LEAGUE NOT TO PARTICIPATE IN GENOA PARLEY

Council of World Body Refers Italy's Invitation To General Secretary.

CABINET SPLIT AVERTED

Differences Between Lloyd George and Churchill Are Reconciled.

PARIS, March 28.—The chances of the League of Nations participating in the Genoa conference were reduced to a minimum today by the action of the council of the league in simply referring to the general secretary Italy's invitation to send to Genoa technical experts from the league organization for consultative purposes. It is known that Sir Eric Drummond, the league's general secretary, regards such partial and vague participation as is proposed in the invitation beneath the dignity of the league, and it appears probable he will find it inadvisable to take the league's technical men away from the work they are already engaged upon.

The members of the council, after consulting their governments, decided the invitation was too vague to warrant a formal acceptance, but they preferred to leave action upon it to the general secretary rather than formally to decline.

SETTLE DIFFERENCES.

LONDON, March 28.—The differences between Premier Lloyd George and Winston Spencer Churchill, secretary for the colonies, respecting the recognition politically of the Bolshevik government, are reported to have been reconciled at a conference between them last night and at the cabinet council today. The resolution which the premier will move in the House of Commons next Monday regarding Genoa has been agreed upon and will be announced tomorrow.

The cabinet is said to be united upon the policy which Mr. Lloyd George will outline in his speech. Following the cabinet council today the premier met at luncheon his Liberal colleagues in the government, including the whips and under-secretaries, and outlined to them his present intentions.

PROTEST PAYING FINES TO ONTARIO

Cities, Through Delegations, Ask Federal Government for Relief Measure.

ASKS FOR AMENDMENT

Minister of Justice Invites Visitors to Draft Change in Code.

Ottawa, March 28.—Canadian Press.—Claiming that an injustice was being done to the municipalities of Ontario because of the provision in the criminal code, which provides for the payment of police court fines to the provincial government, and requesting an amendment to the code to remedy this injustice, a large delegation waited on the minister of justice and members of the cabinet this morning. The delegates, some 50 strong, were received by Sir Lomer Gouin, Hon. Charles Murphy, Hon. W. C. Kennedy and Hon. Jas. Murdock. They were introduced by Hon. S. C. Mewburn, of Hamilton, former minister of militia. E. A. Kent, city clerk of Hamilton, acted as spokesman, and called upon a number of delegates to state their grievances.

After brief addresses in support of the request of the delegation had been made by Mr. Kent, H. W. Wilson, mayor of Windsor; Controller Nesbitt of Toronto; Mayor Newman of Niagara Falls; T. L. Church, mayor of North York; Sir Henry Graydon, H. R. Waddell, solicitor for the city of Hamilton, and W. A. Boys, member for South Simcoe, the minister approved of a suggestion that the delegates meet and draft an amendment which would be satisfactory to them.

Ex-Mayor T. L. Church of Toronto, now member for North Toronto in the Federal House, declared that the continued inroads of the province on the rights of the municipalities were making it hard for the latter to live. The principle that one body should receive all the money while the other did the work was wrong, he contended.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Barber on Wednesday, March 22, when their daughter, Miss Olive Barber, was united in marriage to Mr. Anson Elvage of Delaware, by Rev. GERMANY MAY MAKE NEW WAR

Prof. James T. Shotwell Says Spirit of Enmity Is Still Smoldering.

BRITAIN ACTS WISELY

Data Showing Economic Displacement by War Would Extend 200 Miles.

Unless the allied committee of guarantee is kept constantly on duty in Germany, that nation will once more prepare for war. Professor James T. Shotwell of Columbia University, informed members of the Canadian Club and Chamber of Commerce at luncheon Wednesday noon.

Professor Shotwell, who was a member of the United States delegation to the peace conference, and who recently returned from a tour of Europe in connection with economic history following the war, pointed out that there is a smoldering spirit of enmity in Germany which unless under constant surveillance will break out in war.

It is mainly because it should be sponsored by the leader of the opposition in one of the few legislatures in the world today where the government has an overwhelming majority.

The resolution does not carry any statutory authority and does not necessarily involve any change from the British procedure built up by years of precedence and experience. It is mainly because it should be sponsored by the leader of the opposition in one of the few legislatures in the world today where the government has an overwhelming majority.

"The thing that interested me most was the degree of factional struggle within Germany. The present government administers somehow in the face of military opposition, and in the face of real death threats, and it has all been mirrored in the German press."

Resent French Stand. "I think Germany might have settled down to pay the reparations as finally adjudicated by the reparations committee last April had it not been that they felt the antagonistic attitude of France. French intrigue was blamed in Germany for the division of Silesia."

"Great Britain firmly and justly stood for a fair settlement of the eastern frontier," continued the speaker. "France wanted a large Poland in case Germany came back, as they may if things are let go. The Polish army is negligible, and it is hidden away, could easily wipe it out. Lloyd George followed a wise policy when he decided not to be brought into the eastern question."

"Germany at present is practically disarmed of heavy artillery. The people are hiding away rifles, and I presume there are several thousands hidden away. It is a very hard thing to escape surveillance and hide many weapons in one place. Germany is as effectively disarmed now as any nation would have expected her to be at the armistice."

"There are all under surveillance of the Allied committee of guarantee, which should not be taken away, as it will give her an opportunity to secretly get ready for revenge. We know there is a chance of Germany rising, and what are we going to do to avoid it?"

Britain's Effort.

"By following a policy to make Germany give over this dream of revenge. There is a danger in the future unless one disarms this spirit, and that is what Great Britain's policy aims at doing."

Referring to Austria, Prof. Shotwell characterized it as "the sore spot on the economic body of Europe" with resources lost, no common patriotism and "Vienna left there like a head cut off the body."

Hungary was declared to be hostile by the speaker because her frontiers were trimmed off by her neighbors. He mentioned a conversation with a Hungarian, who branded former President Wilson, a Czech, declaring that there was no other explanation for his efforts in getting Slovakia taken from Hungary.

Professor Shotwell explained that in gathering data to show the extent of economic displacement by war, there is approximately 200 miles of shelving containing documents of all nations to be examined. The work carried out under the Carnegie Endowment would require one person to read twenty-five million years at ten hours per day.

Much of it, he pointed out, is becoming destroyed, time thereby saving the historian, but the problem is what should or should not be destroyed.

Is Native of Ontario.

The speaker was introduced by Dr. Sherwood Fox, dean of the college of arts at Western University, who announced that Professor Shotwell is a native of Stratford. As the author of several historical works, including a name, and was also a member of the editorial staff of the Encyclopedia Britannica. Prof. Shotwell is now a member of the editorial staff of a new work entitled "Economic and Social History of the War," which is expected to total 150 volumes.

"He is not a theorist in history but is recognized as a practical man," said Dr. Fox.

Mrs. E. B. Smith, E. C. Bowker and P. J. Greenaway, addressed the meeting briefly on behalf of the concert to be staged here next May by the Scotch Guards, with proceeds in aid of the War Memorial Hospital for sick children. The Canadian Club and Chamber of Commerce pledged aid in the sale of tickets for this function. President Ibbotson Leonard, of the Canadian Club, presided at the luncheon.

NOVA SCOTIA LEGISLATURE INDORSES NOVEL MOTION

Halifax, N. S., March 29.—The resolution introduced by D. G. MacKenzie, leader of the Progressives, suggesting that the government should not consider the defeat of any of its measures a sufficient reason to resign unless such defeat is followed by a vote of non-confidence in the government, passed the House of Assembly yesterday by a vote of 14 to 13. Four members of the government voted for the resolution. Premier Murray expressed approval of the resolution, remarking that any party leader would agree with the principle of it.

The resolution does not carry any statutory authority and does not necessarily involve any change from the British procedure built up by years of precedence and experience. It is mainly because it should be sponsored by the leader of the opposition in one of the few legislatures in the world today where the government has an overwhelming majority.

Appealing for contributions to the Russian famine relief fund, Miss Buhay, now claiming Montreal as her home, and who recently returned to Russia and parts of Central Europe, declared that the chief cause for the appalling conditions of starvation and hardship widespread throughout Russia, was the destructive work of the counter-revolutionary armies.

Fred W. Daly, treasurer of the London Branch of the "Friends of Russia," who presided, said he was glad to note that the churches and other humanitarian organizations were at last awakening to the crying needs of the Russian people.

Mr. Daly reported that to date the local branch of the "Friends of Russia" had collected and forwarded $400 for the famine sufferers. At the close of Miss Buhay's lecture, which was illustrated with lantern slides, an additional collection for the fund, amounting to $50, was received. It was further announced that the lecture would be repeated shortly in some larger hall in London.

SIAMESE TWINS ALLIANCE HEAD BATTLING DEATH STILL HOPEFUL

Josefa Dying, Rosa by Side and Well, Prays To Live For Sake of Son.

SURGEONS ARE MYSTIFIED MORE TIME IS NEEDED

Twins Were Feature Attraction of Western Fair in London Last Fall.

CHICAGO, March 28.—Mrs. Rosa Bazelek Dvorack struggled for life today as her Siamese twin sister, Josefa, faced death.

The twins, 43 years of age, are the only ones extant known to the medical profession. Josefa was in a stupor at the West End Hospital. Rosa, at her side, prayed for life.

But Rosa, who was buoyant all morning and spoke freely with her son Frantz, lapsed into a semi-comatose state later in the day.

Rosa would gladly follow her sister to death were it not for Frantz, a bright-eyed 12-year-old son, she told Dr. Benjamin H. Breakstone, leading Chicago surgeon and writer.

"Mother love has triumphed over sisterly affection in this case," Dr. Breakstone said.

Dr. Breakstone, Dr. Edward Cunat and other physicians were uncertain whether the death of Josefa would mean Rosa's death also.

Surgeons have not yet given up hope for Josefa, who is suffering from jaundice. Her chances for life, however, are slight, they agree.

Will Fight To Save Her.

No way to determine whether the sisters can be separated if one dies has been given yet, according to Dr. Breakstone. Efforts to part them will be made if Josefa dies, the doctor said. They are joined, not only by strong ligaments, but by one set of abdominal organs.

Rosa smiled wanly as she talked with her son Frantz. Occasionally she would glance at her sister, as doctors forced medicine into Josefa's throat.

Josefa and Rosa were born in Austria. They traveled with shows in Europe for a decade. The sisters arrived in the United States a year ago, and were one of the leading attractions at the Western Fair, London, Ontario, in the fall of 1921.

Husband Slain in War.

Rosa's husband was killed in the world war. "It's the strangest case in medical annals," said Dr. Breakstone. "Many Siamese twins have been born, but they seldom reach maturity. We cannot even dare forecast what will be the result if Josefa dies. Rosa may have to follow her sister in death. She may not. We are going to do our best to save her life."

According to Dr. Breakstone's observation, Josefa possesses the same love for Frantz as does Rosa, the mother.

Home-made Remedy Stops Coughs Quickly

The best cough medicine you ever used. A family supply easily and quickly made. Saves about $2.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough in 10 to 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too—children like it—and it is pure and good.

Four 2½ ounces of Pinex in a 16-oz. bottle, taken at 10 up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. If desired, you may make 16 ounces—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

As a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It cures the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

FEAR CONFERENCE WORK IN DANGER

LONDON, March 28.—The results of the Near East conference in Paris were declared by British government officials today to be seriously endangered by what the British officials term French encouragement.

COUGH REMEDY

MANY CASES OF RHEUMATISM NOW

Says We Must Keep Feet Dry, Avoid Exposure and Eat Less Meat.

Stay off the damp ground, avoid exposure, keep feet dry, eat less meat, drink lots of water and above all take a spoonful of salts occasionally to keep down uric acid.

Rheumatism is caused by poisonous toxin, called uric acid, which is generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine. The pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity.

When the kidneys are weak, the pores are closed, thus forcing the uric acid to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts, put a teaspoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus riding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with nitra and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.—Adv.

RUSSIAN PEASANTS FLOCK TO NIGHT SCHOOLS ESTABLISHED BY SOVIET

HOW the Russian government uses pictorial posters to explain to the illiterate peasants the value of education was told by Miss Rebecca Buhay, addressing a largely-attended mass meeting in the Higgins Block Tuesday evening, under the auspices of the local branch of the Canadian Friends of Soviet Russia.

The pictures are cleverly designed to depict the results of education in contrast with the results of illiteracy. The Russian peasants who cannot read understand just so much of the picture that they take the trouble to bring someone to explain the brief accompanying message in printed words.

An example of such a poster was cited. Under a tree were some uneducated children pictured as huddled in fright and imagining they saw all sorts of frightful monsters half-hidden in the foliage above them. Under
