Making Steady Headway.
With the interest of all Europe turned to events in the eastern theatre, which outshadow those transpiring in the west for the present, it is to be noted that Russian progress in Galicia against Austria is making steady headway. The situation of the garrison at Przemysl is said to be desperate, and the have been reports of an offier of cap.tulation from the commander, reported to have met with refusal by the Russians because it is known that the stronghold must fall ere long. It is not at all unlikely that known that the stronghold must fall ere long. It is not at all unlikely that the sta us of Russia with relation to the war for many months to come will be established by the operations under way. If the drive of Gen. von Hindenberg saould gather renewed impetus and break thru to Warsaw, then the Russian position will be perlious, and a withirawal from Galicia and East Prussia inevitable. The alternative of de eat is even more disastrous to the Germans, who literally must win or fight on their own doorsteps under disadvantages.

"No doubt now reme ins that serious differences have arisen between the Germanic allies. It is said that at a stormy council held under the presidency of Emperor William at Breslau, after the German flight from Poland and after mutual recriminations, Germany demanded that Austria should give every man she had for the defense of East Prussia, implying that Austria was already beyond hope of saving. The Austrians on the other hand, required that the Germans make a serious attempt to save Cracow and all that goes with the fall of this stronghold.

all that goes with the fall of this stronghold.

"It appears that this stormy council had been preceeded by actual ghting between Austrian and German soldiers. In the course of the retreat when the Germans reached the neighborhood of Pablantze, which is largely peopled by German colonists, the rest of the inhabitants being exclusively Jews, the Germanic armies appeared to feel already at home. Quarrels broke out which terminated in the Austrians leaving the Germans, striking away on their own line of retreat. Strong bodies of Germans were sent after them. Both parties opened re. The result was decided by the arrival of German reinforcements, who are believed to have exterminated what they considered mutinous troops rather than misused allies."

Five-Year-Old Boy Collected Money for Belgian Relief Fund

One of the finest contributions received by the Belgian Children's Relief Fund came in yesterday. Jack Wallis, five years old, collected, by vigorous work, $4.61 for the stricken youngsters in Belgium. He lives in Granton, Ont. Among other receipts recorded yesterday by the secretary, was one from the pupils of Mr. Carswell's Sunday school class at St. Aidan's, Balmy Beach, $10. The idea of classes and clubs making a collection among themselves and friends for Belgian relief seems to be apreading. Mr. Marriot, secretary, Board of Trade Building, is the man who receives the cheques, and marks what they are for. The board pays all expenses so the whole amount of the cheques goes direct to relief work.
