three hits. PROBABLY THE END.

Today's double-header games in the American cities will probably end the International League. Port Hurón and London are said to be anxious to quit and it is understood that there will be no serious objection from the Chatham club. The at-tendance throughout the circuit has been deplorably light throughout the entire season: There is money in the treasury with to-day's fourth of July receipts to pay up all habilities and if the end comes this Leading American Modiste at C. Austin & Co., all This Week.

Members of the fairer sex in the Maple City are deservedly much interested and attracted by the handsome window display in the establishment of C. Austin & Co., under the direction of Mrs. Barrette, the accomplished American modiste who travels most successfully for the P. D. Corset Co.

The exhibit is an exceedingly fine one and serves to show the beauty and excetence of the goods manufactured, while the lady demonstrator is always pleased to take exceptional always pleased to take exceptional pains in delighting and satisfying patrons and visitors.

Mrs. Barrette is a most attractive Mrs. Barrette is a most attractive and entertaining conversationalist and is thoroughly competent to discuss the important part of ladies' apparel in which she is especially interested.

In a brief interview with The Planet yesterday the lady-said smilingly, "I need not, of course, explain that this corset is the best made. Everyone realizes that. I carry 52 styles to fit every style and form of figure. You have seen the exhibits in the window and every lady may possess just as attractive a figure by proper clothing. Every lady has beautiful lines, as the gift of nature, if she follows them out and dresses accordingly. One at times sees a homely figure made pretty by a good corset and a good figure ruined by an ill-fitting corset. I would earnestly recommend a short corset for every woman."

Mrs. Barrette will be at Austin's establishment from 10 to 12 a.m. and 3 to 5 p.m. each day this week, and woman. exceedingly pleased to will be exceedingly pleased to meet and discuss these matters with Chat-

CONCERT AT MERLIN. On Monday evening in the auditorium of the Merlin Meth-odist church, a splendid concert was given by Chatham talent and proved fitting wind-up to the day's festi-ities, The church was more than comfortably filled and a nice sum was realized from the proceeds. Miss Elda Idle, the soprano soloist of the Park St. Methodist church, rendered the beautiful solo "Bobolink" in a most charming manner. All her num-bers were warmly applauded and Miss Idle made more than a passing im-pression on the audience. Miss Callie Idle's voice blends splendidly with her sisters, and their duets were marked by exceeding harmony. Miss Idle also sang a number of solos which were excellent in rendition and fascinating in point of expression. J. W. Wilson, the popular bass singer, was accorded a warm reception, and was accorded a warm reception, and the entire audience took kindly to his vocal and flute solos. His singing of "Asleep on the deep," was truly ap-preciated. Dr. Thornton lent a quaint humor to the program with a number of readings which he contributed in his usual easy manner. The accompaniments during the evening were all excellently played by Miss Maude Weese, graduate of the Krause Con-servatory of Music, Rev. Stanley Shaw occupied the chair

Depends on her education, and the choice of a college to which to send your daughter is a serious matter, not only on account of the educational features, but also in the difficulty of finding an establishment where the moral and social education will be given proper consideration. The best conditions for securing a well-balanced education are in a home school like Alma College. Here not only the mental powers are trained but the moral nature and the social impulses directed to the higher ideals. Many a girl, bight, capable and interesting, has had her success seriously impaired because of neglect of the ethical and social sides of life.
