

A WORD IN SEASON.

THE ACADIAN would like to impress upon the minds of its readers that it takes money to run a newspaper and a whole lot of it at that; and unless the subscribers pay for what they get, somebody else must stand the strain. This is a fact that many newspaper men appear to overlook. One may think the matter of a dollar or two is a small indebtedness; but when five or six hundred accounts, varying from one dollar to five dollars, are summed up, the total is quite a respectable amount, and far too large to be outstanding. There is no better time for clearing off these accounts than the present, and we shall expect a generous response from our subscribers in arrears. It is not a pleasure for us to be constantly dunning our patrons, and we realize that such items as this do not make the most interesting reading for those who pay promptly. Unfortunately there are enough on our list who do not pay promptly to make such matter necessary. We are trying hard to furnish a good, clean, bright newspaper, and in order to do this it is necessary that the small subscription fee be paid promptly.

TOWN COUNCIL.

The regular monthly meeting of the council was held on Wednesday evening with the Mayor and full board present.

Written reports were received from the Poor, Police and Finance Committees.

The Finance Committee reported that of the $1650 town taxes paid at the end of 1903 there remains now to be collected $912.08; and of the $500 water rates due at the end of the year there yet remains unpaid $198.75. All delinquents have been notified that it is not settled by Thursday these amounts will be collected by law.

The report of the Police Committee had to do principally with unpaid dog taxes which the policeman now has in hand.

The Water Committee recommended that the rate for water for the Acadia Dairy Co. be placed at $40 per year and on motion it was so fixed. Coun. Fitch recording his vote against.

The following accounts were read and ordered to be paid: Acadia Electric Light Co. $41.28 Mrs Irene Fitch $17.00 A. Robart $1.50 Town Clerk (postage) $1.90 Davidson Bros. $20.00

Coun. Black submitted a list of rules for the governing of the use of automobiles on the streets of the town of Wolfville. After some discussion these were referred to a committee composed of the Mayor and Recorder and Coun. Black for consideration and report.

The committee on the matter of the Inspector of Plumbing presented a report as to duties of same which was received and laid on the table for consideration at next meeting.

A bill which was presented from Dr. Dickey for attendance on the late Fred Farris was read but not allowed.

Mr. J. W. Wallace presented a claim for $500 damage to salt marsh in connection with sewerage work, which on motion was referred to the Sewerage Committee for report.

The March Canadian Magazine.

In each number of The Canadian Magazine a persistent purpose is visible. Canadian history and Canadian life in all their phases are discussed and illuminated. Forty Canadian teachers went to South Africa and their experiences are commemorated in an article entitled 'A Year in a Boer School,' in the March number. A Canadian doctor, living in London, makes some contributions to philosophical thought 'and speculation, hence comes Arnold Haultain's article on 'A Search for an Ideal.' The philosopher is Dr. Bettie Crozier. A young man rises from a subordinate position to the control of a large industrial corporation, and hence comes a biographical sketch of Mr F. W. W. Thompson, Manager of the Ogilvie Flour Mills Company. New methods for the regeneration of criminals are being tried, hence there is an article on 'Crime and Its Suppression,' by J. J. Kelso. Several news paper men once came near losing their positions because they wrongly reported Sir William Van Horne, hence E. F. Paul writes of 'The Discredited Interviewer.' Canada's treaty-making powers are termed inadequate, and Thomas Hodgins briefly explains why he agrees that it is time for a change. W. L. Grant points where the teaching of history is weak so far as our educational system is concerned. Add to these, three Canadian short stories, the third instalment of Mr Bradley's historical serial, and the usual department, and the work of the March Canadian Magazine is continued. The publication covers a broad field, but the work is fairly well done.

The Nova Scotia branch of the British and Foreign Bible Society have issued an appeal to the ministers and congregations of Nova Scotia for aid in procuring a wider circulation of the Holy Scriptures throughout the world. To this end they ask the ministers to fully explain to their congregations before and on the 6th of March the 'great work for God's glory which He has called the Bible Society to do in the past; and its deep need of help from them to carry out its plans of usefulness and missionary labor in future years.

WENT TO HIS REWARD.

DANIEL MORSE WELTON.

Dr. Welton, whose obituary notice appears in another column, was born in Kingston, N. S., in July 1837. He graduated, B. A., at Acadia College in 1855 and was admitted to the degree of M. A., in course, three years later, at the conclusion of a course of study at Newton Theological Seminary, Mass.; from which institution he graduated in 1858. During his student career he supplied the Baptist church at Windsor, N. S., and was ordained to the Christian ministry there on September 3rd, 1857. He was pastor of that church from the time of his ordination until 1874, when he was appointed Professor of Systematic Theology in Acadia College. In 1876 he went to Germany for advanced study, and entering the University of Leipzig he was graduated there, Ph. D., in 1878. At Leipzig he gave special attention to the study of Semitic languages. Upon his return he was appointed Professor of Hebrew in Acadia College, and filled this chair until 1883, when he was called to the Professorship of Semitic Languages and Old Testament Interpretation in the Toronto Baptist College. From the establishment of McMaster University until his death, he filled the same chair in that institution. In 1884 Acadia College conferred upon him the honorary degree of D. D. Dr. Welton excelled as a linguist. In addition to unusual acquirements in the Sanscrit, Hebrew, Aramaic and Arabic languages, he was proficient in German, French, Italian, Spanish, and other modern tongues. He had a consuming love for study in general, and always showed the evidences of a broadly cultured mind. As a preacher he was simple, forceful, eloquent. He preached the Gospel, and only that. To the last year of his life he preached often within a wide radius of Toronto in churches and Mission stations that were pastorless because they were poor. God only knows to what extent these self-sacrificing labors in times which, one would say, should have been used for rest, tended to shorten the life of his servant.

Dr. Welton was a frequent contributor to the religious periodical press, and his writings always bore the impress of profound scholarship and of an intellect richly endowed. In the latest years of his life he was associated with the late Dr. Hovey of Newton, and others, in preparing a Commentary on the Scriptures. To Dr. Welton the books of Genesis and Judges were assigned. It is understood that he completed the commentaries on these books, and that they are now in the press.

To his work as a teacher the love and reverence of many students bear testimony. He was able and lucid in his special work—an educator, in the literal sense. A year or more ago at the request of the governing body of McMaster, he sat for his portrait to a celebrated artist, and later the portrait was unveiled with public and enthusiastic ceremonies in the Hall of the University.

In his private life he was altogether a man to be loved and revered. In point of character, he was a cultured Christian gentleman.

Of him, as truly as of any man, it can be said: "he wore the white flower of a blameless life." Throughout this Province many will rise up and call him blessed.

For several years his health had been seriously impaired by too strenuous work. Stricken more than a year ago with the deadly disease known as pernicious anaemia, his vigorous constitution resisted death until Sunday morning, the 28th of February, when, through much suffering he entered into rest.

His widow, well known in Wolfville, survives him. Moratio, his eldest son, died in Brooklyn, New York, in the early years of a promising career as a physician. His second son, Herbert, is a barrister, practising in Toronto. His daughters are Mrs W. F. Parker of Wolfville and Mrs E. E. Sharpe, the wife of a barrister in Winnipeg.

Growing Fruit Trees at Home.

The large demand for apple trees and the consequent high prices for them has induced a good many intending planters to purchase root-grafts at a minimum cost and plant them out in a good plot of ground and grow them up for two or three years and then they have them ready to transplant to the orchard as required.

This is a very cheap and convenient way for parties who require time to prepare their grounds for the orchard. They are then in a position to plant largely at small cost.

The following extract is taken from Bulletin No. 37 of the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa—on Apple Culture: "The cheapest and one of the best methods of propagating apples especially in Canada is by root-grafting. The strongest of the young stocks which have been grown in the manner described (from apple seed planted the previous season) are heeled in during the autumn in a cool cellar in moist sand.

Grafting may be done any time during the winter—whip or tongue grafting is the method usually employed. As only the root is required the trunk and branches are cut off and thrown away."

The grafts are then packed away in damp saw dust till time for planting out in the spring which should be deep enough in the ground so that only one bud, or the tip of the scion appears above ground. One should only be allowed to grow the first season.

Lecture By Hon. Mr. Langley.

On Friday evening, Feb. 26th, in College Hall, under the auspices of the Acadia Athenaeum Society, a highly entertaining address was given by Hon. J. Wilberforce Langley, Provincial Attorney General. The lecturer took for his subject "People I Have Met," and related in a very interesting and polished manner his many experiences as a visitor at the world's great centres of population, where he met many of the most famous men and women, devoted to literature, art, music, politics, etc. The current history and remarkable characteristics of some of these eminent individuals described, holding the attention of the audience throughout by apt touches of humor, brilliant rhetoric and an occasional word of warning and advice to the young people.

Mr Cunningham, of the Senior class of Acadia, acted as chairman, and the college boys threw in a jolly and spirited song service, rendering several flashy vocal selections from the college song book.

Mr Longley was quite at home on the college platform, speaking in an easy, off-hand, yet effective manner. The pleasant conversational way in which the careers and personal peculiarities of distinguished personages were portrayed made the lecture exceptionally inspiring and instructive.

Among the characters reviewed were Sir Wm. Vernon Harcourt, Mr. John Morley, Premier Balfour, Hon. Jos. Chamberlain, Lord Salisbury, Mr. Gladstone, Lord Alverstone, Lord Roberts, (now Earl Roberts), Cardinal Vaughan, Prince of Wales, (now Edward VII.), Lord Herschel, Sir Lewis Bennett, Marie Corelli, Mrs. Custer, Israel Langwill, Sir Gilbert Parker, Grover Cleveland, Wm. McKinley, Miss Leiter, (now Lady Curzon, of India), Hon. Joseph Howe, Sir John A. McDonald, Sir W. Laurier, and others whose speaker had met in the House of Commons, the Vagabond's Club and Grey's Inn, of London, in the White House at Washington, in New York and in various cities of the Dominion. Mr Longley briefly yet exhaustively dealt with these, giving several personal reminiscences, and making several personal declarations which confirmed the belief we have always entertained in regard to the progressive and modernness of the speaker who is famous for his outspoken candour as well as for his high standard of thought and action, in political and social life. Among other things Mr Longley referred to the backwardness of the English as compared with Canadians, who were known as being among the most alert and progressive in the world to-day. The fact that the nationality during the life of a great man or woman does not necessarily lead to lasting fame, was clearly defined, the lecturer pointing out how very often it is the case that the universally unpopular leader or reformer ultimately becomes the great character of history. The Attorney General stated that if it were his lot to live over again he would choose literature rather than law, as his profession, calling attention to the fact that literary people are of the highest type in life, making the most congenial and appreciative companions and examples for all.

Mr Baker, of the senior class, moved, and Mr Warren seconded a vote of thanks to Mr Longley, who replied in fitting terms, referring to his College days at Acadia, and expressing the hope that he might often meet Acadia students in the future. Messrs Baker and Warren and Dr. Keirstead spoke briefly, voicing the sentiments of all present, and complimenting the lecturer on the splendid effort so very generously made, though very pressingly engaged in the duties devolving in his department of the government. The college yell and 'God Save the King' brought the evening's entertainment to a close.

At the home of Councillor and Mrs Wallace, on Saturday evening, a very enjoyable social time was spent by guests from the seminary and college with others of Mrs Wallace's many friends. Although the ladies from the seminary were obliged to return at a very early hour to their studies, yet the young gentlemen embraced the opportunity to return and make complete the evening's pleasure after having been privileged to escort the charming 'sems' to their castle-like institution. All expressed themselves as delighted with the evening. Mrs Wallace is always a hostess of a hostess, and as a hostess Mr Wallace is a close second. Several of the guests greatly enjoyed the collection of literary gems shown by Mrs Longley who is visiting her father in her Highland Avenue home.

The senior class at the Seminary, accompanied by the Vice-Principal, had a slight drive to Kentville on Tuesday evening, and a supper at the Hotel Aberdeen. A very pleasant time is reported.

A Seed Fair and Convention will be held in the Live Stock Pavilion, Provincial Farm, Truro, on March 18th and 19th. For all particulars apply to F. L. Fuller, Manager of Farm, Truro.

Canadian Apples.

Sir,—Your correspondent and all interested in the ability of Canada to make good any shortage in the apple crop of the United Kingdom will find much food for reflection in the Nova Scotia apple exhibit organized by the Government of that province at the permanent Canadian Court in the Crystal Palace at the present time, where a most representative display of dessert, cooking and cider apples is to be seen. Nova Scotia fruit holds the first place among all the apples imported into this country from abroad, and over half a million barrels have already been received on this side during the present season. Nova Scotia growers, by concentrating their attention on flavor and long keeping qualities, and by limiting what they raise to a comparatively few varieties possessing these characteristics have won for their fruit this foremost position. There is probably no more profitable industry than fruit growing in that province where farming properties are still unaccountably low in price, permitting a man with £500 or £600 capital to embark in fruit growing with every prospect of success with ordinary care and attention.

During the last few days a higher exhibit of apples and other fruit has been received for show purposes in the same Court from the Agent-General for British Columbia. Both in size, flavor, and appearance, the fruit is fully equal to that produced on the Atlantic coasts of the Dominion, and considering that this assignment has been almost two months on the way, the excellent condition in which it has arrived speaks well for the keeping condition of British Columbian fruit. Probably distance will preclude fruit from this part of Canada being supplied to this country to any large extent, but there is an ever expanding market for those engaged in fruit growing there in the Pacific coast towns, and in the prairie regions of Western Canada.

I understand that official literature on this interesting industry can be had on application free of charge from the Agent-General for Nova Scotia (57, Pall Mall, S. W.) and from the Agent-General for British Columbia (Salisbury House, London-wall, E. C.)—Yours faithfully,

ANGLO CANADIAN. London, February 10.

College Notes.

Doctor Trotter returned at the end of last week, having spent a month in the northern part of New Brunswick visiting well-to-do individuals in behalf of the Second Forward Movement. He reported himself in good health despite the severity of the weather during his month's absence. He had met with considerable success in obtaining pledges toward the Movement, though the results are pretty well gleaned of large individual subscriptions. He improved the Sundays of his absence by preaching in Dartmouth, Campbellton, Fredericton and Woodstock. The Baptist pastorates in these places are all held by graduates of the College, the Rev. Dr. Kempton, Rev. J. W. Kierstead, Rev. J. H. McDonald, Rev. Z. L. Fash, respectively. They are all doing eminently useful work.

Dr. Trotter will be at home for a week or two, during which time the Visiting Committee of the Senate will be called together for their annual work of visiting the College, Seminary and Academy.

On Sunday afternoon next, at 3.30 o'clock, in College Hall, a public Memorial Service will be held, in memory of the late Rev. Professor D. M. Welton, D. D., Ph. D., of Toronto, formerly of Acadia College, who passed away at his home in Toronto on Sunday last. Addresses will be made by Dr. Sawyer, Dr. Keirstead, and Dr. Trotter. Besides the professor, teachers and students, many other friends who knew Dr. Welton in the earlier years will desire to meet on Sunday afternoon to pay their respects to the memory of a good and distinguished man.

Memory Society Social.

In the vestry of the Methodist church on Wednesday evening, was given an exceptionally pleasant social time, a musical and literary programme of unusual merit being rendered by local talent. Rev. Mr. Johnson, the chairman, conducted the proceedings in a very genial and interesting manner, characteristic of the popular pastor. A part of the programme which was quite essential and stimulating was the refreshments, which the chairman called for and which soon permeated the social atmosphere of the spacious vestry. We take pleasure in giving the programme for the evening the entertainers having surpassed themselves in the excellency of their work on this occasion.

Duet—Mrs. Little and Miss Sleep. Trio—Mrs. Sleep, Mrs. Shehe, Miss West. Reading—Mrs. Porter. Vocal Solo—Miss Heale. Violin Solo—Miss Starr. Quartette—Mr. Sleep, Mr. Woodman, Mr. Freeman, Mr. Johnson. Vocal Solo—Miss Freeman.

The town band was in attendance and favored the audience with several selections which were much appreciated by all. The quartette sang the closing selection.

Canada Maker Headway.

FIRST INSTALLMENT OF HER MAMMOTH COLLECTION ARRIVES AT OUR FAIR—HER EXCLUSIVE MINERAL WEALTH.

St. Louis.—Five carloads of exhibits from different parts of Canada have arrived in St. Louis. A car of fruit has also been placed in cold storage awaiting shipment. The exhibits already arrived include the pick of Canada's agricultural, forest and mineral wealth. Commissioner General Wm. Hutchison is authority for the statement that the Canadian display at the St. Louis exposition will be far ahead of the former efforts of the Dominion. The general policy is to give prominence to the items of natural wealth peculiar to Canada, rather than those not found in the other countries making exhibits. For example, in minerals, Canada's almost exclusive resources of nickel, corundum, chrome iron, peat and asbestos, are to be featured. The displays will not be confined to show cases, but unique and striking displays will also be made. Separate pyramids of asbestos, mica and nickel are to be built and placed in prominent positions in the Canadian quarters. These pyramids will illustrate the processes the ores undergo in the transition from the crude state to the finished product. The nickel pyramid is to be 20 feet in height. The ore, as turned out of the mine, will form the base, above it will be a section containing the nickel product after the roasting process. Above it again will be a section containing the copper and nickel matter, and the apex of the pyramid will be finished in the refined nickel. Surmounting the pyramid is to be a statue made of refined nickel and truly Canadian in design.

In the line of precious metal Canada will not be found wanting. It is the intention to place in a commanding position a trophy bright with gold and silver. In agricultural products the exhibit will be superior to anything yet shown. British Columbia's giant woods exhibit will be greater than it has been. In short people will straighten up and stare when they get inside the Canadian sections at the universal exposition.

Commissioner Hutchinson, Secretary William A. Burns, W. Hamilton, the horticulturist, and architect L. Fenning Taylor have been at the World's Fair grounds several days making ready for the reception of Canada's exhibits.

'Twould Spoil This Story to Tell It in the Headlines.

To use an eighteenth century phrase, this is an 'over true tale.' Having happened in a small Virginia town in the winter of 1902, it is a story very much of the present. Up to a short time ago Mrs John E. Harmon, of Mills Station, Va., had no personal knowledge of the rare curative properties of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Last January, she says, 'my baby took a dreadful cold and at one time I feared she would have pneumonia, but one of my neighbors told how this remedy had cured her little boy and I began giving it to my baby at once and it soon cured her. I heartily thank the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for placing so great a cure within my reach. I cannot recommend it too highly or say too much in its favor. I hope all who read this will try it and be convinced as I was.' For sale by G. V. R. Co.
