CHARGE NOW OF MURDER.

New Complexion is Given to the Sutton Inquiry.

Judge Advocate Makes Five Officers Defendants.

Mrs. Sutton, Mother of Deceased, on the Witness Stand.

the most important witness in the sour-tion trial, there will be no further pro-gress in probing into the causes of Lieut. Sutton's death. Moreover, when i.Leut. Utley appears before the court of in-quiry he will appear as a defendant, with four other marine officers and one sergeant of marines, to answer to the charge of homicide. This condition was brought about by a sudden and dramatic turn in the pro-ceedings to-day, as the result of which the young marine officers who were with Sutton when he died were trans-formed from being merely either wit-nesses or interested parties to the in-quiry to defendants, with a grave charge against them. The young men involved with Lieut. Utley are Lieut. Robert E. Adams, of Harrisburg, Pa.; Lieut. William F. Bevan. of Baltimore, Md.; Lieut. Edward S. Willing, of Phila-delphia; Lieut. E. A. Osterntan, of Ohio, and Sergt. James De Hart.

Md.; Lieut. Edward S. Willing, of Phila-delphia; Lieut. E. A. Osternian, of Ohio, and Sergt. James De Hart. The change of the status of the men involved was caused by the introduction as testimony jo-day of a letter written to the Scretary of the Navy on Febru-ary 8 last by Mrs. Rosa D. Sutton, the mother of the dead lieutenant, which contains the definite clarge that Lieut. Sutton was killed "by one of bis companions" on the night of bis death. The letter was introduced by Major Harry Leonard, judge advocate of the court, and its appearance came as a distinct surprise to the members of the court and to Henry E. Davis, the principal attorney for the Suttons. "My own investigations," Mrs. Sutton adds, "have convinced me that my son did not commit suicide, but was killed by one of the officers who were with him at the time of his death, but many lawyers who have read the testimony given before the former board of in-terial facts were not brought out at the hearing which would have thrown much light upon the question whether my son killed himself or was killed by one of the acide." The startling change in the proceed-ing came when Mrs. Sutton took the stand. The first hour of the morning

ings came when Mrs. Sutton took the stand. The first hour of the morning session had been given over to unit portant matters. The mother of t th ly. "I had been drinking Your Worportant matters. the order before her. She was calm and collected. Then the bomb ex-pioled. Major Leonard picked up from the table Mrs. Suton's letter. He asked that it be produced as evidence. It was passed to Commander Hood and Major Neville, and Lieutenant Jennsen read it. The presiding officer announc-ed that it would be admitted and di-rected the judge advocate to read it. This Major Leonard did. When he con-cluded he made the statement that as-tounded the Sutton atorneys and de-veloped the only signs of bitterness that had yet appeard. "I move," said the judge advocate, "that Mrs. Sutton be made the com-plainant in these proceedings and that all the officers present at Lieutenant Sutton's death appear as defendants, and he accorded the right to be present at all further proceedings of the court and he allowed the right to cross-ex-m. Mr. Davis opposed the motion vigor.

This statement was made to-day by : man who is in close touch with the railway interests involved in the schemes which have been discussed in the papers during the last two months, and who is usually in a position to know what is going on behind the scenes. He declares that all the talk about construction operations on the several lines being in full blast this fall is the result of anxiety of the different companies to get the other fellow to show his hand. About the only thing in the way of real About the only thing in the way of real construction work that he looks for is on the Hamilton, Waterloo & Guelph Railway, John Patterson's road, which must spend $100,000 before the first of January. In fact, it will not be surprising if an arrangement is made with the Grand Trunk to handle all the freight through the Stuart street yards, reserving the approaches to the union station for pas-senger traffic entirely. problem is one of the biggest matters that has to be worked out in the union station scheme. There must be some other outlet for the freight and an ar-rangement with the Grand Trunk seems the most feasible plan. The Canadian Northern will begin the construction of its line from Toronto to the Falls short-ly but the road will not be running into Hamilton this year. "The talk about the Guelph Junction road being gone on with at once is also prenty along Stuart street at the time the scheme was broached, taking it for granted that the company would stick to the route mapped out at the time. It is very doubtful, however, if the line will ever be built west of Wellington street. for one year at a cost of five-eighths of a cent a horse power per hour. Un-less prevented by the injunction which Martin Malone has threatened to is-sue, Mayor McLaren will sign the contract to-day and the motor will be installed at once. The waterworks of-ficials say that it will be at least a month, however, before any of the mountain people get water. They de-clare that it is impossible to operate the system until the sewer work is further advanced. The information will prove somewhat of a surprise to the mountain people who were bank-ing on having a water supply dur-ing the warm August weather.
