IN BRITISH COLUMBIA WITH THE WOMEN'S PRESS CLUB

As our days are being very much taken up, and we did not wish to return to Ontario without visiting Victoria, Thursday was the day set apart for this outing—unfortunately it dawned rather dark and foggy, but we decided to risk it, so 10 o'clock found us on board of the C. P. R. liner "Princess Adelaide" en route to the Capital—the trip taking between five and six hours and the boats most luxurious. Out into the narrow first of all—then gradually into larger bodies of water, finally entering a district very like our own Muskoka Lakes, or Lake-of-Bays, with innumerable islands and rising coast line, as yet uninhabited. The sun did not show its face even for a minute, but the air was delightful and there was no fog—until Victoria was reached (about four o'clock in the afternoon) no rain fell. When we landed, however, it was descending in torrents. The nearer shores of this island do not impress one particularly on nearing the city—in fact one is rather disappointed, but the harbor and entrance direct are certainly magnificent—the massive, handsome Government buildings rising at the left—the beautiful stately C. P. R. hotel "The Empress" towering at the right, and in all directions masses of the Scotch bloom "broom" running riot—its yellow patches of color standing out all the more vividly in contrast to the grayness of the day. Sight-seeing cars, busses, motors and taxis were lined up at the dock—the rain cleared and we were soon off on our tour of inspection.

No wild rush in Victoria however—the city rather giving one the impression of leisurely wealth, though there is a splendid shopping district and fine stores. The residential district is all that wealth, culture and refinement combined, can produce—these homes nearly all over-looking the water—their grounds almost parks and beautifully kept up. Returning we dined at the "Empress Hotel"—Mrs. Huyter Reid's exquisite taste once more in evidence. The interior color and furnishing with greens and blues predominating. Pictures, portiers, rugs, upholstery, walls, bric-a-brac—all carrying out the two-tone effect, artistic to a degree. There we ran across Mr. and Mrs. and Miss Kathleen Agnew, who were recently in Brantford and are now guests at this hotel until their new home is ready for occupancy, spending a cosy hour chatting—our arms filled with huge bunches of roses, pink (the old fashioned pink) yellow, mauve and white orchids, from their own gardens—their delicious perfume filling our nostrils.

As we had many engagements booked ahead in Vancouver, we returned by the night boat, due to set out from port at 11:45—this time by the "Princess Alice," the same one that was put at the disposal of the Vice-Royal party when the Connaughts made their trip to the coast—the Royal suites very dainty, and that one occupied by Princess Patricia, done in dainty shades of mauve. There were a number travelling and we arrived at Vancouver again at 7 a.m. Friday morning.

Of course there are a great many nationalities congregated at this point, but what interests our party most I think, are the Hindoos—one runs across constantly—men of splendid physique and erect carriage—their turbaned heads towering above the crowds. The Hindoo temple we expect to visit before our return—leaving our shoes at the portal as is the custom of their people, and entering stocking-footed.

But after all, both Vancouver and Victoria are most distinctly English—you notice it in the voices, and the manner of speaking as well as the complexion. To-day is bright and cool—perfect weather for sight-seeing, but hardly safe to go without a coat—and we are making the most of it. Our reservations are booked for Monday and while there will be a few stopping places along the line, it will not be long before the members of the C. W. P. C. will be at their respective posts once more.

A rather sensational thing happened at our hotel this morning in the arrival of a squad of secret service men and a number of men of an embezzler from the Western States who, with his wife, had arrived about a week ago, paid two weeks in advance for their rooms, and located here—such an inoffensive looking pair, but who will furnish the local papers with excellent headlines and "copy" for the next little while. She, I believe, the innocent victim—but he, with quite a record back of him. One of the directors proved to be a former Brant County man—born in Paris, Ontario—for many years on the police force at London and recently inspector of Emigration at Winnipeg—his name is Wilson. A NUMBER OF THINGS ON THIS PLAY-FROCK

When digging in the sand palls and this too is seized with boredom, she ought to be able to entertain herself well with the pictured delights on her own costume. There are Black-eyed Susans; there are dancing rabbits; there is a gallant horseman; there are twin puppies in a kennel; and there are flags galore—all in the gayest and most agreeable colors on a ground of white galatea. Bands of dark blue galatea at hem, sleeve and neck opening trim the frock prettily and help to keep it clean longer.

Society Notes

Miss Ethian Van Angelbeck of Clifton Springs, Sanitarium, N.Y., is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Ashley Sayles, Murray street.

Ladies' day at the golf links will be Friday afternoon instead of to-day (Thursday). Play will start at 5 o'clock instead of 3.

Mr. W. T. Pearce and daughter, Miss Theodochie, leave Monday for Victoria, B.C., to be the guest of Mr. Pearce's sister, Mrs. D. McDougall. They will be absent from the city two months.

A delightful thimble tea was given yesterday at the home of Mrs. W. Ross, Chestnut avenue. There was a large attendance, and the refreshments were most dainty. The features included a violin solo by Miss M. Jones, a recitation by Mrs. Wickles of Detroit, a solo by Miss Duffy of New York and a recitation by Rev. Mr. Lavelle.

SUCCESSFUL PUPILS

The following pupils of the Academy of Music have been successful in passing the musical examinations of Toronto University.

Junior Singing—First class honors, Miss Edna Phillips; second class honors, Miss Anna O'Neil; pass standing, Miss Louise Jones.

Intermediate Singing—Second class honors, Miss Eric Markle, and Miss Jessie Rock.

Junior piano—Second class honors, Miss Zilla Perry, Miss Grace Chave, Miss Bertha Brigham, Miss Pearl Ormandy, Miss Gladys Watson.

Intermediate piano—Second class honors, Miss Myrtle Armstrong; pass standing, Miss Elsie Senn and Miss Lela Carter.

Miss L. Morris of St. George passed primary piano with first class honors, and Miss Rachel Wood of St. George passed junior piano with second class honors. These two young ladies are pupils of Miss Neale of St. George, a former Academy teacher.

The Academy's teachers and pupils feel very justly pleased with the splendid results of this year's work.

A SUN-BATH FOR THE HAIR

How to keep the hair looking nice morning, noon and night in the good old summer time is considerable of a problem to a great many women, it is so discouraging to some I know that they have given up in despair and resorted to "transformations" or other artificial pieces, even hair nets having proved unsatisfactory.

I believe there isn't a single head of hair that can't be made an asset to its possessor if she is willing to persist in taking care of it. Certainly, it can't be made so, there is truly reason for despair, for with locks hanging limply it is impossible to be attractive.

In the first place whether the hair is dry or oily, a shampoo should be in order every ten days during mid-summer, using castile soap and hot water and finishing with innumerable rinsings in clear water, the last very cold. Then comes the drying process which is accomplished by tossing the hair about lightly in the sun, if possible, running the fingers through it so that the sun's rays can find its very roots.

DUCKWORTH—GREENWOOD

A pretty event transpired yesterday at the home of the bride's aunt, Miss Ruth Greenwood, when Miss Bertha Greenwood and Mr. Clinton Duckworth were united in the bonds of matrimony. Dr. Kippax, elder of Farringdon Church, officiated at the ceremony. The bride looked charming in a dress of white marquisette with pearl trimmings, carrying a shower bouquet of bridal roses. The bride was given away by Mr. Rupert Greenwood. Miss Schinbein was bridesmaid and Mr. George Ion acted as best man. Mendel Sassoff's wedding march was played by Miss Asplen. After the ceremony, which was performed in the presence of numerous friends of the contracting parties, a delightful wedding breakfast was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Duckworth left on an extended trip west, and on their return will reside at 14 Brunswick street. Both bride and groom are popularly esteemed in this city, and their many friends will tender them best wishes.

A HAPPY EVENT

A happy event took place on Thursday evening on the lawn at the Waterworks, when about 60 members of the Guild, choir and United Bible class of Zion Church gathered to say farewell to Miss Jean Allan, who leaves Scotland for her home in "Bonnie Scotland." Sports were indulged in, an exciting game of baseball, a creating much interest and applause from the fans present.

A sumptuous supper was provided, which proved most popular, after which Mr. T. L. Wood read a very neatly worded address, and little Miss Marjorie Hassard of Winnipeg, on behalf of the choir, bible class and Guild, presented Miss Allan with a handsome clasp bag, followed by a few humorous remarks by Rev. G. A. Woodside, the crowd singing "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow." Miss Allan, who is very popular, and who will be greatly missed in the various activities of Zion church, replied very suitably, and thanked her friends for the gift. More games were played, the crowd dispersing at a late hour, after extending good wishes to, and giving prolonged cheers for Mr. and Mrs. Webster.

Wise Precaution
Rosa, the colored cook in a well known family, is very much in love with her young husband, who she calls "Mistah Watts" in the soft Carolina accent. Recently the Watts family took a boarder, a stylish young mulatto schoolteacher named Emily. Upon Emily becoming a member of the family Rosa thus addressed her: "Miss Emily, you come heah a stranger. Yo' stay heah a stranger. Yo' come down in the mawnin', you say 'Good mawnin', Mistah Watts.' He says 'Good mawnin', Miss Emily. Dat's all theah is to it. Yo' understand.' Miss Emily and Mr. Watts both evidently understood, for peace reigned in the Watts home—Harper's Magazine.

VERY PRETTY GARDEN FETE GIVEN WEDNESDAY BY MR. AND MRS. F. COCKSHUTT

It is a glorious day for a fete! The atmosphere spells garden party. Numerous guests from in and out of town are pouring to "Segnore," the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cockshutt. The scene is lively as one arrives. Traps coming and going, laden with pretty women in becoming gowns. At the entrance of the house, a bower of floral beauty greets you. To the left a room is bright with ferns and flowers. Then on to the reception room, where the hostess, wearing a handsome white lace gown over blue satin with white sash, is cordially welcoming her numerous guests. Mrs. Cockshutt was assisted in receiving by a popular visitor in town, Mrs. John Hope, who was wearing a becoming gown of black satin, trimmed with old lace, and a black plumed chapeau.

The reception room was effectively bedecked with wild flowers. The yellow color scheme centering the table, and carried out through the rooms. The vista from the spacious verandah is charming, with nature smiling a welcome, in rich verdure clad. Groups are chatting here and there under the trees on rustic seats, or beneath the tent—the Union Jack keeping ward and watch from its lofty poise. All was so well arranged, that the menu was served by magic so to speak.

Amongst the out of town guests in evidence were: Mesdames R. McCullough, Forbes A. Goldie, Galt; Mrs. Hersey, Buffalo; Mrs. C. K. McGregor, Fergus; Mrs. John Hope, Miss Jessie Hope and Mr. Jack Hope, Toronto; Mrs. Aldrick, Los Angeles; Mrs. Gibbons, Miss Towell, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Miss Wickson, Paris.

The tent was presided over by Mrs. C. H. Waterous and Mrs. G. H. Wilkes, who poured tea and coffee; while Miss Lily Gibson, was an attentive assistant. Mrs. John Wallace in a becoming black lace gown, over white satin, was here, there and everywhere looking after the guests. The heavy of pretty girl assistants in charming gowns were: Mrs. Gordon Scarfe, the Misses Norah Wallace, Elsie Cockshutt, Helen Kippax, Helen Waterous, Dorothy Wilkes, Marjorie Wilkes, Jessie Hope, Messrs Wallace and Gordon Cockshutt, J. Stratford, Jack Hope and others.

Good-byes are over, and again the country road is enlivened with home-bound guests, who were delighted with an afternoon spent at a most enjoyable country house party.

HINTS ON CLEANING CLOTHES

A knowledge of how to move rain spots from garments is valuable; very often women's outer garments, such as suits and jackets of broadcloth or other materials, become spotted from the rain. The remedy is to dip a cloth in water, wring it and lay it on the garment, ironing with a warm iron until the entire garment has been done over. This will not only completely remedy the trouble, but will prevent its recurrence.

Ink spots are always more or less difficult to remove. Much of course, depends upon the kind of ink, the color of the goods and even the nature of the material. On white cotton, linen or woollen goods an application of warm oxalic acid water, will frequently accomplish the desired result. Printers' ink usually may be removed from woollen goods by a vigorous application of gasoline.

Glue may generally be removed from garments by sponging the garments with warm water. A little sal soda added to the warm water will be more effectual.

Grass stains, as a rule, can be removed from linen by simply washing in warm water to which a little sal soda has been added. Grass stains may be removed from white serge or woollen garments, by washing in warm soda water, 1-2 pound of soda to 3 gallons of water. Rinse and pass through the soda water, or better, soak the garment in a solution of one ounce of oxalic acid and one-half pint of acetic acid to six gallons of warm water. After this, give one cold rinse and dry and iron as usual.

To remove varnish or oil paint from linen, cotton and silk, first wash with turpentine, then with benzine or gasoline, and finally with soap and water.

Chamois or buckskin gloves may be stretched on the hand or on a wooden crumbs or with a brush dipped in a mixture of equal parts of fuller's earth and powdered alum. Another good method is to wash the gloves in a lukewarm solution of castile soap and pull them into shape on the hands.

Woolen underwear, when rubbed with pipe clay of yellow ochre orumber or a mixture of these made into a paste of the desired shade, with ale or beer. The gloves should be dried rubbing them well so as to smooth them and pulled into shape. When they are entirely dry brush out the superfluous color and iron them with a warm, not hot, iron.

CALGARY, Alta., June 26.—One of the stiffest sentences known was handed Frank Burns, aged 20, who was given ten years for forging cheques to the value of $140. The boy was out on probation after sentence for a similar offence and immediately started his old ways.

SPORTING

By F.

Yesterday's game went into the card heap—not because Brantford played errorless ball and hit pretty well, nor was it because Dolan made a home run off Donovan with bases full. The club did not take advantage of opportunities presented score, and it was this poor work which made the fans sore. Twice a man on third, Brantford runners were thrown out going to second while the Red Sox runners stood on third. It was not this way in earlier days and whether something went wrong with the telegraph instruments is hard to say. At any rate the running of that calibre looked stultifying.

Kane was called away yesterday attend a league meeting at Amherst. In the eighth a pinch hitter for Te might have won the game. It looks as if the Sox had learned how to do the way they gathered up their perphernalia long before the game was over. One might have suspected some of the gang were afraid of certain tickets wouldn't be good after meal hour. Brantford fans have their faults and failings, common to the species but they will cheer for a bunch of quitters.

The leadership of Frank Shaughnessy was not such as to enhance popularity here. Still visiting managers are not supposed to be popular. Shaughnessy looked like a grand fighter, however.

The Brantford Club seems occasionally able to make any run behind Harry Donovan. Yesterday Donovan made the mistake off. When Ivers came up in the Grace Church Cricket club is with their second defeat of the season on Saturday last at the O. L. grounds against Port Hope. It was apparent to any observer of the game that the weak point of the Grace church team is their batting, until they get some practice on a feature of the game they cannot hope to do much towards winning the R. E. and VanLance Trophy. The bowling was in every respect as good if not better than that of Paris.
