Compared With a Few Years Ago the Prices are Amazingly High

Potato shipments are somewhat lighter this week but there is still a brisk seasonal movement and farmers are busily engaged in digging the big crop. There is still a good demand for hay and straw and large quantities are being shipped. The call has come for dressed pork and live and dressed poultry, and shipments will commence forthwith. Following are the prices quoted this morning, and are what dealers are offering in cash:

Atlantic or "town" time

There will, it is seen, be one hour and thirty minutes between the express trains, giving Hartland business men time to answer the most important mail if they move quickly, but giving those further up the river no chance at all. Under this arrangement it will not be possible to reach any of the upriver towns and return the same day. The new time table will not be so convenient as the summer service, particularly in the withdrawal of the morning and evening expresses. Nowadays the public needs a better service in the winter than in summer, as in the motor season the most of the people travel by automobile.

HARTLAND SCHOOLS PROGRESSING FINELY

Hartland is certainly rousing up to a wonderful interest in educational matters as witness the following: A special school meeting with very large attendance, an annual meeting with the largest attendance in the history of the district, a very successful Arbor Day celebration, a school closing held in Star Theatre, an agitation for a new school house, larger and better school grounds with more and better equipment for work and play, a new department with fire escapes for all upper rooms and probably an other new netting over $40 with another for the Fair taking about $30, the addition of the "Children's Encyclopedia or Book of Knowledge" to the library and also the forming of the first Trustee Association in New Brunswick. It may also be added that the trustees, secretary, principal and teachers are holding meetings once or twice a month to study and discuss the various problems and matters continually arising so that each party may become better acquainted with the views and difficulties of the other, to the end that the very best work for the educational betterment of the district may be done.

Morgan resigned as auditor owing to pressure of other work and Arthur Dickinson was appointed. Manager Geo. O. Britton reported on the new line to Mainstream, betterments in Hartland, consisting of considerable lead cabling, covered wire cable, moving and replacement of poles along Main street, gain of phones installed over removals, etc. A financial report was made by the secretary, J. S. King, which presented a very encouraging outlook for the future and particularly for the year's business. Mr. Palmer is a brother of Mrs. Birmingham, whom she had not seen for fourteen years. On their return home they made the trip from Fairfield to Brighton in the afternoon. Not too bad for a seven-year-old Ellsabeth.

CLARKE-NIXON

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Nixon, Lower Brighton, yesterday, their daughter, Lena Isabelle, became the bride of David Lee Clarke of Hartland. The bride entered the parlor in the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. Both bride and groom were unattended and the ceremony was performed by Rev. A. Hatfield. Mendelssohn's Wedding March was beautifully rendered as the party entered the parlor, and the ceremony was witnessed by a large number of guests, some of whom came from Fort Fairfield, Boston, St. Stephen and other points. The house was prettily decorated in cut flowers, ferns and autumn leaves. After the ceremony the party was served with a delightful buffet luncheon and at four o'clock the happy couple took the express for a tour that will include provincial cities and Montreal. The groom's gift to the bride was a substantial cheque, to the flower girl, who was little Miss Viola Clarke, sweetly dressed in pink satin, a finger ring, and to Miss Julia Birmingham, who played the wedding march, a handsome brooch. The bride was the recipient of many beautiful, useful, ornamental and costly gifts, among them being a considerable amount in cheques.

Upon their return the young couple will make their home in Hartland where their presence will be welcomed by the host of friends that both already have here.
