THE MORNING CONVENTION. The Newmarket Era has an article on the liberal convention called for next month.

LETTERS ON AND OVER. There is no reason why the price of gas in Toronto should not be lowered, and it is quite certain that a better quality of the illuminating medium might easily be supplied.

CANADIAN INDEPENDENCE. A year ago the Toronto World, a first class liberal journal, advocated the idea of a third party.

TARIFF PROSPECTS AT WASHINGTON. The substance of the American tariff commissioner's report has been published, and has been the subject of much comment by the press on both sides of the border.

THE DEATH OF HIS HIGH ALLAN. The death of the head of the Allan steamship company will not probably make any great difference in the conduct of this important ocean line.

THE IMPARTIAL PRESS. As an editor, Thurlow Wood was one of that school which has no purpose, save that of journalism.

week by the appearance of the By-stander, the leading writer of which did not a little towards breaking up the old party discipline that controlled both our politics and our press.

THE GLOBE TAKES STOCK IN STOCKINGS. One of Berger's most amusing ballads is that in which a frisky old grandmama recalls, in a chat with her grand-daughters, the flirtations of her youth; to the refrain, "Ah que je regrette, le temps perdu!"
