A Change of Tune.

Now that Gamey has fallen off the pedestal, his late worshipers hasten to macy. A portion of it is worth quot- Dey hints dat bein' happy is an ignorant assure the public that the man from Manitoulin is merely a detail in the case, anyway. "The people of Ontario thinking of R. R. Gamey," says the Toronto World. "They are thinking of the evidence which he has been the means of bringing out and of the evidence which is still to come. The meanest and often the vilest individual is the means of convicting criminals. The end justifies the means. While the people may fail to grow enthusiastic over the spy, the informer or the accomplice, they cannot but admit his value to the state."

Just so. But was Gamey merely a detail of the case in the estimation of Mr. Whitney, his followers in the Legislature and his newspaper organs, when they convicted the Government without a trial? Hardly. Gamey was the whole case then. They had nothing but his unsupported word. On the strength of this they wished to hang the Government. For all they knew Gamey might have been a rascai, but they reared a whole edifice of calumny on the assumption that he was a paragon of virtue, a hero and The World says it makes no difference now whether he is a a sinner. It made a great difference then whether the Opposition believed him to be a saint or a prairies; living under canvas for the Unless they knew him to be first time in their lives; the men cuta man of principle-and they had no means of knowing what he was—they men cooking meals over camp fires, he leaves the White House. Two years were guilty of slandering the members and performing all manner of unacof the Cabinet in accepting his statement without waiting for corroborative evidence.

Municipalities and Niagara Power thread of public business, which was broken off suddenly by the Gamey In the brief sitting on Tuesday the Government brought down two important bills. One embodied the amendments to the assessment act which were recommended by the Ontario Assessment Commission, and have been fully described in these columns. The other confers power on the municipalities to develop, distribute and sell Niagara electrical power. They are authorized to appoint commissioners, at their own expense, to report on the feasibility of the scheme. If they choose to go into it they may issue debentures, the assent of the ratepayers having been first obtained. A board of commissioners is to be appointed by the Chief Justice of Ontario to construct and operate the works. If there is more power developed than is needed by the municipalities or corporations concerned, they must offer it for sale to municipalities and individuals along the line at rates to be fixed by the Chief Justice of Ontario. If any dispute arises as to rates, the Chief Justice of Ontario is to determine them. The usual penalty clauses are included in case of failure to conform with the regulations of the act regarding sale and rates. A trust company is to be appointed to keep the accounts of the works. The moneys are to be paid in and out by the trust company at the order of the commissioners. The commissioners are given power to issue bonds up to the amount of the proceeds of the municipal debentures. They may make a special issue of bonds for preliminary expenses until moneys are re-works. This is probably the most liberal measure of encouragement that can be given the municipalities, short of Government ownership or financial responsibility. The expense of a commission of experts to report on the cost and practicability of the enterprise would not be heavy, spread over a number of municipalites. The fixing of rates by the Chief Justice is a wise provision, as it is a guarantee that [S. E. London, April 23 .- During the discussion of the board of trade estimates in the House of Commons yesterday, Thomas Gibson Bowles (Conservative) complained of the length of time be tween the inception and the execution of the agreement between the Government and the International Mercantile Marine Company, and also of the lack of information supplied by the Government, and blamed the board of trade for allowing the British vessels purchased by the International Mer-British flag. CONTRABAND CHINESE

Investigation Into Wholesale Smuggling by an Organized Band.

Buffalo, N. Y., April 23.-The operations of a well organized gang of smugglers who have, it is alleged, brought hundreds of Chinamen into the cantile Company to remain under the United States over Niagara River, were disclosed today by James Fox, 22 years of age, while on the witness stand Fox was placed under arrest while riding on a street car with a "contraband" Chinaman named Bock Can. Upon the advice of his mother about the smuggling of Chinamen in this vicinity. During his examination Fox told the authorities that there were Premier Balfour said the law officers regularly organized firms in Canada who made it a business to bring Chinaacross the border into the United the federal authorities have arrested George E. Judson, of this city, who,

The hearing yesterday was merely preliminary to a trial when, it is said, evidence will become public showing the smuggling operations and the participation therein of persons doing business in New York, Chicago and Toronto. Only a few names were made public. They include Sim Lee, alleged to be head of a Toronto syndicate, and a man named Mumford, who does business in Fort Erie, Ont. 'Has Judson ever said anything about firms in Canada that smuggle Chinanen?" Fox was asked by the prosecuting attorney. Fox's counsel objected and Mr. Bain repeated the question, but this time applied it to the case of Bock Can. "About three or four days before Bock Can was brought over Judson said he was going to Toronto to get some boys. He came back and said there were no boys to be had. Later he told me he had got one boy, and that the boy was at Mumford's He said he had been at Sim Lee's place in Toronto. A MINT FOR CHINA

The Financial System That Will Be Organized.

Pekin, April 23.-An imperial edict just issued orders Prince Ching, the Grand Secretary, to reorganize the financial system of the empire by establishing a monetary standard for the entire country and starting a minc at Pekin to supply the provinces with uniform coinage. This step, which is due to Japanese influence, does not necessarily mean that the scheme will be carried out. Former edicts have been nullified by the influence of the Pekin officials and the opposition of reactionary viceroys.
