The Russian Object-Lesson.

The importance of guns, ammunition and aeroplanes is being shown by passing events. The Royal Naval Air Service is being so expanded, in personnel and material, that a Rear-Admiral has been placed in charge, in the person of Rear-Admiral C. L. Vaughan-Lee, with the title of Director of the Air Service, and the present director, Commodore Suster has been appointed as Superintendent of Aircraft Construction. The importance of gunnery against aircraft may be realized by the appointment of the famous gunnery expert, Admiral Sir Percy Scott, to take charge of the gunnery defences of London against enemy aircraft. Sir Percy Scott was one of the first naval gunnery experts to realize the importance of improved shooting in the Navy, and he did much to inaugurate the training which has brought our naval gunners to their high state of efficiency. He gained much prominence in the early part of the Boer war, when he rapidly invented a gun-carriage for the 4.7 guns on board his flagship and transferred them to Ladysmith, where they played a great part in its defence. He was also among the first to bring to public notice the importance of the submarine in naval warfare. The greatest object-lesson of all, however, in the importance of gunnery and ammunition, is the German drive in the east. After the success of the Russians in Galicia and their drives in East Prussia, it seemed strange that the Russian offensive should collapse and the tide of war run against them constantly for months. It was known that communication of Russia with the outside world was meagre, and that in winter she was almost cut off entirely; it was, however, a mystery how the supply from the Russian munition works should suddenly become so short that the Russian army has had to give way over very considerable territory, and that she is only now beginning to recover from her shortage in ammunition. The mystery is now cleared up. The only great arsenal Russia possessed was blown up by the treachery of pro-German Russians, some months ago. Thousands of Russian workers in the arsenal were killed, and the production of munitions in Russia was crippled, and of this the German and Austrian armies have been taking advantage. Now, she is recovering from this blow and she is directing her new offensive to the south part of the line, where her territory and Roumania's march with that of Austria, in order that she may co-operate with Roumania should the latter intervene. The story of the warfare in the East

How to Keep Well!

There arrived by the Florizel two lady lecturers from the Battle Creek Sanatorium, who will lecture on health and diet. They are Mrs. Louise McIntyre and Miss Margaret, and they have been working together for seven years. Mrs. McIntyre has been lecturing and teaching for thirteen years, and for the last five years she and Miss Hall have had charge of the health work at the Winona Lake, Ind., Assembly, which is the second largest Chautauqua in the United States. Mrs. McIntyre says:

"We are endeavouring to teach people how to keep well. We are not fanatics, we do not oppose the physician, but work with him. We are seeking to teach sane and right methods of thinking and living."

Miss Hall's speciality is the regulation of food to the requirements of the body. She believes "that it is just as necessary for the home-makers to understand the nutrition of their children as it is for the farmer to understand the nutrition of his animals."

The Governor and Lady Davidson are extending invitations to any who are interested in Health Culture, to meet these lady lecturers at Government House to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Any person interested who do not receive personal invitation will be equally welcome. Arrangements have been made for free lectures and demonstrations, and it is the intention of the promoters to organize classes on health. We commend the matter to the consideration of those in good health, that they may learn how to keep healthy and to those in poor health that they may learn how to improve their bodily condition.

Dr. Charles Peters Receives Promotion.

Given Rank of Lieut.-Col. in the Army Medical Corps; Served in Boer War.

Ottawa, September 13.—Dr. Charles A. Peters, the well-known Montreal physician, has been promoted to the rank of lieutenant-colonel. Dr. Peters was major in the Army Medical Corps and has rendered effective service in military work since the outbreak of war, being in charge of the military end of the general hospital, Montreal. Lieut.-Colonel Peters served in the Army Medical Corps in the South African war. Dr. Peters is a native of Newfoundland and was formerly president of the Newfoundland Society in Montreal. He saw service in the Boer War.

Archibald to Be Met by Agents of Justice Department.

Washington, Sept. 13.—Acting under instructions from the White House agents of the Department of Justice will meet James F. J. Archibald, the American correspondent involved in the case of Dr. Dumba, the Austrian Ambassador, when he lands at New York on the steamer Rotterdam from Holland. Archibald is reported in Dr. Dumba's letter to the Vienna Foreign Office disclosing plans to cause strikes in American munitions plants. The question as to whether Archibald actually knew the contents of the papers he carried probably will be deciding factor in whatever action the Government ultimately takes toward him.

The statute on which the Government is proceeding fixes a fine of not more than $2,000 and imprisonment of not more than three years for its violation.

Mistaken Identity.

Local Constable Dwyer of Torbay had six young men summoned before court to-day, charged with ill-treating a semi-demented woman of that place. After seven witnesses were examined it was found to be a case of mistaken identity about the defendants and the case was dismissed.

Typhoid Outbreak

CAUSED BY INFECTED WATER.

Dr. R. A. Brehm, Medical Health Officer, who was in Charge Islands enquiring into an outbreak of typhoid fever there, returned to the city by last evening's express. He reports twenty people of the settlement stricken with the malady. There are no new cases developed lately and no deaths have occurred. Only a few cases are considered serious though their recovery is hopeful, the remainder having the disease in its mild form. Questioned as to the cause of the outbreak, Dr. Brehm stated that sanitary conditions generally, mainly the using of infected water drawn from wells; also flies caused the spreading of the disease. Dr. Smith, of Twillingate, who is attending to the patients, has adopted drastic steps to prevent a further spreading of the fever.

Prospero to Assist

The Stranded Steamer Carisbrook. The Norwegian pit prop steamer Carisbrook is still on the rocks from bridge to stern in eastern Channel of Otter Island at the entrance of Little Bay, according to a late message received from the captain of the ship to-day. Messrs. Bowring Bros., who are instructed Capt. Kean, of the S.S. Prospero, to proceed to the scene and make an attempt to tow off the Carisbrook. The Prospero left Pool's Island at daylight this morning and should reach the stranded steamer some time to-night.

Convicted of Theft.

Last night Detective Tobin arrested under warrant a twelve-year-old boy, who broke into Messrs. Arre & Sons store and stole one dozen tins of corned meat, valued at $6.10. The act was committed on Wednesday, the 14th inst. The boy, who was named closed up. This forenoon the lad pleaded guilty to the charge of larceny. The Superintendent of Police was major in the Army Medical Corps and has rendered effective service in military work since the outbreak of war, being in charge of the military end of the general hospital, Montreal. Lieut.-Colonel Peters served in the Army Medical Corps in the South African war. Dr. Peters is a native of Newfoundland and was formerly president of the Newfoundland Society in Montreal. He saw service in the Boer War.

Kipling and the Huns.

(From Rudyard Kipling's letter on Rheims Cathedral as it is to-day.)

When they (the Germans) first set the place alight there were some hundreds of their wounded in the cathedral. The French set as many as they could, but some had to be left. Among them was a major, who lay with his back against a pillar. It has been said that since that day a monument should remain. An outline of both legs and half of his body is printed in greasy black upon the ashes. There are still many soldiers who hope and pray that it will be respected at least by our children's children.

Hop Beer Cases.

Two women shop keepers were before court to-day charged with selling hop beer overproof. The defendants, through their counsel, pleaded guilty. As it was the second conviction of both Mrs. Morris and Mrs. Magistrate, imposed a fine of $100 or two months imprisonment. The fines were paid.

When Others Find Fault With You.

How are you going to take it? They will do it. And you wouldn't really want everyone to stop doing it. If they did stop—all of them—you would miss many a good pointer.
But it's often pretty hard to stand fault-finding, and how a fellow takes it makes a great difference to the fellow himself and those who want to help him. Hence that opening question.
If you are looking at things sensibly you are going to get all the good you can out of other person's fault-finding, no matter whether it is of the friendly or unfriendly sort. They see you from a standpoint that you cannot get without their help, and if you hear that some one has said of you that you are too slow, or too quick, or don't stand up straight enough, or think too much about yourself, it is a poor plan to get sulky about it. For if you really are missing the point in any of these things, you want to know it, don't you, so that you can make a change just there?—Selected.
