Claude Macdonnell's sensible resolution in favor of abclishing the unjust law which demands from every Federal candidate a deposit of $200.00, which he forfeits if he receives less than half as many votes as his successful opponent, has again been given the six months' hoist in the Canadian Commons and, therefore, killed for the present session. Neither Liberals nor Conservatives supported Mr. Macdonnell with any degree of enthusiasm, each party being evidently desirous of perpetuating the iniquitous system of fining a small party $200.00 every time it desires to set its principles before the voters and test its strength. The deposit does not keep the most undesirable candidates out of the field, but it does tend to prevent the entrance of deserving poor men into politics. The statute thus perpetrates Menthol Plaster, recommended by everybody, for stiffness, pleurisy, &c. Made by Davis & Lawrence Co. a most invidious distinction and should be relegated to oblivion. Another section of Mf. Macdonnell's resolution provided for the keeping of election days as public holidays. This should certainly have been passed
