who was at that time without a church. He had been called upon to take the place of the regular minister, who was lying ill at his home. The first congregation was made up of a "mass of poor people, many of them evidently without God, or hope in the world." After the meeting Booth hurried to his home and exclaimed to his wife: "Kate, I have found my destiny! As I passed by the doors of the flaming gin-places to-night, I seemed to hear a voice sounding in my ears: 'Where can you find such heathens as these, and where is there so great need for your labors?' And there and then in my soul I offered myself and you and our children up to this great work." This was the beginning of a world-wide organization. From that day meetings were held regularly. On the third Sunday the tent blew down and was wrecked beyond repair. Having no money for another, and without funds to rent a building, Booth preached in the open air. Finally he secured the use of an old dance hall that was not in use on Sundays. Week-day meetings were held in a dilapidated shed, formerly a storehouse for old rags.

NOW

To-day the Salvation Army is the greatest evangelistic organization in the world. The pokebonneted Army lassie is a familiar sight in every country on earth with the single exception of Russia. They are waging God's battle even in Iceland. They have laid siege to Russia, and it is reported that even that empire is on the point of capitulation. Their battle cry is heard in every part of the United States and Canada; more than 900 "outposts," or missions are located in nearly every city and town. In these meeting-places more than 10,000,000 Americans gather during a year's time to listen to the exhortations of nearly 7,000 officers, of both sexes, that make up the Salvation Army on this continent. The street-corner meeting is a familiar sight in every part of the world. More than 150,000 of these are held every year on this continent, at which over 50,000 recruits have been gathered in a twelve-month to the Army's ranks from the congregations. "Our war is a war of mercy," they proclaim, and it is witnessed by the world-wide charity of the organization. It has established in the United States nearly 100 workingmen's hotels, which accommodate annually more than 2,000,000 persons; over 100 Industrial Homes, where about 3,000,000 meals have been served in a year; about 39 Rescue and Maternity Homes, where 6,000 girls and children find shelter.

HEATED SCENE IN BRITISH HOUSE, INSULTS HURLED ACROSS FLOOR

Incident Shows the Extreme Tension Between the Parties at the Present Time—Chief Secretary for Ireland Says the Irish Nationalist Army Numbers 114,000 Men

London, July 4.—There was a heated scene in the House of Commons Wednesday night over a proposal made by the Opposition to reduce Prime Minister Asquith's salary by £100 a year as a protest against his refusal to issue an express order forbidding employees of the civil service from engaging in speculative transactions in stocks or shares. Mr. Asquith receives no salary as Premier, but gets £5,000 a year as First Lord of the Treasury. He is also acting as Secretary for War, but has refused to take the salary of £5,000 annually attached to that position.

Virulent Bitterness.

The debate in itself was unimportant, and the Government emerged with a large majority, but the insults which were hurled across the floor of the House as the Opposition dug up the Marconi share speculation, "scandal" and the shouts and jeers of members on either side of the chamber showed the virulent bitterness which now exists between the different parties. This blazed out into an uproar when Lord Hugh Cecil, replying to Premier Asquith's argument on the subject, said: "I do not see that it is an insult to order the employees under the civil service not to do what the Lord Chief Justice (Baron Rufus Isaacs), and the former Attorney-General and Chancellor of the Exchequer (Mr. Lloyd George) had actually done."

Speaker Supreme.

The Speaker kept the House well in hand all through the debate. The matter was of no importance except as proof of the extreme tension between the parties at the present time.

Replying to another question, Augustine Birrell, Chief Secretary for Ireland, said the latest information was to the effect that the Nationalist volunteers, the armed followers of the Irish Nationalist party, numbered 114,000 men.

The Dublin correspondent of The Daily Mail says the Irish Secretary greatly underestimated the number of these volunteers. The correspondent says there are at least 200,000 men enrolled under the Nationalist banner in Ireland.
