Dropping into the Ark, Wedvesday, we noticed quite a stream of the fuir sex tromping yp the the handeome stairway of the Ark headed by Noah, who turned ronid as he mounted upwards to beam beni, nly on them. Follow ing in the wake of the rustling silk, the Market Guide man saw a second vi-ion of l-veliness, yea a poem from China to Peru. He did so without unduly craning hix neck, -eeing the tar-famed Englixh Derby China with wonderful ef fects in two colors. the dniuly French violet $\boldsymbol{j}^{\text {at:ern, whe the }}$ deep tints of Dreden, quaint por. celain marvela of Japar and the antique. passers-by think the Reenive just an ordinar y fancy Beehive just an ordinary fancy and etarionery store, athough they may even remember how its groaning rhelvex eom pare with itn modest beginning. But they may not be aware that the proprietor, GEOKGE W, SDIMAN ruin " very large who evale bu-i new alon, having his travellers in Ehesex. Kent and Lamb. tan.
The proprietor, Georye W Sulman wax born on the 4'b Jnty, 1866 in Burtord, Caunty Brant, and rducaled at Burford Putatic Serlinol and Burford Hish school. He left echool when 12 years old to whif fur himelf which he has dane very effectunily exer since He came, to. Chatham in 1887, embarking in his present buxiners on a amall weale which he has incem wonderfully developed. He repreren'ed the 3rd Ward in 1890 and 41h in the prevent year, 1 96 . He has been the very, fficiem Secretary of the Kent Lomervative Anociation fur threr jear. M.. of Wellington Chapier, Kent Yreceptory. Knizhts Templers; London Lodge ot Perfection; Rose Croix, Chapter London, 181 h de ree.

He was also a Director of the Provincial Fair, and in a'l these Societier and publie funcions, he in never a mere figurehend but alwayna very live eir-mont. He takes a great interest in athlétieand afl $p$ blic celebrations.

We have had more than one xharp tifi with George as we sappose he has ingy forgotten, but we can xay in all henexty. that be is a very remarkable man. Not satinfied with the performance of tamily and thuich fatien and the mana; ement of the complex details of his large wholesale and retail business, he must needs go into innumerable sncietiex and outside wark It is rimply imponsible to tire him out. He is as fre-h at midnight in his aiderman's chair as over his mopuing's coffee eup. a d during the fatiguing extra work of the last Dominion Oampaign, he came to his store earlier in the morning than usual. He reminds us of the quickest "Ype of a Chicago trader, "Yes" or "no" comes like a flanh from him, and the travellers know him so well that affer "no" they dig nut forthwith. He could manage Mabley's or the largest store in the Siater, but we bope he will stay where he is and it looks like it as be has bought his haudiome residence. In one thing he is a man afier nur own heart. prompt and knowing the value of time When we call for an ad. he dne? not hum or haw but-writes it out with lightning apeed, and the cash is equally.promptiy handed over He has a wonderful memory. With all his hard work, he eningn ife to the full, keen to make-quick to spend. With goond conver sutional gifs, he is a weleme quont at the quiet supper on society manquet, and can emntribute hypily. having a keen sense of humow and a well garnered board of anecdotes. Ho has ote brother C. N. Sulman, in the same burinese and in 1889, married Mines Mary Meekison of sirathroy. -since thin amiable lady eohnented to rhare his many joys and fow sorrows, lie orgge is the happieat as well as itie busiest of men. Unecbay and one girl have blersed their union.
